

The Times

LOS ANGELES

26 EDITION 1895 MAR—32 PAGES.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 3, 1895.—TRIPLE SHEET.

PER WEEK, 20c. PER MONTH, 85c. FIVE CENTS

A MUSEMENTS

With Dates of Events.

New Los Angeles Theater.

C. M. WOOD, Lessee. H. C. WYATT, Manager.

FIVE NIGHTS, COMMENCING TUESDAY, NOV. 5, SATURDAY

Matinee, 12.30 P.M. CANARY & LEDERER'S NEW YORK CASINO PRODUCTION, intact,

—THE PASSING SHOW.—

Inclosing John E. Hayes, George A. Schiller, John D. Gilbert, Seymour Hess, Gus Miller, Jerry Vernon, Barber, Lucy Daly, Cleridah, Simpson, Madge Lessing, May Ten Broeck, the Boston Quartette.

SEE | HEAR | Tannhauser, Faust, Macbeth, etc., all new versions.

TWO CARLOADS OF SPECIAL SCENERY.

A GOOD THING. PUSH IT ALONG.

NOTE.—On account of the extreme length of the programme the curtain will rise premierly at 8.30 P.M. for LUCKY, produced with New Songs, Catchy Music, Special Scenery, Pretty Girls, New Dances, and Original Specialties.

Regular Prices—85c, 90c, 75c, 61c and $1.00. Seats now on sale.

NEW LOS ANGELES THEATER—

C. M. WOOD, Lessee. H. C. WYATT, Manager.

Monday and Tuesday Nights and Tuesday Matinee, Nov. 11-12.

THE GERMAN DIALECT COMEDIAN, JOLLY JOE CAWTHON,

And his big comedy company, including Miss Anna Buckley. Under the management of Mr. John J. Dunn, presenting a new comedy, "The Jester," by John A.

Smith, entitled "LOVE FOR LUCK," produced with New Songs, Catchy Music,

Special Scenery, Pretty Girls, New Dances, and Original Specialties.

Regular Prices—85c, 90c, 75c, 61c and $1.00. Seats now on sale.

OPHEUM—

5. MAIN ST. BET. FIRST AND SECOND STS.

ALWAYS SECURING THE GREATEST FEATURES!

CHAMPIONS OF THE WORLD,

STARTLING AND ASTONISHING FEATS!

MATINEE TODAY—SUNDAY.

2c to any part of the house; children 1c, any seat.

WEEK COMMENCING MONDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 11

8—NEW STARS—8

THE GREAT, JOHN HIGGINS CHAMPION ALL-ROUND JUMPER OF THE WORLD.

4—SCHRODE BROTHERS—4 Phenomenal Acrobats.

LILLIE MONTEREY, The Charming and Attractive Soprano.

GRANGER and HARDING, Vocalists Par Excellence.

Matinees Saturday and Sunday.

Performance every evening, including Sunday. Evening prices—Orchestra and dress circle, 50c; family circle and balcony, 25c; gallery, 10c; single box and loge seats, 5c; matinees prices, 10c and 25c. Telephone 147.

BURBANK THEATER.

FRED A. COOPER, Manager.

Last night of the thrilling play "THE ENSIGN." Stupendous success of THE FRAWLEY COMPANY from the Columbia Theater, San Francisco. Well commencing Monday, Nov. 4, with "The Girl from the North," Augustin Daly's great comedy.

Continued success of LADY SHOTLO DOUGLAS, who will appear at each performance in new songs and dances and also in the play.

Popular Prices—10c, 25c, 50c and 60c; loge seats 5c, box seats 10c.

"NANCY & CO."

Onida's celebrated novel.

ATHLETIC PARK—

NATIONAL CIRCUIT RACES, NOVEMBER 21, 22 AND 23.

The Greatest Bicycle Riders in the country will ride.

E. C. Bald, Tom Cooper, Earl Kiser, Charles Murphy, C. S. Wells, Bob Terrell and others are entered.

RAYMOND PARK.

(Raymond Hotel 515.)

GRAND CONCERT.

DOUGLAS MILITARY BAND. SUNDAY, NOV. 3, 8 P.M.

Refreshments. Admission 10c. PASADENA ELECTRIC CARS stop at the gate.

NORTH BEACH BATH-HOUSE, SANTA MONICA.

The Plunge is filled and warm. It will be kept so all winter, so you need not be afraid of going down to Santa Monica and finding it empty. October at beach is the most beautiful month in the year, and a swim now is as much fun as one in August.

ATHLETIC PARK—

PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL.

LOS ANGELES vs. OAKLAND, October 31, November 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. Games called at 3 p.m. daily. ADMISSION 50c.

MISCELLANEOUS—

THE BRADBURY,

216-218 West Third Street

IS WHERE OUR FRIENDS AND PATRONS WILL FIND THE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA MUSIC CO.

Dealers in High Grade

Pianos.

THE STANDARD OF THE WORLD—

THE GREAT

CHICKERING

PIANO.

Gardner & Zellner Piano Co.,

SOLE AGENTS,

249 S. BROADWAY, (Byrne Block, cor. Third and Broadway.)

WHITE PLUME CELERY,

MOUNTAIN BLACKBERRIES,

MOUNTAIN STRAWBERRIES,

We carry the largest and best assortment of fruit and vegetables in the city.

ALTHOUSE BROS.,

105 West First Street.

Flour for China.

STOCKTON, Nov. 2.—The Stockton steamer took on 1,000 bags of flour, to be sent to San Francisco, to be loaded to go out on the next steamer.

There has been a blockade of flour here for a few days owing to the delay in the sailing of a steamer for China. As much more flour will be sent away Monday to go to the China market.

SAMUEL ISCHOWITZ, janitor of No. 7 Pelham street, scalp wound.

Unknown man, jumped with the janitor, leg and skull fractured, may die.

HENRY WALLMAN, engine company No. 25, badly burned on face and hands.

It is thought possible bodies may be discovered in the ruins.

An Absconding Deputy Found.

FRESNO, Nov. 2.—Clark E. Wood, the absent-minded deputy sheriff, to-day gave himself up to the Sheriff.

Wood was ready to come back without a requisition, if he is wanted to answer for his delinquencies. As the principal sufferer from his financial condition, his wife's family, it is not believed that any charges will be made against him.

Struck by a Locomotive.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Julie Lubin, a French woman, wife of the keeper of a restaurant in this city, was struck by a locomotive at the 2:50 o'clock train for Los Angeles to-day and received injuries which will probably be fatal. The accident occurred at the Russ lumberyard. Mrs. Lubin did not see the train approaching and stepped upon the track just in front of the locomotive.

Another Account.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.), Nov. 2.—Just thirty daysago Margaret Mather Pabst, who for years was one of the best-known actresses in America, horsewhipped her husband, Col. Gus Pabst, son of the wealthy brewer, on one of the thoroughfares of Milwaukee. To-day, A. S. St. John, Col. Pabst's attorney, announced that his client has decided to bring suit for divorce. Mrs. Pabst has retained eminent counsel in the person of Gen. Horatio C. King.

BURIED ALIVE.

Ten Persons Condemned to Death in Mexico as Heretics.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Fire broke out shortly before 2 o'clock this (Sunday) morning in the tenement district of Pelham street. The fire, which started in No. 7, quickly spread to adjoining buildings. The police succeeded in arousing many of the sleeping inmates. The burning buildings adjoin a distillery, and the firemen by heroic efforts succeeded in preventing the flames from reaching the alcohol. As far as can be learned the following were injured:

SAMUEL ISCHOWITZ, janitor of No. 7 Pelham street, scalp wound.

Unknown man, jumped with the janitor, leg and skull fractured, may die.

HENRY WALLMAN, engine company No. 25, badly burned on face and hands.

It is thought possible bodies may be discovered in the ruins.

Flour for China.

STOCKTON, Nov. 2.—The Stockton steamer took on 1,000 bags of flour for China to be sent to San Francisco, to be loaded to go out on the next steamer.

There has been a blockade of flour here for a few days owing to the delay in the sailing of a steamer for China.

As much more flour will be sent away Monday to go to the China market.

Unknown man, jumped with the janitor, leg and skull fractured, may die.

HENRY WALLMAN, engine company No. 25, badly burned on face and hands.

It is thought possible bodies may be discovered in the ruins.

Whalers Caught in the Ice.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The schooner Rosario has arrived from the Arctic Ocean, bringing with her 300 pounds of bone, the residue of a catch of five seals.

The whaling fleet to reach port from the North, and from the report of the Rosario it looks as if the entire fleet would be caught in the ice, which means starvation stares the whalers in the face.

Bank President Leaves Town.

OMAHA (Neb.), Nov. 2.—Frank Johnson, president of the Citizens' National Bank of Omaha, has suddenly left the city, owing big money.

THE PASSING SHOW.

Inclosing John E. Hayes, George A. Schiller, John D. Gilbert, Seymour Hess, Gus Miller, Jerry Vernon, Barber, Lucy Daly, Cleridah, Simpson, Madge Lessing, May Ten Broeck, the Boston Quartette.

SEE | HEAR | Tannhauser, Faust, Macbeth, etc., all new versions.

TWO CARLOADS OF SPECIAL SCENERY.

A GOOD THING. PUSH IT ALONG.

NOTE.—On account of the extreme length of the programme the curtain will rise premierly at 8.30 P.M. for LUCKY, produced with New Songs, Catchy Music,

Special Scenery, Pretty Girls, New Dances, and Original Specialties.

Regular Prices—85c, 90c, 75c, 61c and $1.00. Seats now on sale.

THE MORNING'S NEWS

Associated Press Reports Briefed.

THE CITY—Pages 10, 12, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20.

Vanner, the dog-slayer, found not guilty... Litigation over Natick House lease begun... W. Wood wins the free-for-all pace... Los Angeles tall team defeats Oakland... A hallelujah wedding... Concord Club ball... Standard Oil Company here to stay... Arrival of Sunset Limited flyer... Chamber of Commerce excursion to Mt. Lowe... Willard case being argued... Forger Ehrhardt held to answer.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—Pages 23, 24.

Pasadena post office safe on a strike... Wreck on the Southern Pacific's Pasadena line... Occidentals will the football game at Santa Ana... Button tells how he killed Bohemian... Municipal politics warming up in Ventura... Jose Ilario held for the murder of Mrs. Sandrock... Santa Monica school statistics... Improvements at Pomona... Star-chamber session of San Diego Common Council.

PACIFIC COAST—Page 3.

Durrant says he is not affected by the verdict against him—A talk with his counsel—Strong evidence for the Minnie Williams case... News from Hawaii—Francis M. Hatch to be Minister to Washington... An insurance agent brings action for $15,000 for damages for false imprisonment and defamation of character... Japan deeply concerned by the action of its subjects in Korea... Berkeley man easily defeat the Stanford team... Robert Y. Hayne and Horace Philbrook have a row in a San Francisco courtroom... Ex-Deputy Collector Cahill may escape punishment for customs frauds... Large shipment of flour to China... Two railroad accidents at San Diego... The merchants of San Francisco to hold a mass-meeting and try for that convention.

GENERAL EASTERN—Page 1, 2, 3.

Murderer Holmes is found guilty in short order—He takes the conviction coolly... John D. Rockefeller offers $3,000,000 to the Chicago University... The uncle of President Cleveland's wife tries to kill himself... Margaret Mather will lose her husband by a divorce... The case against the prize-fighters conditionally dismissed—All hope of a "gray" is about gone... President Cleveland decides that gunboats cannot be built on the great lakes... Close of a hard-fought political campaign in Utah... Japan explains its position with regard to Korea... The British Minister at Washington proposes joint action in Turkey... Princeton defeats Harvard at football.

BY CABLE—Pages 1, 2, 3.

No confirmation received by the British Foreign Office of the firing on the Myosotis... The Socialist Press and the German government engaged in hostilities—An uneasy feeling in Alsace... The King of Ashantee prepared for war with Great Britain... English newspapers refer seriously to the Russian policy in the Far East... If war is averted it will be a triumph for British diplomats.

ATLARGE—Pages 1, 2, 3.

Dispatches were also received from Omaha, Springfield, Mo.; Washington, D. C.; Halifax, New York, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Fresno, Stockton, Sacramento, Berkeley, London, Paris, and other places.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL—Page 22.

New York stock market under bear control yesterday... Low grain prices for the week in the Chicago live-stock market... Chicago grain movements... New York exports and imports... New York banks... Local trade.

Miss York's testimony showed, beyond question that she had the night before resolved to leave town on Sunday night. The commonwealth relied on the medical testimony that the body could not have been found in the pose of condition it was in had Pitel committed suicide by inhaling chloroform. The defense admitted the truth of this, but asserted that it was placed in such a position by Holmes after Pitel had committed suicide, thinking he might utilize the corpse to consume the secret in his swindle.

Rolan reminded the jury of the fact that when arrested in Boston for conspiracy Holmes asked to be brought to this city to stand trial rather than to get to Fort Worth, Tex., where he was trying to establish a home. "Would any man have made such a choice, he demanded, unless he knew just what crime he had committed?" Would he, the lawyer demanded, have avoided a trivial charge in a far distant place to stand trial in danger by coming voluntarily to this city had he committed a murder here?

In conclusion he begged the jury to carefully weigh the facts and then give the prisoner the benefit of the doubt. Rolan concluded his address at 4:30 o'clock and Judge Arnold rejected the jury.

At 5:40 o'clock Holmes's fate passed into the hands of the jury. The twelve men were immediately taken to their room to deliberate. The jury was composed of court officers, and the best efforts of the staff could not quell the bust of excitement which arose in the room. Interest was at fever heat and, in spite of the late hour, not a soul was to be had within the four walls, nor was there any disturbance during the recess which followed. Holmes was taken back to the cell-room and, although a smile was on his lips, it was clear that he was extremely nervous.

ENGLAND'S DARK HOUR.

HER STAR IN THE FAR EAST IS RAPIDLY DECLINING.

She Has Been Outmaneuvered by Russia in China and is Likely to be Left Alone in the Gloom in Armenia—Wants to Catch Hold of Brother Jonathan's Coat-tails.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT

LONDON, Nov. 2.— (By Atlantic Cable) Nearly all English newspapers refer seriously to the political crisis, the apparent isolation of Great Britain and the policy pursued by Russia in the far East, as well as the future steps France may take. People here are gradually becoming convinced that British diplomacy has been out-managed by Russia, and that, in spite of her denials, the latter country has obtained important concessions from China and is prepared to stop at nothing to compel the Japanese to evacuate Chinese territory in accordance with the terms of the peace of Paris.

In Armenia, the situation grows more grave in view of the spread of the revolutionary feeling and the fact that England is liable to be left alone any moment in Argentina. The St. James Gazette this afternoon, alluding to the danger, said: "It is sure as we make us stand not to a time when getting our naval and military armaments in a complete state of efficiency as circumstances will allow."

It is understood that a most important exchange of messages has been made at London, and that, although officials there still protest, to believe that the danger has been greatly exaggerated. The general opinion, however, is that Europe may be congratulated if war is averted.

In the highest political circles in England, as among the European powers generally, no doubt exists that extensive concessions in Manchuria have been given by China to Russia. Recent expressions in American publications of the good will of the United States toward Great Britain have, in view of the deteriorating international affairs, been a source of much comfort and the same may be said of the attitude of the United States toward the Armenian questions.

Madagascar, too, promises to open up a fresh scene of trouble in the future, in view of the nature of the French protectorate, which is framed so as to relieve the French government of any liabilities for the debts to any foreign creditor contracted by Madagascar.

The Spectator today, referring to Madagascar, says: "It seems probable that France's new acquisition will cause fresh trouble in Europe."

The steady and old established Saturday Review takes an alarming view of the situation, and says: "We are face to face with the fact that France intends to seize as much of Northwestern China as she can assimilate, while France is resolved to extend her empire from Siam into Southwest China, and this division of territory we cannot allow."

LACKS CONFIRMATION.

LONDON, Nov. 2.— The British Foreign Office has received no confirmation of the story from Barbados, telling of the firing by a Venetian guard costa upon a vessel flying the British flag (the Myosotis) off the Island of Trinidad, and killing her commander, Thomas Garcia.

JOINT ACTION IN TURKEY.

WALNUT, Nov. 2.— Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, had an hour's conference with Secretary Olney today. His purpose was to propose in behalf of the British government joint action to a limited extent, to insure the safety of the citizens of Great Britain and Americans resident in that country.

So far as can be learned there was no direct proposition that in any sense would involve forcible action or even the possibility of joint note, but in view of the concern felt here in the United States and in England as to the threatening attitude of the Turkish populace toward the missionaries, a nervous action of the two powers responsible for the English-speaking residents in Turkey was felt to be desirable.

So far during the religious troubles in Turkey this has been already the case and in the absence of a representative either in the United States or Great Britain at a time of trouble in Turkey, the consul of either country has been prompt to extend protection to the citizens of the other. The fact that this understanding is tacit rather than a matter of formal agreement is emphasized by a denial from the British embassy here that the Ambassador had proposed a joint action by Great Britain and the United States.

WORKING TO AVERT A PANIC.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.— The Evening Post's London cablegram says: "The Sultan of Turkey has ordered a four months' interim moratorium, i.e., a government decree suspending the payment of all debts, public and private, for four months. A similar recourse was adopted, though on a less-extended scale, by the Argentine government two years ago. This is done mainly to allay the still existing Constantinople bourse. All banks in Turkey are understood to be still meeting their obligations as usual. The tone of the markets here today was steadier, but there was no business. The settlement on the Paris bourse next week is anxiously awaited."

Treasury Statement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.— Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash, balance, $179,000,458; gold reserve, $2,345,776.

THE NEW GUNBOATS.

President Cleveland Holds None Can be Built on the Lakes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.— Secretary Herbert has rendered his decision as to the award of contracts for the six new gunboats authorized by the last Congress. Two of the boats, twin-screw steamers, go to the Union Ironworks, San Francisco, two single-screw boats go to the Bath Ironworks, Maine, one boat to Lewis Nixon of the Crescent Shipbuilding Company of Elizabeth, N. J., and one to John Dialogue & Son of Camden, N. J.

It was thought that the awards could be made before this time, as Gen. Hyde, president of the Bath Ironworks, consented to modify his bid to meet the requirements of the contract.

At the moment the Detroit Drydock Company, the lowest bidder, appealed to the President from Secretary Herbert's action in rejecting their bid, and not till this morning did the President make a decision, surprising the Secretary in the view that treaty stipulations prohibit the building of naval vessels on the Great Lakes.

HAWAII'S TRUMP CARD.

FRANCIS M. HATCH MINISTER TO WASHINGTON.

His Special Mission is to Seek Closer Political Union Between the United States and the Islands. Wilcox's Italian Wife Secures a Divorce.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT

HONOLULU, Nov. 28. (Wired from San Francisco Nov. 2.)— Francis M. Hatch, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has been appointed Minister to Washington in place of W. R. Castle, who recently accepted the office temporarily. Hatch will not leave for Washington until the latter part of November. His successor will probably be Harry E. Cooper, Circuit Court Judge. Hatch's stay at Washington will be indefinite and his special mission is to seek the closer political union of the United States and the republic of Hawaii.

Details of meetings have been held recently by Japanese merchants.

Speeches were made denouncing the government for alleged discrimination.

The Japanese are nervous and restless and show a disposition to make themselves important in national matters. They count upon the support of their understanding by the government that the government of Japan does not care about making these islands Japanese colony.

There continue to be many wild rumors of filibuster expeditions from the Pacific Coast. The government takes no step concerning them because it cannot see how it can be made profitable for any one to invest any money in such undertakings. The natives continue to swear and believe that they do some of the ignorant wrongs. In spite of the harmonious relations existing between the government and Minister Willis, and the undisputed fact that the Washington government will not interfere with the Japanese in the ports of the Pacific Coast, the natives still continue to believe and will believe that any hostile movement from the coast will be at the instance of the Federal government. The U.S. Olympic team will be in San Francisco on October 23.

There has been no new case of cholera since last advice. The disease is believed to be stamped out.

THE QUEEN GOES "BROKE."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.— E. C. Macfarlane was a passenger on the steamer Australia which arrived today from Honolulu. Macfarlane laughed at the stories about the Queen's determination to return to Italy and spend the remainder of her days in the palace of a prince.

"The Queen is not enjoying the best of health," said he. "She is so ill that I think the remainder of her days will be spent at her island home. She has no money to buy a boat. On the death of Mr. Donisthorpe, the Queen's companion, she was well provided with this world's goods. She, however, spent the greater part of her fortune in trying to run the government. She was practically without means when the revolution broke out."

ITALIAN "IMAGINATION."

Garbled Account of the Life Tragedy of Robert W. Wilcox.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT

LONDON, Nov. 2.— (By Atlantic Cable) A dispatch from Rome gives an account of the divorce suit brought by the Baroness Glana Sombrero, a brilliant writer known under the nom de plume of "Manta," against R. W. Wilcox, the Hawaiian revolutionary leader who was born in Italy and died in Italy. The suit was filed in the present year for the share he took in the rebellion against the republic of Hawaii, which sentence was afterward commuted to thirty-five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine. The Baroness belongs to a distinguished family of a prince.

"The Queen is not enjoying the best of health," said he. "She is so ill that I think the remainder of her days will be spent at her island home. She has no money to buy a boat. On the death of Mr. Donisthorpe, the Queen's companion, she was well provided with this world's goods. She, however, spent the greater part of her fortune in trying to run the government. She was practically without means when the revolution broke out."

THEIR CASE DISMISSED.

[COAST RECORD.]

AN ABNORMAL BRAIN.

INANITY MAY BE DURRANT'S NEXT DEFENSE.

The Prisoner Continues Unraveled, Calm, Confident, Asable and Unconcerned.

He Says He Is Buoyed Up and that the Verdict Doesn't Affect Him at All.

An Insurance Agent's Damage Suit. Horace Philbrook in Trouble. Ex-Deputy Collector Cashin and the Customs Frauds.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The calm and confident demeanor of Theodore Durrant continued unruffled, despite his conviction yesterday of the murder of Blanche Lamont. He chatted affably and unconcernedly today to the newspaper men who called to see him at the County Jail. He denied having stated last night that Judge Murphy, who presided at his trial, had been his prosecutor, admitting frankly that Judge Murphy's charge to the jury had been perfectly fair and his rulings impartial.

"This verdict," Durrant continued, "does not affect me at all. I feel no different when I heard it than I did before it was delivered, and I am just the same today. As a matter of fact there has been nothing at all in this case which has moved me in any way, and there will be nothing. I do not wish to be understood as saying that I am insensitive to feeling, but I know my whole life and just what I have done and have not done, and a consciousness of my innocence buoys me up."

Attorney H. D. Dickinson said today that Durrant's defense would ask for a new trial, and that if Judge Murphy did not grant the application, an appeal would be taken to the Supreme Court of California. Gen. Dickinson stated that the application will be based upon the extenuating noted in the trial. He added that the removal of Juror Brown from the panel after he had been definitely accepted by both sides would be one ground of appeal, and the admission of the testimony of Miss Carrie Cunningham, a newspaper woman, another. Dickinson said that he was not surprised at the verdict, as the jury had realized that public opinion was positive against the defendant. He stated that every point made by the prosecution was applauded in the courtroom and that the jurors were thus shown what they were expected to do.

Dickinson charged that Durrant had been hounded in the newspapers, and referred to the remark of Secretary H. A. Dickinson, president of the Christian Association to Juvenile Tramps, "If you don't hang Durrant, we will hang you," as an instance of the unfair influence at work against his client. The attorney added that he would stand by Durrant, whom he believed to be innocent, and whom he hoped yet to see indicated.

Chief of Police Crowley and Chief of Detectives Lees today received scores of telegrams from police officials all over the country, constituting a judgment upon the outcome of the trial. When Durrant is brought up for sentence next Friday Dist.-Atty. Barnes will ask that the prisoner be arraigned on the charge of having murdered the negro, and will then ask that the date of the trial be set. The prosecution is ready to proceed in this case, but it is understood that the defense will ask for a continuance for two weeks.

The District-Attorney says that at the conclusion of the preliminary examination of Durrant, the evidence was much stronger in the Lamont than in the Williams case. In developing the former he had relied upon the defense which was adduced in connection with the murder of Minnie Williams, so that the prosecution claims the possession of more conclusive proof of guilt in the case yet to be tried than in the trial just concluded.

The most important of the new witnesses is Alexander Zeuger, a cabinet-maker, who is a member of Emmanuel church. He says that on the night of April 12 he called on Mr. Taber, on Two-hundred and Second Street, about 8:30 o'clock, left there and started for his home at No. 12 Randall Place. He walked along Bartlett street and when he came to the Emmanuel church he saw Durrant and Minnie Williams standing at the side door of the church. The story is corroborated by Durrant's wife. In an interview on the night of his arrest, he stated that he did not see Minnie Williams at all on April 12 and had not seen her for three weeks prior to that day.

It is expected that the defense will ask for a change of venue in the Williams case, as it is thought that if by any remote chance the prosecution fails to secure a conviction the result will be to cast a doubt over the justice of the verdict in the Lamont case. It is generally agreed that the same hands which strangled Blanche Lamont slaughtered Miss Williams. If a dismissal in the untried case results, it will furnish grounds for claiming a miscarriage of justice in the case, although the public would have a basis upon which to appeal to the Governor for executive clemency.

The impression prevails that Durrant would gain little by a change of venue. It is the general opinion that he is safer here than in any other place in California. Were he to be transferred to any other place for trial on a charge of murdering Minnie Williams, there might be fear of lynching. Here under the protection of the Sheriff and police, and with the most at hand, he is safe, though public violence as recently occurred at Yreka.

It has been intimated that the defense may allege insanity as a defense in the Williams case. Many physicians and experts on mental diseases argue that the murderer has an abnormal brain, but it is questionable if they will declare him morally irresponsible for his acts.

A TALK WITH COUNSEL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Notwithstanding the verdict of the jury, John H. Dickinson, the chief counsel for the defense, and Harry N. Morris, the detective, both believe that Durrant is innocent and that he is the victim of circumstances and the pressure of public opinion.

"I do not believe that he is guilty," said Dickinson after the verdict had been rendered. "I went into the case because I believed him innocent, and notwithstanding the verdict of the jury, that is still my opinion. I think it is a case of too much newspaper comment. The pressure upon the jury must have been tremendous. I do not think he ever had a fair chance. Under different conditions there might have been a different verdict, for I certainly think enough evidence was presented by the defense to raise at least a reasonable doubt in the minds of the jurors."

"Do you think he had a fair trial?"

"Well, yes; I think he did. I would not like to say anything against that jury, because I consider it exceptionally good; still, at the same time, all men are human and the jurors may have been affected more or less by public sentiment. I suppose now the public will be satisfied, but the end has not come yet. They have not hanged him yet, and it is a hard struggle against heavy odds and we did all that it was possible for men to do."

"That is my opinion also," Harry Morse interjected. "I am ashamed of nothing I did in the case. If that man be guilty there is no punishment too great for him, but I can't bring myself to think that he is guilty. I am convinced that no one man committed both of these murders. The Lamont murder and the Williams murder were committed in different ways. Both were brutal enough, but the Williams was far more bloody than the other. I do not think that Durrant is guilty. The general, Mr. Deuprey and myself, took him into a corner of his cell in the County Jail and questioned him closely on everything. He was a guilty man, he told us. I think we handled the case as well as possible. The defense presented was the only defense that could be made. That murder certainly was not committed by one man and some day that fact will come out."

Eugene Deuprey, Durrant's defense counsel, received the verdict philosophically, and said that he was painlessly disappointed. However, he did not attempt to conceal. All his energy and all the vigor of his mind had been exerted in the case. He had labored unceasingly day and night in his efforts to free his client and all but yielded up his own life in the process. The progress of the trial he became prostrated by his labors and for several days he lay at death's door, and only the best of care and skilled medical attendance pulled him through. He was literally carried into court to make his appeal to the jury for the life of Durrant, and the effort cost him a relapse.

Deuprey professes to believe in the innocence of his client, he feels deeply for the young man's mother and he had staked his professional reputation on the defense in the Lamont case. The motives which impelled the attorney to put forth his best efforts in the case, and that the jury should have been out so short a time filled him with amazement and chagrin. He had not been in attendance at court for several days, and he did not dare to feel the pulse of the body in whose hands rested the life of Durrant and whose verdict was a shock. The news came to him over the telephone as he lay in bed propped up with pillows. It was some moments before he recovered from his surprise and his first words were of sympathy for the condemned man's mother.

The attorney has no words for the jury, but those of praise. A better body of men, he says, could not be brought together in the entire country. He regrets that the physical condition did not permit him to make a more exhaustive argument in which he would have reviewed the testimony of every witness in the case, but he doubts now that any argument could have altered the verdict.

The attorney has placed great confidence in the testimony of the ladies," said Deuprey last night, "and it is mainly on their evidence the verdict has been found. Well, the newspaper have won their flight and we have lost ours. The popular sentiment was against us, and that is a very big thing to overcome. To have the public with you is 99 per cent. of the battle. I still believe that the unfortunate young man is innocent of these awful crimes, but the moment the argument would have altered the minds of the jury. Every man of the twelve had Durrant convicted at the close of the testimony. It was a splendid jury, a better one could not have been found if the world were searched over."

"Shall we ask for a new trial? Most assuredly. I think that Judge Murphy will set aside the verdict. There was no evidence adduced during the trial to warrant such a verdict. There is opportunity and the identification of any of the wives, but the testimony of the ladies must have had great weight with the jury."

WILL ATTACK THE PRESS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The defense in the Durrant case has decided upon no plan of action. An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the jury was intimidated by newspaper criticism and was forced to bring in a guilty verdict of guilty, notwithstanding the technical objection to the trial will, of course, be made, but they will be subsidiary to the main argument that newspaper discussion made it impossible for the accused to receive a fair trial.

The defense will argue that they were sensational and thoroughly biased against the defendant, who will be claimed that they created a public sentiment which the jury did not dare resist. With such a plea Durrant will go before the Supreme Court for a reversal of the judgment of the lower court and for an order for a new trial. If that be denied him he will pay the penalty for his terrible crime with his life.

Durrant had many visitors today, ministers, friends, mother and father and attorney. Even a Juro, Horace Smythe, called. He like to do odd things and effect odd manners. They are privileges honored in his person by the tolerance of many years. He never did a stranger thing in his life than when he stood outside of Durrant's cell and talked with the man he had strangled. Blanche Lamont slaughtered Miss Williams. If a dismissal in the untried case results, it will furnish grounds for claiming a miscarriage of justice in the case, although the public would have a basis upon which to appeal to the Governor for executive clemency.

The impression prevails that Durrant would gain little by a change of venue. It is the general opinion that he is safer here than in any other place in California. Were he to be transferred to any other place for trial on a charge of murdering Minnie Williams, there might be fear of lynching. Here under the protection of the Sheriff and police, and with the most at hand, he is safe, though public violence as recently occurred at Yreka.

It has been intimated that the defense may allege insanity as a defense in the Williams case. Many physicians and experts on mental diseases argue that the murderer has an abnormal brain, but it is questionable if they will declare him morally irresponsible for his acts.

A TALK WITH COUNSEL.

Dr. Rosenstein's Family Has an Existing Experience.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: BERKELEY, Nov. 2.—The wife and daughters of Dr. Julius Rosenstein had an alarming experience with burglars yesterday morning. Dr. Rosenstein was awakened by a burglar who held a pistol to her head and threatened to shoot her if she made a noise. The burglar demanded her diamonds and other jewels, but was informed that they were locked up in a safe deposit vault in San Francisco.

The burglar then ransacked the room, obtaining $10 in money and a gold watch worth $200. Mrs. Rosenstein pointed out to him that the watch was of little value and that the check would lead to his identification. He accordingly handed them back to her, and then went to the room of Miss Frances Rosenstein, where he obtained nothing. Rosenstein, Mrs. Emily Rosenstein was awakened by the man and ran to the burglar in the hall. She looked her door and the daring fellow tried to break it in, but without success.

By this time there was great excitement in the household. The mother and daughters were separated from each other. The burglar held a point of vantage in the hall into which the doors of all the rooms opened. Mrs. Rosenstein, now fearing that some harm might come to her pretty daughters, so she arose and tried to escape from her room. The burglar followed her and the threshold of her room the burglar stepped up to her with pistol in hand and ordered her to retreat. Then he compelled her to light the gas.

There was the first sign that the terrible woman had a good look at the burglar who had taken possession of her home. She found him to be a man about 30 years old and fairly attired. He wore a brown silk handkerchief for a mask.

which covered his face from the eyes down. This prevented Mrs. Rosenstein from getting a good description of the robber.

"I will bid you good-night," said the robber, as he removed his hat and made a courtly bow. Then he disappeared and quietly walked down the front stairs and through the house to the rear side.

NOT SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

Ex-Deputy Collector Cashin of San Francisco Goes Clear.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—D. M. Cashin, ex-deputy collector of the port, who was indicted five years ago for his part in customs frauds, was freed by British Columbia, appeared for trial today in the United States District Court. The indictment against him was dismissed on motion of United States District Attorney Foote, who stated that the government had not sufficient evidence against Cashin to convict.

For the frauds which were attributed to Cashin, the firm of Neuberger, Reis & Liebes Bros., the other firm involved, was never tried, but was allowed to go free on motion of the United States District Attorney.

Run Over and Killed.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 2.—David Robertson, 19 years old, son of James Robertson, was run over and killed on the Otay extension of the National City and San Diego railroad today. The young man was employed in the construction work on the road and fell from a flatcar. His head was crushed and death was instantaneous.

Innocence Agent Doolittle's Suit.

FRESNO, Nov. 2.—J. E. Doolittle of the city, a defense attorney, who was recently arrested in San Francisco on the instance of the Sun Insurance Company for the embezzlement of $349,000, today began an action against that company for damages in the sum of $15,900. False imprisonment and defamation of character are the grounds for damages.

THE ROYAL FAMILY HAVING A GOOD TIME.

War Tales May Scare the Ministry, but the Princesses Have Never a Fear.

Wales's Daughters Take in the Side-shows Like Plain Ordinary Citizens.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the Hongkong dispatch to the Times and Globe, telling of the railway and harbor, was not the only one to have been made. It is said that the alarm was caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Innocence Agent Doolittle's Suit.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors from Eastern papers that Japan and Russia have formed, or are forming, an understanding which is to result in their mutual benefit. This new feature of the war scare is the really cold chills to pass down the backs of Her Majesty's ministers and the Premier is said to be shivering still. Be that as it may, there is much uneasiness in official circles here and elsewhere, and this is being reflected upon the stocks and commodity markets, causing a decided falling off in prices, particularly of Russian, Turkish and Spanish securities.

Princess "Harry" an Object of More than Usual Interest to Her Friends—The Hunting Season—New Plays.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT: LONDON, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright, 1895.) The war scare caused by the alarm felt at the rumors

LINERS.

FOR SALE—
City Lots and Land.

W. Beacon st., southwest corner of Tenth st., 50x150 feet to 20-foot alley; this lot faces on Clara st., near Washington st., 122 W. Second st.

Westgate ave.—25 feet to 150 feet east front, close to Ocean View ave.; if you are looking for the choicest residence location in the city, go no further; we will put you in the group of people who have had this 100-foot street and the view from these lots which is far below their real value.

Westgate ave.—25 feet to 150 feet east front, close to Ocean View ave.; if you are looking for the choicest residence location in the city, go no further; we will put you in the group of people who have had this 100-foot street and the view from these lots which is far below their real value.

West Bonnie Bras, at bottom of either side of almost any street, at bottom prices.

Santee st., east front, near 15th, 48x150 feet to 20-foot; cheapest lot on the street; only $150.

Seventh st., beautiful south front lot, 50x150 feet to 20-foot; on high ground overlooking city; just west of Pearl st.; this is one of the best bargains we have at $80 per foot, worth $100.

Seventh st., near Union ave., large lot at bargain price.

Houston st., close to famous Harpe tract, cheap; we have lots of lots in all sections of the city at all kinds of prices. We solicit your business, and are prepared to get you what you want. Try us.

HINTON & WHITAKER,
123 W. Second st.

FOR SALE—HERE WE COME WITH A PRO-MISCUOUS LOT OF PROPOSITIONS. Read them carefully, and if there is not something that will suit you.

$3000 buys 9 acres near the city, with good springs.

$2000 buys 17 acres, same place.

$2000 buys valuable fruit farm near Downey with water; 45 acres.

$2000 buys 1000 feet of hotel property.

$2000 buys 3 acres in Highland Park, bearing fruit.

$2000 buys best-paying alfalfa farm near by 25 acres.

$2000 buys a snap in 7-room house in the city.

$2000 buys a splendid lot on W. Pico st., in City Center tract.

$40 per month rents fully furnished house on 10th st.

$40 per month rents 4-room house with water, on 12th st.

$40 per month rents 2 1/2 acres with house and water at Glendale.

Some nice cottages to offer on easy payments.

60 acres clear to trade for land in Iowa; income property in Solbridge, N.D., to trade for something nice; $1000.

C. M. TAYLOR & CO., 215 W. First st. 3

FOR SALE—
900x100 ft., near Central ave.

$400—Freeman, near Vernon.

$400—100x150, John Street, near Vermont;

you can have 100 feet if you want it.

$500—53x175, south side of 16th, on Tracy line.

100x—Corner lot on Eighth st., near Pearl.

$1200—Burlington st., near 10th; 100 feet

if you want it.

100x—Nob Hill st., in Nob Hill tract.

1320—West side Bonnie Bras, close to 10th st.

1320—Southwest corner 11th, near Burlington.

1320—Stand st., near Hill st.

1320—East side W. Beacon between Eighth and Ninth.

23750—150 feet on Ocean View, adjoining property can't be bought for less than $40 per foot.

23750—150 feet on Sixth st., opposite Park.

24000—150 feet on Seventh st.; same size

piece adjoining held by 20000.

SMITH & O'BRIEN,
227 W. Second st.

FOR SALE—
FLORIDA TRACT.
THESE RESIDENCE LOTS IN THE SOUTHWEST PART OF THE BUSINESS CENTER

Are within walking distance of churches where you can buy a home.

Property is located bet. 7th and 9th sts., 1 block west of Pearl st. The streets are graded.

House lots are graded, and trees are planted.

The city has grown around this property, consequently prices are such as will meet the purchase of the business adventure. The Southland cable line and Consolidated Company's electric line on Ninth st. and the Tracion Company's electric line. Both are in the property accessible from all parts of the city.

For prices, terms and maps, apply to

STIMSON BROS.,
3 S.E. cor. Second and Broadway.

FOR SALE—CITY LOTS—

BARR & CLAY REALTY CO.,
117 S. Broadway.

$2200—Fine lot on Pico near Flower.

$2000—90x150, W. cor. Ninth and Blaine, 50x145, 20-foot alley.

$1700—Lot 50x150 to 18th, W. Beacon st., between Eighth and Ninth sts. (26)

$1700—Lot 50x150 to 18th, W. Beacon st., between Seventh and Eighth sts. (65)

$24500—Lot 150x150 on Seventh; fine corner;

1/2 acre of plot (35)

23750—150 feet on Sixth st., opposite Park.

24000—150 feet on Seventh st.; same size

piece adjoining held by 20000.

SMITH & O'BRIEN,
227 W. Second st.

FOR SALE—FOR DESIRABLE HOMES—

CONGER'S WILSON TRACT

Deep 50-foot lots facing on gravelled streets wherever possible; all streets lined with choice shade trees; lots 100x150, 150x150, 200x150,

250x150, 300x150, 350x150, 400x150, 450x150,

500x150, 550x150, 600x150, 650x150, 700x150,

750x150, 800x150, 850x150, 900x150, 950x150,

1000x150, 1050x150, 1100x150, 1150x150, 1200x150,

1250x150, 1300x150, 1350x150, 1400x150,

1450x150, 1500x150, 1550x150, 1600x150,

1650x150, 1700x150, 1750x150, 1800x150,

1850x150, 1900x150, 1950x150, 2000x150,

2050x150, 2100x150, 2150x150, 2200x150,

2250x150, 2300x150, 2350x150, 2400x150,

2450x150, 2500x150, 2550x150, 2600x150,

2650x150, 2700x150, 2750x150, 2800x150,

2850x150, 2900x150, 2950x150, 3000x150,

3050x150, 3100x150, 3150x150, 3200x150,

3250x150, 3300x150, 3350x150, 3400x150,

3450x150, 3500x150, 3550x150, 3600x150,

3650x150, 3700x150, 3750x150, 3800x150,

3850x150, 3900x150, 3950x150, 4000x150,

4050x150, 4100x150, 4150x150, 4200x150,

4250x150, 4300x150, 4350x150, 4400x150,

4450x150, 4500x150, 4550x150, 4600x150,

4650x150, 4700x150, 4750x150, 4800x150,

4850x150, 4900x150, 4950x150, 5000x150,

5050x150, 5100x150, 5150x150, 5200x150,

5250x150, 5300x150, 5350x150, 5400x150,

5450x150, 5500x150, 5550x150, 5600x150,

5650x150, 5700x150, 5750x150, 5800x150,

5850x150, 5900x150, 5950x150, 6000x150,

6050x150, 6100x150, 6150x150, 6200x150,

6250x150, 6300x150, 6350x150, 6400x150,

6450x150, 6500x150, 6550x150, 6600x150,

6650x150, 6700x150, 6750x150, 6800x150,

6850x150, 6900x150, 6950x150, 7000x150,

7050x150, 7100x150, 7150x150, 7200x150,

7250x150, 7300x150, 7350x150, 7400x150,

7450x150, 7500x150, 7550x150, 7600x150,

7650x150, 7700x150, 7750x150, 7800x150,

7850x150, 7900x150, 7950x150, 8000x150,

8050x150, 8100x150, 8150x150, 8200x150,

8250x150, 8300x150, 8350x150, 8400x150,

8450x150, 8500x150, 8550x150, 8600x150,

8650x150, 8700x150, 8750x150, 8800x150,

8850x150, 8900x150, 8950x150, 9000x150,

9050x150, 9100x150, 9150x150, 9200x150,

9250x150, 9300x150, 9350x150, 9400x150,

9450x150, 9500x150, 9550x150, 9600x150,

9650x150, 9700x150, 9750x150, 9800x150,

9850x150, 9900x150, 9950x150, 10000x150,

10050x150, 10100x150, 10150x150, 10200x150,

LINERS.

TO LET—

Rooms. — WE HAVE 2 FLATS OF 8 ROOMS each, suitable for two families in each, situated on the corner of Third and Broadway ave., which we will rent at $25 for each month; good reliable tenant; we would be tempted to rent at $25 for starters for first one. F. H. PFEIFER & CO., 108 S. Broadway. 3

TO LET—3 NEWLY PAPERED ROOMS ON THE 2nd floor, unfurnished, water and bath, only $10; also 2 choice rooms, furnished complete for light housekeeping, water, etc. $10; no children; 10 room, 1st floor, unfurnished, $15; have your chance. THE EVER-ETT, 4th Crescent, just off Temple. 3

TO LET—THREE FURNISHED ROOMS FOR housekeeping, first floor, sunny side, new house; kitchen; large new stove; water and gas; gas, use of parlor to parties; low rent; references exchanged. Address E. BOX 22, 11TH ST. 3

TO LET—CLUBS, TEACHERS, TOURISTS' HEADQUARTERS CO., rooms 35 and 36, Bryan Block. 3

TO LET—SUNNY FURNISHED ROOMS, single or en suite, bath, housekeeping privileges; everything first-class; suitable for gentleman; close to Third and Broadway ave., room 2, 245 S. Spring. 3

TO LET—VERY DESIRABLE PARLOR and bedroom, close to Third and Broadway ave., clean bath, hot and cold water in tank; gas, use of parlor to parties; low rent; references exchanged. Address E. BOX 22, 11TH ST. 3

TO LET—2 NEWLY PAPERED ROOMS FOR housekeeping, first floor, sunny side, new house; kitchen; large new stove; water and gas; gas, use of parlor to parties; low rent; references exchanged. Address E. BOX 22, 11TH ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICELY FURNISHED ROOM IN private family, suitable for a gentleman. 10 room, 1st floor, unfurnished, $15; room, 1st floor, bay-window, no children. Get address room 2, 245 S. Spring. 3

TO LET—2 NEWLY PAPERED ROOMS FOR housekeeping, first floor, sunny side, new house; kitchen; large new stove; water and gas; gas, use of parlor to parties; low rent; references exchanged. Address E. BOX 22, 11TH ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICELY FURNISHED FRONT room, 2 minutes' walk from Spring st. 215 S. Hill st. 4

TO LET—FINE LARGE SUNNY SUITE OF ROOMS, furnished with piano. 742 S. Spring st. 4

TO LET—TWO FURNISHED HOUSEKEEPING rooms, 201 SAN PEDRO ST., corner Second. 4

TO LET—CHEAP, FURNISHED SUNNY ROOMS, also 2 unfurnished, housekeeping, 127 S. Third. 4

TO LET—ROOMS FOR HOUSEKEEPING, 616 RUTH AVE.; also 2 rooms, $10. 900 E. FIRST ST. 3

TO LET—FURNISHED ROOMS, REASONABLE rates, at ST. HELENA HOUSE, 224 S. Broadway. 3

TO LET—FURNISHED, LARGE BACK PARLOR with kitchen; also other rooms, at 617 S. Hill ST. 3

TO LET—FURNISHED ROOMS WITH OR without board, SAN XAVIER, 312 W. Spring st. 3

TO LET—A BEAUTIFUL OFFICE, CHEAP. Apply bet. 1 and 2 at room 315, BYRNE BLDG. 3

TO LET—2 NICE UNFURNISHED ROOMS FOR light housekeeping. 1712 BROOKLYN AVE. 3

TO LET—DO NOT TAKE THE CAR, BUT call at my office and I will take you out to show you that $5, $10 and up to $100 houses are to be had. 10 room, 1st floor, unfurnished. 112 S. Hill st. 3

TO LET—PLEASANT, SUNNY ROOMS, furnished or unfurnished, 301 W. SEVENTH ST. 3

TO LET—ROOMS WITH BOARD; LOVELY room, near Westlake Park. 322 ALVARADO ST. 3

TO LET—FINE SUITE, SOUTH AND EAST front, 201 S. Hill st., man and wife, $10 per month. GRAND VIEW HOTEL, Buena Vista and College sts. 3

TO LET—HANDSOME ROOMS, WITH choice board, etc., desirably located on the hill, 5 minutes' walk from Second and Spring. 201 HILLER HILL ST. 3

TO LET—NICE SUNNY ROOMS, with large bay-windows, from $4 per month up; nice rooms at $6 per month. Cor. BUENA VISTA and COLLEGE STS. 3

TO LET—TWO NICELY FURNISHED BAY-window rooms and others, with bath, from $6 per month. Adequate personal attention to strangers. E. F. FOURTH. 3

TO LET—AN ELEGANT, LARGE SUNNY parlor with gas, mantel, folding bed, etc.; also a large bay window. 401 CORNELL ST. 3

TO LET—PLEASANTLY LOCATED, NICELY furnished, rooms, with light housekeeping privileges; 3 blocks from 9th. MRS. CLARK, 209 S. Olive. 3

TO LET—TWO NICELY FURNISHED BAY-window rooms and others, with bath, from $6 per month. Adequate personal attention to strangers. E. F. FOURTH. 3

TO LET—1 NICE SUNNY ROOM, parlor with gas, mantel, folding bed, etc.; also a large bay window. 401 CORNELL ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICELY FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, clean, cheap, also for housekeeping, rooms, 431 SAN PEDRO, corner Winston. 3

TO LET—$25 WATER PAID; 7 NICE ROOMS FOR housekeeping, rooms, clean, second floor, new brick building, 115 E. SEVENTH ST. Inquire at building. 3

TO LET—NICE SUNNY FURNISHED ROOMS with or without board, or for light housekeeping, 2 doors from Pico car. 1327 VERNON ST. 3

TO LET—TO GENTLEMEN, 3 NEWLY FURNISHED, desirable rooms in private family, with good references. Address E. BOX 65, TIMES OFFICE. 3

TO LET—VERY DESIRABLE FURNISHED rooms, sunny and in good locality; light housekeeping allowed. 433 S. HOPE ST. corner of Winston. 3

TO LET—NICELY FURNISHED SUITE of factors with housekeeping privileges; also single rooms; gas and bath. 33 N. BROADWAY. 4

TO LET—SUNNY ROOM, COMPLETELY furnished, with light housekeeping, clean, close in; $4 per month. Inquire 615 S. SPRING ST. 3

TO LET—A LARGE, HANDSOMELY FURNISHED suite, bedroom and parlor; also light housekeeping rooms, adults. 627 W. THIRD ST. 3

TO LET—NICELY FURNISHED DOUBLE parlor and kitchen, piano, gas, bath and water; for light housekeeping. 328 S. HOPE ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICE SUNNY ROOM, large sunny front room; fire, gas, bath and water; rent reasonable to right party. 330 S. PERL ST. 3

TO LET—4 OF DOUBLE HOUSE, NEW rooms, bath, cement walks, 1617 SANTEE ST. $25, including water; 3

TO LET—PEASANT, SUNNY ROOMS FOR light housekeeping, bath, gas stove, clean, etc. Apply forenoon, cor. NINTH and LAKE STS. 3

TO LET—A SUNNY, FURNISHED FRONT room; use of dining-room and kitchen; extra bedroom if wanted; price $10. 516 W. THIRD ST. 2

TO LET—LOS ANGELES ROOM-RENTING AGENCY, Miss Javes and Mrs. Martin proprietors, 1254 S. Broadway. Information free. 3

TO LET—THE PINTO, NICELY FURNISHED rooms, clean, single or suite. 400 S. BROADWAY, opp. Chamber of Commerce. 3

TO LET—A HOMESOME SUITE, CHEAP; also several bedrooms, from $6; new house; modern fixtures. Address E. BOX 70, SEVENTH ST. 3

TO LET—LIST YOUR ROOMS WITH US; free registration, free carriage. HUGH MACKIEGAN, Broadway, cor. Fourth. 3

TO LET—PARLOR WITH FOLDING BED, bedroom, on front, clean, for housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 6

TO LET—FURNISHED, A LARGE, SUNNY ROOM; housekeeping privileges; unfurnished rooms, ground floor. 525 S. STANTON ST. 3

TO LET—3 FURNISHED ROOMS FOR LIGHT housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—2 DESIRABLE FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping, with kitchen; rooms, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—HOUSEKEEPING FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping privileges; unfurnished rooms, ground floor. 525 S. STANTON ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOMS IN BASEMENT IN return for housework; no small children. Address E. BOX 29, TIMES OFFICE. 3

TO LET—SECOND FLOOR, PRIVATE house, furnished, light housekeeping if desired; fine fixtures, 10 room, 1st floor. 1034 S. Spring st. 3

TO LET—FURNISHED, A LARGE, SUNNY ROOM; housekeeping privileges; unfurnished rooms, ground floor. 525 S. STANTON ST. 3

TO LET—3 FURNISHED ROOMS FOR LIGHT housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—FURNISHED, A LARGE, SUNNY ROOM; housekeeping privileges; unfurnished rooms, ground floor. 525 S. STANTON ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—2 DESIRABLE FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping, with kitchen; rooms, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—HOUSEKEEPING FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping, with kitchen; rooms, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—2 UNFURNISHED ROOMS; LIGHT housekeeping, with bath; $12 up. 320 E. FOURTH ST. 3

TO LET—3 ROOMS, WITH OR WITHOUT board, ST. LAWRENCE, 654 S. Main. 3

TO LET—FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping, with bath; $12 up. 320 E. FOURTH ST. 3

TO LET—2 DESIRABLE FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping, with bath; $12 up. 320 E. FOURTH ST. 3

TO LET—HOUSEKEEPING FURNISHED ROOMS; new block, COR. FOURTH and HILL; no housekeeping. 3

TO LET—2 UNFURNISHED ROOMS; LIGHT housekeeping, with bath; $12 up. 320 E. FOURTH ST. 3

TO LET—3 ROOMS, WITH OR WITHOUT board, ST. LAWRENCE, 654 S. Main. 3

TO LET—FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping, with bath; $12 up. 320 E. FOURTH ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—2 DESIRABLE FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping, with bath; $12 up. 320 E. FOURTH ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—2 DESIRABLE FURNISHED ROOMS; light housekeeping, with bath; $12 up. 320 E. FOURTH ST. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second. 3

TO LET—1 NICE FURNISHED ROOM, with bath, light housekeeping, 145 S. Bunker Hill ave., cor. Second.

LINERS.

TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION.

FOR SALE—
You get money by buying your goods
at several stores
Buy all your goods at one place.
You can get them at JOSEPH'S.
You can get anything you need to furnish your house.
You can get it
at the right price.
or the next week.

we have a Windsor folding bed for $30, and a fine solid oak bed for $25; an elegant marble-top sideboard for $35, that cost $10; a large walnut marble-top bedroom suit for $20. We have a big bargain in a Beatty Beethove organ for $25, well worth $50; a large French plate mirror, 24x30, for $15, cost $30; a solid French walnut secretary and bookcase, only $30; an oak roll-top office desk, $12; a flat-top desk for $5.00. We have a dandy line of bed lounges, a good, new lounge, $3.50; a double-headed silk plush, lounger for $2.50; one in corduroy, a beauty, for $14; a corduroy couch, only $10; a Wilton rug couch, $12.50. You can't do better on bedroom suits. Our $30 suit is a bird; there is a cheval suit for $15; a handsome oak suit for $30 and $25. Those new $4 extension tables go like hot cakes; we can't set them up fast enough. The fancy center tables for $1.25 don't get time to dry. In mattings we have big bargains from the 10-cent China mattings and the white inserted for 14 cents, to the best at 25 cents. But the biggest bargains are our chairs. Come and see them; those oak dining chairs at 75 cents. Now is the time to buy heating and cooking stoves. We have got what you want, either new or second-hand; a New Process gasoline stove, $14, cost $22, as good as new. Don't forget about our curtain beds, the manuel beds, $7.50. Don't forget the $3.50 chafing-dishes, the $1.75 oak rockers, the $2 wool mattresses. Don't forget that you can get anything at our place; even got some chicken-brooders for sale cheap. Don't forget the place you're looking for, JOSEPH'S, 425 and 438 Spring st. 3 FOR SALE—$300 CASH, $10 PER MONTH; lot on Washington near Central ave. F. O. CASS, 112 S. Broadway. 3

FOR SALE—$1200: A COTTAGE ON THE WOLFSKILL tract; large lot, 44 feet front, 80 in rear. J. C. OLIVER & CO., 101 S. Broadway. 3

FOR SALE—WAGON 34¢ THIMBLE SKEIN, 5¢ inch tire; Studebaker, new; also good spring wagon. RUGGLES, 626 San Julian st.

TO LET—$25 FURNISHED HOUSES, ALL sizes and prices, from $25 to $200 per month. J. C. OLIVER & CO., 101 S. Broadway. 3

FOR SALE—$650: A BEAUTIFUL LOT IN THE ULMSTROM tract, 48' front by Hoover. J. C. OLIVER & CO., 101 S. Broadway. 3

FOR SALE—A CLOTHERY STORE AT A snap, less $50 on the dollar; make an offer. Inquire 225 E. FIFTH ST. 3

WANTED—PARTNER WITH $300 FOR A spicied money-lending business. Address E. B. COOK, 311 S. Broadway. 3

FOR SALE—A NICE PHAETON, NEARLY new, cheap. Call on or address DR. R. OWENS, 225 W. First st. 3

LOST—YOUNG PUG DOG, ON HILL ST., between 4th and 5th, fourth. Reward if returned to 225 S. Hill st. 3

WANTED—A GOOD LADY COOK FOR delicacies. STORE, corner Fourth and Hill st. 3

WANTED—100 TONS HAY TO STORE AT 225 S. FLORY HAY CO., 2nd and Central ave. 3

TO LET—NICELY FURNISHED ROOMS, 1 block from Times Office. 102 S. Hill st. 3

TO LET—A NICE 6-ROOMED HOUSE $30 SAND ST. Inquire 832, corner of Pearl. 3

TO LET—FURNISHED COTTAGE OR FARMER'S HOME FOR $75 S. MAIN ST. 3

FOR SALE—JERSEY COW, YOUNG AND gentle, cheap. 646 N. Hill st. 3

TO LET—2 FURNISHED ROOMS FOR housemen. 646 N. Hill st. 3

TO LET—FINE FURNISHED ROOMS FOR housemen. 646 N. Hill st. 3

WANTED—A BRIGHT BOY, AGE 12 TO 15, ORPHEUM CIGAR STORE. 3

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, state of California, in the name of the state of Isaac Spalding deceased. Order to show cause why order of sale of real estate should not be made. No. 1194.

W. A. Spalding, the administrator of the estate of said deceased, having filed a petition herein duly verified praying for an order of sale of the real estate of said deceased, for the purposes set forth:

It is therefore ordered by the said court that all persons interested in the real estate of said deceased appear before the said superior court on Friday, the 22d day of November, 1890, at 10 o'clock a.m. of said day, at the courthouse of the city of Los Angeles, in the city of Los Angeles, in the state of California, to show cause why an order should not be made to sell as much of the real estate of the said deceased as shall be necessary.

And that a copy of this order be published at least once a week in the Los Angeles Times, a newspaper printed and published in said county of Los Angeles.

W. H. CLARK,
Judge of the Superior Court.

Dated October 16th, 1890.
P. W. DODD, Attorney for Administrator.

Notice of Sale.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, state of California. In the matter of the estate of Isaac Cohen and Leo Pollack, deceased, and of the firm of Cohen Brothers, insolvent debtors.

Notice is hereby given, that pursuant to an order of the court on the 22d day of November, 1886, in the above entitled insolvent estate, the undersigned is assignee of said insolvent, with power on the 22d day of November, 1886, at 10 o'clock a.m., at the store room of the said insolvents in the Town of Redondo, county of Los Angeles, state of California, for the payment of all property of said insolvents particularly described as follows, to-wit:

All their stock of general merchandise; all fixtures; and all open accounts belonging to the said insolvents.

Said property will be sold as a whole.

Los Angeles, Nov. 2, 1890.

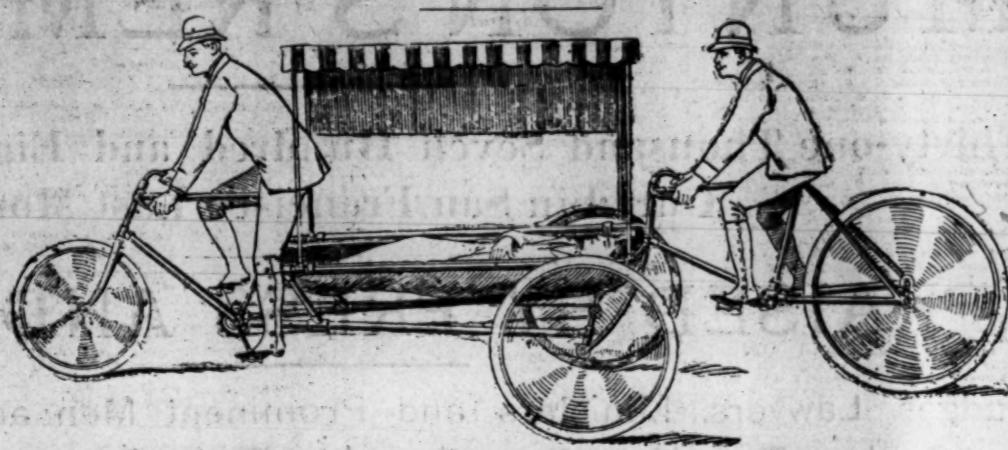

JACOB SCHLESINGER, Assignee.

Notice to Stockholders.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE annual meeting of the stockholders of the Temple-street Cable Railway Co. will be held on Wednesday, the 12th day of November, 1890, at 10 o'clock a.m., in the office of the company, No. 217 New High street, in the city of Los Angeles, California, for the purpose of electing directors and transacting such other business as may come up.

W. N. HAMAKER, Secretary.

PROPOSED POLICE BICYCLE AMBULANCE.

The lack of a police ambulance for conveying sick and injured persons to and from the Receiving Hospital has been the subject of much comment. The only mode of conveyance of the city's patients these many years has been by the patrol wagon, a method at once inconvenient, objectionable to many patients and unsuited to the purpose. The proposition of providing the department with a regular ambulance has lately been broached and discussed before the Police Commission. It has been proposed to buy an ambulance costing in the neighborhood of $600. One enterprising undertaking has undertaken to provide an ambulance for the city's work, free of expense to the city, but the proposition has not been accepted. In a few days another proposition will be made to the Police Commission. It will be in the nature of a suggestion for the city to invest in a bicycle ambulance. The patient will lie on a stretcher as shown in the cut. This stretcher is removable. The patient is laid on and lifted into the ambulance, where it is made fast to a frame. It will be provided with springs, etc., so as to make riding easy and a fall impossible. Overhead will be an adjustable canopy, with side curtains.

The length of the machine will be 10 feet, and it will seat double. It will have 25-inch wheels, pneumatic tires, 63 to 70-inch gear. The weight single will be about 60 pounds; double 80 pounds or less. The speed can be regulated by the operators, according to condition of roads. The working strain will be about 600 pounds.

The advantages claimed for the vehicle are that it will get the patient less than a wagon, can make better time than a wagon and horses, will always be ready for instant use, and the slight expense of maintenance will be about one-fifth less than that of a wagon ambulance. The firm which has been figuring on it, estimates the original cost at $200 to $300.

CEARA, BRAZIL.

And Its Enjoyments, as Seen by a Naval Officer.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

CEARA (Brazil), Sept. 5.—At last we arrived at Ceara, and the monotony of life on board of one of Uncle Sam's vessels would be varied by the opportunities given to investigate the lives of the foreign nations we would visit. My duties on board only commencing when at sea and ceasing at the dropping of the anchor, I could see more of the countries visited than any of the other officers of the vessel. We were driven into Ceara by a heavy southwest gale, preventing us from reaching Cape St. Roque. Of all the places we visited, Ceara is the one in which I can best appreciate the beauty of the country. There is no harbor or even roadstead here; vessels have to anchor over seven miles from shore, and the heavy swell beating upon the beach prevents boats from landing. No man-of-war could live, and therefore ships necessary to the communications with the shore should be carried on by the assistance of catamarans, or jangadas, as the natives call them. These jangadas are a very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a plank a foot broad thrust down in the after-center, acting as rudder and keel, and a small sail is hoisted from the middle of each, pendant from a frail mast. Four thick sticks or poles about five feet long are secured in some way to the center of this craft, and upon it is a platform nearly three feet square, where the passengers sit. The anchor is hoisted and the jangada files like a swallow over and sometimes under the waves. It looks like a dangerous contrivance, and yet it is perfectly safe. It is a native of the coast of Brazil, and is probably the only boat of this kind in the world.

The Commandador had invited several families of the neighboring plantations, and we spent a very pleasant evening. The Brazilian signorinas are graceful dancers and bright conversationalists. The Portuguese language is spoken at Ceara, but as some of us were well versed in Spanish, that acted as a common language. The women of Ceara are very curious looking craft, and yet thoroughly reliable. They are composed of roughly five logs of cork palm, about thirty feet long and about ten inches in diameter, lashed together with a

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

PROSPECT FOR BIDS FOR THE NEW CITY JAIL.

A Sensational Suit Which Involves the Lease of the Natick House.

A Picked-up Jury Approves the Slaughter of Rare and Valuable Dogs.

Walter Milne Given Two Years at Jone-Louis Knell Released—The Leonis Estate in Court—The Railway Company Wins.

A few of the Councilmen were about the City Hall doing little that occurred outside of routine business.

At the Court of the Mayor, case dragged along yet another day. Two sensational suits, involving large property interests, were filed. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of Fred Vanner. Walter Milne was sent to the Industrial School and Louis Knell was released.

AT THE CITY HALL.

PROSPECTS GOOD.

National Educational Association May Meet in Los Angeles.

School Superintendent Foshay has received a letter from H. V. Luyser of Kansas City, traveling passenger agent of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, saying that the prospects for Los Angeles securing the next meeting of the National Educational Association are very good. He thinks that the action taken by the Los Angeles men who have interested themselves in the matter has had a strong influence in favor of this city.

Letters have been sent out by Superintendent Foshay to the directors of the association in each of the States and Territories, asking for their cooperation, asking in each case for an estimate of the number of people from that State or Territory who would attend the meeting if it were held in this city.

So far, it is difficult to receive definite information, but one or two of them indicate that the writers estimate the aggregate attendance higher than does Superintendent Foshay, whose estimate is 6000.

Among the principal other cities which are put in for the meeting are Boston, Astoria Park, N. J., and Duluth, Minn. The present prospects for the prize coming to this city are, to say the least, very bright.

New City Jail.

Bids for the construction of the new City Jail and police station are to be received by the City Council tomorrow. A number of builders have been figuring on the plans and it looks as if there would be a fairly large number of proposals submitted.

Building Permits.

Among the building permits issued Friday and yesterday by the Building Superintendent were the following:

J. C. Lennox, dwelling Twenty-seventh street near Central avenue, $1000.

E. E. Pratt, dwelling Crocker street near Sixth, $900.

Shaffer, one-story brick building east side of Alameda street between Aliso and Macy, $1900; another like building, $3800.

A. M. Bragg, dwelling No. 716 East Second street, $500.

Mr. Eric Wickman, dwelling Senton and Girard streets, $600.

Miss French, dwelling Ninth and Stewart streets, $1250.

Mrs. Amy Farise, dwelling San Jose street near Seventh, $1000.

John S. Shaffer, dwelling, Ceres avenue, near Sixth street, $500.

Albert O. Richardson, dwelling, Burlington avenue, near Tenth, $2675.

C. Malmik, dwelling, Gladys avenue, near Macy street, $1000.

City Hall Notes.

A. H. Bair and others have petitioned that Castelar street, between Bellevue avenue and Ord street, be graded, graveled and redwooded.

It was reported yesterday of Street Sprinkling and not the Street Superintendent who ordered the sprinkling of Pasadena avenue through the territory recently annexed to the city, as published yesterday.

H. W. Chase and others have filed a protest against the proposed opening of Sixth street between Fremont and the west line of the Galpin tract.

John J. Lang and others have petitioned for a change of grade on Fourth street between Boyle avenue and Cummings street.

The City Tax and License Collector reports for the month of October the collection of licenses amounting to $15,395. For the same period he reports the collection of delinquent licenses amounting to $48, out of licenses returned for collection amounting to $144.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

THE COURTS.

Lawsuit on the Natick House Lease Began Yesterday.

The legal medical conflict over the lease of the Natick House and the alleged fraudulent contract which involves the rights of Mrs. Natick Seigold, was commenced yesterday by the filing of a suit for injunction and for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the hotel until the affair is settled.

Mrs. Seigold was formerly the wife of Henry A. Hart, having been married to him on July 3, 1890. On November 10 of the same year Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Hart obtained from Mrs. Seigold a leasehold lease of the Natick House for a term of five years. All the furniture and other contents of the hotel were owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hart, the leasehold interest in the hotel and half of the furniture and other contents being community property, remaining after the marriage. The remaining half of the personal property was the separate property of Mr. Hart.

On April 5, 1892, Mr. Hart died, leaving his wife, his wife's two sons, each having an undivided sixth.

As a result a joint partnership was formed by Mrs. Hart and her stepsons for the purpose of managing the Natick House. The capital stock of the partnership consisted of the leasehold interest in the hotel and the furniture and other property, and was furnished according to the needs and interests of the parties to the contract. Mrs. Hart contributing a two-thirds interest in the lease and a half-interest in all the other property, and her stepsons contributing as their share the remaining one-third of the lease, and the other half of the hotel furnishings.

No definite term was assigned as a limit to the partnership, which was very profitable, the hotel netting $1500 a month in summer, and $2000 in winter. Five months ago, Mrs. Hart married W. H. Seigold, a San Francisco painter. Her stepsons opposed the marriage, but were overruled. Then they agreed to buy out Mrs. Seigold's interest in the Natick House, but could not agree upon a price.

On October 21, a written notice was served upon Mrs. Seigold to move out of the hotel on October 31, the date of the expiration of the five-year lease. She and her stepsons, however, had secretly renewed the lease in their own names for another five years, thus excluding Mrs. Seigold from all benefits of the partnership. The books and all accounts had been kept by the Hart boys, and prior to that stepmother each month what they represented as her fair share of the property.

The present suit is begun by Mrs. Seigold to have the new lease held in trust by decree of court, until a full account is made of all the affairs of the partnership. The stepmothers have filed the prayer is for an injunction to restrain the Hart boys from disposing of any of the property until the final hearing of the cause by the court.

Louis Knell Relieved.

Louis Knell, charged with embezzling a violin, is again a free man, the case having been dismissed yesterday upon motion of the District Attorney, and the defendant discharged. Mr. Knell, who shows no signs of regret, honesty, and he has held responsible positions involving the management of large sums of money. The present charge arose out of a mistake.

Sentenced to None.

Walter Milne, the seventeen-year-old boy charged with passing two fictitious checks, was arraigned yesterday before Justice Young and pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to term of two years in the Industrial School at lone.

VANNER NOT GUILTY.

Killing of Valuable Dogs Encouraged by the Jury.

The trial of Fred Vanner, continued from Friday, occupied all day yesterday in Justice Young's court, and despite the fact that the dog Ribaud was clearly proven never to have harmed any one, and that the Vanner boy confessed to having shot him, the jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty."

As the verdict was read, one of the court officials, who has seen conception of the "finest breed dog," heard to mutter: "That's a danged outrage!" and every sporting man in Southern California will be inclined to agree with him.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the children of Madre.

The entire day was occupied in attempting on the part of the defense to prove viciousness on the part of the dog, and with the utter refutation of the charges from those who had more to do with the Great Danes, and knew their character. The dogs had frightened some of the children of Madre, both by their extraordinary size and by the deep-toned roar which distinguishes the breed of Danish bearhounds, but not a single witness was brought to the stand who could testify having bitten or could in any way have been bitten or could have been bitten by the dogs. The dogs had frightened the children of Madre, but the dogs had frightened the

RAILROAD RECORD
THE SUNSET LIMITED.

ARRIVAL OF THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC'S NEW FLYER.

The Train Was Nearly Two Hours Late Because of a Slight Accident—Officials Say It Will Reach Its Destination on Time. Railroad Notes.

The first Sunset limited train of the season arrived by the Southern Pacific from New Orleans last night. The run, the officials said, was made without a collision incident until the train arrived at Caliente at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. By some unknown accident a bad leak was caused in the water-supply of the locomotive and a delay of one hour and forty-five minutes resulted.

Between Colton and this city the rate of speed at times was very high, the indicator which is attached to the interior of one of the cars showing the movement to have been at the rate of some 100 miles an hour. The train reached this city at 9:30 p.m.

Next to the locomotive is a compartment car, in which is a bath, a barber chair and a smoking compartment. The rest of the space is devoted to baggage. Next behind is the ladies' compartment car, and behind a colored maid, and to the rear of it is the conductor's compartment car. Further to the rear is another sleeping car, and behind all is the dining car. The train is vestibuled throughout.

The length of each of the sleeping cars is sixty-nine feet, and the weight is 120,000 pounds. The interior is throughout electrically heated by steam and lighted with gas.

The interior of the dining car has a roomy and comfortable appearance, with rare pointed plants, while there is a dining capacity of thirty people.

The train left New Orleans at 10 a.m. Thursday, and was expected to make the run in two days, nine hours and forty-five minutes. For three hours consecutively, while passing through the mountains, the train averaged six miles per hour. Assistant Division Superintendent Prior met the train at Yuma and said that the time of arrival at Los Angeles is in charge of Mr. Dougherty and Mr. Caldwell is the "line" conductor. He accompanied the train to the mountains, and said to the road that the long time will be made up before the train reaches Fresno, and that it will arrive at San Francisco at the time predicted.

The number of passengers aboard was ninety-eight, of which twenty-seven were men, and the remainder of Los Angeles. Most of the latter are Eastern people who are visiting the Pacific Coast for the coming winter for a short time.

EXCURSION TO Mt. LOWE.

The excursion of the Chamber of Commerce to the Alpine division of Mt. Lowe, started yesterday morning at 8:15. There was quite a turnout for the excursion, which returned last evening, but many remained over night to witness the beauty of a moonlight night and the scenery on the upper slopes of Mt. Lowe.

A RAILROAD SOLD.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 2.—The San Bernardino and Waterman Railroad, extending from this city to Harlan Springs, a distance of about five miles, has been sold, articles of incorporation having been drawn and signed by all parties interested, subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington. His approval has been granted, and the transaction is finally made. As the receiver of the First National Bank has brought suit to foreclose a mortgage on the road for $100,000, it is known that the purchase is but a temporary one, it being generally supposed that the road will eventually fall into the hands of the Southern Pacific.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 2.—The Southern Pacific is now removing carloads of the accumulated tie from the region at Eighth and Ninth streets. Its incoming ties are stored in the new yard further east, where town takes steam from troubling and traps in Devil's rest.

STRIKERS OUTLAWED.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 2.—In an interview today Mr. Hill stated that there was not the remotest probability of a strike on the Great Northern. The road had been watered upon the assumption of the safety of the road within the last few days, and assurances have been received that the men at present employed by the company will remain with the road, and that the committee claiming to represent them will be disbanded.

"So far as the discharged employees are concerned," said Mr. Hill, "they are outlaws, and will not be allowed to re-enter company under any circumstances. The Great Northern road is now in a position to deal with these people. In our former encounter with the miners and the miners' leaders, whatever we are ready for them, and there will be no strike, because the alleged committee does not represent our employees."

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Arrangements are being made for a meeting of transmissouri lines to be held here Wednesday next. The object is to get the transmissouri lines to join the reorganization of the Western Passengers Association. A number of the members prefer to have an independent association of their own, with headquarters at Omaha, Kansas City or Denver, and a chairman of its own. There are other lines, the Santa Fe, Rock Island and Burlington, which have lines on both sides of the Missouri River, and see no reason why their business should be done in one association. They want one association to govern all the territory up to Colorado and beyond, and do not want to be charged with the expense of supporting two, when one is perfectly satisfactory to them. It is proposed to satisfy the distinctly transmissouri lines by allowing them to have complete power to pass upon all questions where local interests alone are involved, and let the general association govern through business.

VENTURA NARROW GAUGE.

VENTURA, Nov. 2.—(Special Correspondence.) The exclusive mention made in The Times of Wednesday in regard to the proposed narrow gauge railroad from Ventura to Nordhoff caused considerable comment, as it was the first public notice given of the scheme. Yesterday The Times correspondent gathered the following facts concerning the plan to build the road, from George C. Power, County Surveyor, who is one of the men interested. In substance he stated that steps were being taken looking to the formation of a company which would build, equip and operate a narrow gauge railway from the junction of the Southern Pacific Railroad, at Ventura, through the Ojai Valley, and in contemplation to build and equip, with the idea of using steam as the motive power, as best meeting the requirements of the situation and prospective traffic. The preliminary legal steps are now being taken by W. H. Barnes, who, as attorney, has full control of all the legal details of organization. Right-of-way has already been guaranteed over the greater portion of the proposed route, and work to secure the balance is in progress. The men interested, engineers who have been over the route, give it as their opinion that the expense of building a road such as is proposed will be much less than would be supposed, and already money guarantees have been made which warrant the belief that the road will be built and in operation in the near future.

The fact that W. H. Barnes was called to Los Angeles for conference on Thursday, lends color to the belief that Los Angeles capitalists are directly interested in the project. It is known that Mr. Barnes was in Los Angeles on business in connection with the proposed road. Mr. Power declined to state the nature of his mission, or to give the names of the financial backers of the company. He stated that he had no authority to furnish any information beyond the fact that he was engaged in securing right-of-way, and that the road would be built as soon as practicable.

The line of the proposed road is one of the most picturesque in the State, and the country which it passes has within the past ten years developed rapidly as a fruit and farming country.

The Matilija Hot Springs are the most important summer resort this side of Paso Robles, and the patronage, both for men and passenger, which will come to the proposed road from the springs, will be a big item.

The engagement of Miss Leona Van Marter, a Tacoma girl, to Lord Bennett, son of the Earl of Tankerville, is announced.

JACOBY BROTHERS

Consolidators of 123 N. Main Street and 128 to 134 N. Spring Street, all to come under one roof.

The largest Clothing and Shoe House on the Pacific Coast.

The Banner Bearers of Southern California and leaders in all lines where low prices are mentioned.

In the Consolidators'
Men's Suits Dept.

LOT 602—(write it down)
Men's Sack Suits in cross check Cheviot of a mixed brown shade; a suit worth $15.00;
Monday at.....

$10.00

LOT 602—(commit it to memory) Men's Sack Suits in plain gray, broad striped, flaked
Cheviot, perfect fit;
Monday at.....

$12.50

LOT 602—(ask to see it) Men's Sack Suits
in a ever popular Clay
Sack, in plain gray,
Cheviot and make and worth $15.00;
Monday at.....

$15.00

LOT 602—(Kindly remember it) Men's Cutaway Dress Suits,
Sack suit in plain
Cheviot, fitted;
Monday at.....

$15.00

LOT 602—(Look it up) Men's Sack Suits
in a ever popular Clay
Sack, in plain gray,
Cheviot, perfect fit;
Monday at.....

$17.50

LOT 602—(remember it) Men's Nobby Suits, in broken cross plaid in pure imported Scotch Cheviot;
Monday at.....

$20.00

Early selections bring the best results and the matchlessness of the values is your first impression. They are always the best.

In the Consolidators'
Hat-tractive Hat Dept.

On the Register Saturday—new arrivals
20 dozen of the smartest
Golf Caps ever shown in Los Angeles; all colors from light to dark; Monday at.....

50c

Plush finished Derby in one of the best selling Hat Blocks of the season; the men's are worth $1.50;
Monday at.....

$1.95

The new Fedora Hat, "The Defender," made of a fine cloth, and with correct till in some brown, otter, steel and black and the price Monday at.....

$2.50

Young's Broadway Derby's catch the fancy of a hat lover and hold the admiration of the economic buyer; why
worth $3.00;
Monday at.....

$3.00

We carry a full line of all the new and latest soft and plaided Hats, imported and domestic. That of Shanters, Toques, Golf Caps and all first-class lines of headgear of every description.

In the Consolidators'
Men's Overcoat Dept.

and Floor.
LOT 602—(mention it to the clerk) Men's satin and brown mixed plaid lined Overcoats, fall weight and worth $10.00;
Monday at.....

$7.50

LOT 602—(Cut out this item) Men's blue cloth, plaid lined, Kersey finished Overcoats in a variety of colors from $10 to $12.50; Monday at.....

$9.00

LOT 602—(And other lines in assorted lengths, and weight in a regular way $12.50 to $15;
Monday at.....

$12.50

LOT 602—(Look this line up and save it) Men's latest arrival Fall Overcoats, in a variety of colors and shades of fawn;
a coat worth $17.50;
Monday at.....

$17.50

LOT 602—(Remember it) Men's Twilled Overcoats in nut brown worsted just the coat for the garment
Monday at.....

$15.00

LOT 602—(Is it worth the extra money and are extra lining imported Kersey, worth $18.00;
Monday at.....

$17.50

LOT 602—(Look it up)
Young's Broadway Derby's catch the fancy of a hat lover and hold
the admiration of the economic buyer; why
worth $3.00;
Monday at.....

$20.00

How True These Words

And how well we have lived up to our outlined policy of years standing will, ere many moons, be proven to you, our customer and well-wisher, by an announcement which will be made shortly in these columns. We promise one of the greatest surprises of the year; 'tis but a hint we give you; clothed in mystery as yet, but soon to burst in all its grandeur. Your thoughts and patronage may well be placed on and with

JACOBY BROS.

We build up our business by placing ourselves in touch with the consumer, showing him by practical demonstration that we are honestly endeavoring to merit his confidence and patronage.

This policy has secured for us the large trade we now enjoy, and we desire to enlarge our circle by extending its lines.

In the Consolidators'
Shoe Department

The following prices will last as long as the shoes do, and they may be sold out by Monday evening.

Infants' shoes worth 80c;
Monday at.....

30c

Children's grain or Don-gong, leather and cloth, all worth
80c; Monday at.....

75c

Misses' grain or Dongola shoes worth $1.75;
Monday at.....

$1.25

Ladies' fine kid shoes, some worth $4.00 and
$5.00; Monday at.....

$1.00

Curtis & Wheeler's ladies' hand-turned shoes worth $3.00
and $3.50; Monday at.....

$2.00

Lord, Schober & Mitchell's ladies' hand-turned shoes worth $3.00 and $3.50;
Monday at.....

$3.50

Men's Patent leather shoes from Burt & Rocke & Co., worth
$2.00 and $2.50;
Monday at.....

$2.00

Johnston & Murphy's hand-sewed cal-shoes for men, worth
$4.00 and $5.00;
Monday at.....

$3.50

Burt & Packard's hand-sewed cal-
shoes for men, worth $4.00 and $5.00 per pair; Monday at.....

$3.40

An endless chain of Matchless Bargains await your coming MONDAY.

In the Consolidators'
Furnishing Goods Dept.

Men's Solid Knit
Puff-Wool Hoods
extra heavy and seamless; Monday at.....

25c

150 dozen Men's Suits and Satin and Taffeta Scraps in the latest Broadway effects;
Monday at.....

50c

75 dozen Men's Fine Negligee Overshirts, fine material; made of a fine material; made
with elastic bands;
Monday at.....

50c

50 dozen Men's Fancy Stripes and Checked Cheviot and Madras Cloth Shirts;
Monday at.....

75c

150 dozen Men's Colored Shirts and Drawers, made from Carded Australian Wool;
Monday at.....

75c

2 cases Men's Sweaters in pure wool, full fashioned colors;
Monday at.....

2.00

LOT 602—(Look it up, hunt up the numbers) Boys' "Majestic" Wool Knee-pants, made from the best material; pants made with riveted buttons, elastic material; made
of a fine material; made
with elastic bands;
Monday at.....

2.75

LOT 602—(Look it up, hunt up the numbers) Boys' "Majestic" Wool Knee-pants, made from
the best material; pants
made with riveted
buttons, elastic material; made
of a fine material; made
with elastic bands;
Monday at.....

2.75

</div

The business man need have no cares As to the disposition of his wares, Nor wait for trade with wistful eyes If he will but advertise.

(Printers' Ink.)

These mornings are cool but not cold enough to drive the fire, and all you need is one of those lamp heaters from Parmelee's. We have the very latest and guarantee everyone, and if not satisfactory money refunded. We are in position to complete with and add on lamps and socket sets. We make special drives to hotels and parties furnishing lodging-houses. Our gas and electric-fixture business is growing far beyond our expectations, which proves that the public knows what it can get in the market for the least money. Come and see our display of cut glass, brie-a-brac, lamps and silverware. Our motto is to let no one undersell us. Z. L. Parmelee Company, 23 and 24 South Spring.

Desmond's display of winter hats, umbrellas, gloves, coats, neckwear, gloves, etc., etc., is a grand parade of cheapness, an aggregation of things which it's losing money not to purchase. Always make opportunities your own without delay. Prerogative is the right of chances. The above does always get left. Waiting can't possibly bring anything better than the bargains in hats and furnishings. Desmond, in the Bryson Block is now offering. Jump in at No. 145 South Spring Street (Desmond's store) where you can get Al soft and stiff hats for $2 and $2.50. Everybody says they're the greatest bargains on earth for the money.

The National Sewing Machine Company in Belvidere, Ill., with a paid-up capital of $1,000,000, and the Los Angeles Sewing Machine Company of this city as their representatives in Southern California, as the local firm sell goods on the no-agent plan. The public can look out for some big bargains in sewing machines.

Their city address is the White Sewing Machine office, 239 South Spring street, where you can find the best machine on earth for $20.

Prices and values should always balance exactly, and they always do. Desmond's establishment is in the Bryson Block. Every article in Desmond's stock of hats and men's furnishings is a full and fair equivalent for the money asked for it. That's why it always pays to go to Desmond's for everything in the line.

The New Home Sewing Machine Company carry machines at all prices and sell on installments of $1 a week. If you want a good machine cheap call and examine their stock, 349 South Spring and 85 East Colorado, Pasadena. The rehearsal for the "Messiah" will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, in Bartlett's Hall. The members of the chorus and orchestra will please take notice. Secretary Treble Clef Club.

$25 cash today may save $100 later. Private party loans on life insurance policies, savings notes, etc., flat loans or on installments. Address E. Box 22, Times Office.

Twenty-five cent turkey dinner at the Ralston this evening. We will open at 4 o'clock in order to accommodate the great crowd. Come 315 and 317 West Third street.

Mr. Samish of San Francisco, well-known china decorator, opened his studio at Meyberg Bros., No. 138 South Spring street. The latest methods taught.

Mme. Gagner, Hotel Ammidon, will organize French classes Wednesday, Nov. 1, 10 a.m. Free lesson and lecture will be given upon her method.

The funeral of L. Richter, who died in this city November 2, will be held at the parlors of Kregel & Bresce, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A complete line of Dr. Delmel's linens, underwear now on sale at Desmond's in the Bryson Block, No. 141 South Spring street.

A sectional map of the five southern counties of California given free with each prepaid yearly subscription to The Daily Times.

Miss S. S. Freeman gives scientific lessons in dress cutting Tuesday and Wednesday evening at the Muskegon Building.

A fine Oxford Bible will be given free with each prepaid yearly mail subscription to The Daily Times.

Ladies, call at Mrs. F. W. Thurston's millinery parlors for fine stylish goods; prices low. 357 South Spring.

Kregel & Bresce were yesterday called to store, and were in charge of the remains of N. B. Butts.

Turkey dinner at the Delaware from 5 to 8 p.m. Chicken dinner from 8 p.m. to 2 p.m. 25 cents.

Hear Evangelist Romig at First Christian Church, corner Hope and Eleventh streets, today.

The musical service at St. Paul's church rendered by Weber's "Jubilee Chorus" at 7:30 o'clock.

Grand bazaar sale of unique kid-fitting corsets at the Unique, commencing tomorrow morning.

Saltibus (Atrixplex Australiensis), new forage plant-seed just arrived at Germinal's seed store.

The Investor, G. A. Robinson, editor, published Thursdays. On sale at newsstands.

St. Angelo Hotel, Grand avenue and Temple streets, tourists, and family house.

La Veta serves regular meals, 25 cents, best in city, No. 411 South Broadway.

St. Angelo, elegant rooms en suite and single, first-class in every respect.

Kregel & Bresce, funeral directors, corner Third and Broadway. Tel. 242.

Turkey, corned, for turkey, at Hotel Broadway tonight, 25 cents.

To save money on millinery go to the Bandbox, 335 South Spring street.

For Eastern and California oysters on shell go to Hollenbeck Cafe.

A box 76, Times Office, wants a good stamp collection for cash.

Feathers cleaned, dyed and curled, 105 Bryson Block.

Gloves, Saturday, tomorrow. Unique, Dr. Reese, 119½ South Spring street.

See Silverwood about underwear.

For work, Fuller's, Pasadena.

Unique kid-fitting corsets.

John Kelly was arrested yesterday by Officer Henderson for stealing some shoes on First street.

J. Morris was brought to the County Jail from Redondo yesterday by City Marshal Banchard. He is charged with grand larceny.

Joseph Card, an old soldier, was found on Los Angeles street by Officer Collins, last night suffering from asthma. He was taken to the police station and booked for medical treatment.

Complaint has been made that parties are driving across the grounds of the Union-avenue Public School and over the new sidewalk on the Burling-ton-avenue side of the grounds, to the great detriment of the property.

A boy named Arthur Hale was arrested by Officer Henderson yesterday on a charge of malicious mischief. He is alleged that on Hallowe'en night he entered some buildings near Union avenue and smeared the places with paint.

Some of the candles placed on graves at the Catholic Cemetery Friday afternoon in commemoration of All Souls' day, burned down, so as to set fire to the grass. A considerable area was burned over, but no great damage was done.

Telegrams for the following persons are at the Western Union telegraph office, in this city: Dr. J. D. Arnold, B. A. Seaborg, R. S. Siebert, B. E. Vey, William Rubrecht, Max Wing, A. G. Beyer, H. A. Mann, W. P. Day, Charles H. Carey.

CONCORDIA BALL.

Delightful Opening of the Club's Social Season.

The rooms of the Concordia Club were ablaze with light and social cheer on the occasion of the club's "opening ball" last evening.

The ample staircase was hung with green foliage; on the landing and at the top were placed palms and tropical plants of various descriptions. In the ballroom exotics and tropical plants hid the orchestra from view, and garlands and festoons of smilax and ivy hung suspended above the heads of the light-footed and merry dancers.

About 9 o'clock the members and guests began to arrive, and cordial greetings were the order until 9:30, when the grand march began. President M. S. Hellman and Mrs. Hellman led the march. Mrs. Hellman was elegantly attired in a gown of yellow brocaded satin, trimmed in pea-green and magenta satin; ornaments diamonds.

Lowinsky's Orchestra furnished excellent music. The dancing continued till 12 o'clock, when the happy party turned down an elegant collation in the dining room. Here the time passed lightly in good and hearty good humor, after which dancing was resumed.

To the strains of music, which seemed to bear one through dreamy vistas and into the very presence of the deity of delight, the dancers wayed in rhythmic harmony till rudely awakened to the fact that it was two hours past midnight. Each left the scene of pleasure with reluctance and voted the "opening ball" of the Concordia Club a gem of management and hospitality.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Hellman, Mr. and Mrs. C. Selligman, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hellman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Haas, Mr. and Mrs. B. Nordinger, Mr. and Mrs. B. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. M. Krasner, Mr. and Mrs. John Katz, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Salkey, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Jacoby, Mr. and Mrs. S. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Max Meyberg, Mr. and Mrs. S. Lazar, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Meyberg, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mooser, Mr. and Mrs. M. Levy, Mr. and Mrs. C. Behrendt, Mr. and Mrs. H. Barnet, Mr. and Mrs. B. Goldschmit, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hirschfeld, Mr. and Mrs. L. Goldwater; Misses Frida Hellman, Leah Hellman, Fleishman, Klein, Meyer, R. Meyer, Mooser, Lanneberg, Levy, Lazar, R. Kremer, Goldwater; Messrs. J. Storner, W. S. Woolner, R. Altschul, Hass, A. M. Edelman, W. Topitz, M. Lessner, S. Newbauer, L. Goldwater, A. Jacoby, R. A. Levy, S. Polaski, J. Sunderland, I. Fleishman, I. G. Fleishman, Adolf Fleishman, I. Klingenstein.

HERE TO STAY.

The Standard Oil Company Has not Left Los Angeles.

A rumor that the Standard Oil Company had withdrawn from the Los Angeles oil fields as competition buyers of the output ruined circulation yesterday. J. C. Howell, local agent of the Standard, when interviewed, had this to say concerning the rumor:

"There is really no competition here for oil. We bought 2500 barrels last week, 1000 from the Oil Exchange, 1000 from the Consolidated Oil Company and 500 from individual well-owners, and paid 50 cents for every barrel. That is the price we believe the oil is worth and we are willing to pay so much and no more for it. We have just completed arrangements to fill a 2500-barrel iron tank we formerly used for illuminating oil, with the oil we have contracted for. We have also had 1200 feet of pipe put in place to load cars on the Southern Pacific track from our tank.

"At present there is no market for the Los Angeles oil, but we hope to be able soon to convince manufacturers that they really must have the oil. W. S. Miller, our Pacific Coast manager, left here Thursday last for San Francisco and we completed arrangements during his stay here for handling the oil. It is our intention to start in a small way and then branch out as our orders warrants it.

"J. H. Morris, the Standard's expert from Oil City, was here until three weeks ago and thoroughly tested the oil, with a view to ascertaining its heat units. He then went to San Francisco and completed a test of which and then ordered the best steam coal for its price. Mr. Jeffers will now devote himself to reasoning with the manufacturers of San Francisco and will try to convince them that there is plenty of money to be made by using the Los Angeles oil, instead of the best coal they can buy.

"The price is so low in San Francisco that we can barely afford to handle it. The present problem for the oil man is to get rid of his surplus, so that he can go on pumping his old well and open a new well. The possibilities of the Los Angeles oil will never be known until this is done."

Season of '93 and '94.

Mr. Frank Neuhauer wishes to announce to the ladies that he has received an exceptionally fine line of genuine tortoise-shell hair ornaments, unequalled in richness of color and workmanship. Call and inspect them. You are cordially invited to call and inspect them.

Grand bazaar sale of unique kid-fitting corsets at the Unique, commencing tomorrow morning.

Saltibus (Atrixplex Australiensis), new forage plant-seed just arrived at Germinal's seed store.

The Investor, G. A. Robinson, editor, published Thursdays. On sale at newsstands.

St. Angelo Hotel, Grand avenue and Temple streets, tourists, and family house.

La Veta serves regular meals, 25 cents, best in city, No. 411 South Broadway.

St. Angelo, elegant rooms en suite and single, first-class in every respect.

Kregel & Bresce, funeral directors, corner Third and Broadway. Tel. 242.

Turkey, corned, for turkey, at Hotel Broadway tonight, 25 cents.

To save money on millinery go to the Bandbox, 335 South Spring street.

For Eastern and California oysters on shell go to Hollenbeck Cafe.

A box 76, Times Office, wants a good stamp collection for cash.

Feathers cleaned, dyed and curled, 105 Bryson Block.

Gloves, Saturday, tomorrow. Unique, Dr. Reese, 119½ South Spring street.

See Silverwood about underwear.

For work, Fuller's, Pasadena.

Unique kid-fitting corsets.

John Kelly was arrested yesterday by Officer Henderson for stealing some shoes on First street.

J. Morris was brought to the County Jail from Redondo yesterday by City Marshal Banchard. He is charged with grand larceny.

Joseph Card, an old soldier, was found on Los Angeles street by Officer Collins, last night suffering from asthma. He was taken to the police station and booked for medical treatment.

Complaint has been made that parties are driving across the grounds of the Union-avenue Public School and over the new sidewalk on the Burling-ton-avenue side of the grounds, to the great detriment of the property.

A boy named Arthur Hale was arrested by Officer Henderson yesterday on a charge of malicious mischief. He is alleged that on Hallowe'en night he entered some buildings near Union avenue and smeared the places with paint.

Some of the candles placed on graves at the Catholic Cemetery Friday afternoon in commemoration of All Souls'

Take a Whack AT THE CRACKER JACK, THE NEW 5 CENT CIGAR.

Forward!

No business stands still; it moves forward or backward. This is a forward moving store. For example, look at our delivery service. Your hat sent home in a way you're not ashamed to have the neighbors see. The style of our delivery service is only part of the business harmony, but you may judge the whole store by it. And of all the system here, makes the price littleness what it is.

Lud Zobel,
Milliner of Style,
219 S. Spring st.

It Stands Without a Peer.

The like of which was never beheld in any other store. The world's record broken in the history of a sale of POCKETBOOKS. We bought for spot cash, and at our own price, the entire sample line of

Pocketbooks

From the Garden City Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Over 3000, and nearly 1000 styles to select from. To make them sell quick we have divided them into 3 lots.

Lot 1

Containing about 1000 fine leather Combination Pocketbooks. German leather; none worth less than 50c and some worth up to 75c; choice in this lot.

At 25c

Lot 2

Contains 1200 Seal, Goat, Morocco, Alligator, Reindeer and Embossed Calf, etc. elegant mountings; worth up to $1.50; choice in this lot.

At 50c

Lot 3

Contains all the choice and most elegant selections ever offered in this city at the price; up-to-date novelties; all the latest and most elegant silver corners, any style you want and worth up to $1.50; choice in this lot.

At $1.00

Burger's,

213 S. Spring st.

Hollenbeck Hotel Block.

Manufacturing Jeweler and Silversmith. Mail orders promptly filled.

 WE ARE OPEN ***

Made to Order from $20

Made to Order from $5

FINE TAILORING AT MODERATE PRICES

Rules for self-measurement and samples of cloth sent free for all orders.

NO. 143 S. SPRING STREET

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

J. F. HENDERSON, Manager.

Half Price

It will set the Women Wild

This picture is drawn from a photograph taken from life of a well-known actress who wears THE UNIQUE KID-FITTING CORSETS. Graceful, isn't it?

Tomorrow begins a corset movement that will overtop any merchandising ever attempted on this Coast. The maker of the finest line of corsets in the world has said to us: "If you will introduce these goods to the Los Angeles women we will make the prices so that the corset you sell for a dollar will be better than the best $1.50 corset now on sale in your city and so on all through the line." The Unique Kid-Fitting Corset is the apex, the very climax of correct corset-making. It is graceful. It is easy. It conforms to the form. It comes in every different length of waist and shape. It fits. It is all fit and wear. It is a corset for graceful women. It is a corset for every woman because it will make every woman graceful. Just see the corset you can buy here for a dollar and for two dollars and three dollars.

These Souvenirs Given Away.

The maker of the Unique Kid-Fitting Corset has gone a step further and imported from Germany 1000 beautifully decorated After-Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers. As an example of the china decorators' art they are not to be surpassed. One of these will go to every purchaser of a Unique Kid-Fitting Corset as long as they last—but there's only a thousand; they are worth coming quick for. One of these dainty dishes is actually really worth more than some kinds of dollar corsets. See the great double window display of corsets and souvenirs.

Extra saleswomen have been engaged—Expert corset-fitters in charge—Finest private corset-fitting rooms west of Denver—A corset machine, the only one in the city, by which a corset can be made to fit ANY form. The Unique Kid-Fitting Corset—that's it!

THE UNIQUE SOLE AGENTS ON THIS COAST
FOR UNIQUE KID
FITTING CORSETS 247 S. SPRING STREET.

HE DID NOT KNOW.

GARFIELD'S NOMINATION WAS A SURPRISE TO HIM.

Gov. Lionel A. Sheldon, Who Helped to Engineer the Job, Denies that Garfield Betrayed Sherman, Sheldon's Part in the Matter.

On page 27 of today's Times is an article headed, "Did Garfield Know?" in which it is stated on the authority of ex-Gov. Kellogg of Louisiana, that the nomination of Garfield for the Presidency in 1880, was not altogether a surprise, but had been planned by his friends beforehand. Among the leaders in the movement to throw the nomination to Garfield, is mentioned, ex-Gov. Lionel A. Sheldon of New Mexico, now a resident of Los Angeles county. In order to get Gov. Sheldon's statement regarding the matter, a Times reporter yesterday interviewed him.

The Governor, though somewhat guarded in his statements, was emphatic in his assertions that Garfield did not strive to get the nomination for himself while ostensibly leading the Sherman forces.

Individually Gov. Sheldon explained how Senator Sherman came to oppose his appointment as Governor of New Mexico, and how he (Sheldon) squared matters with Sherman, and induced him to cease active opposition to his nomination.

"What, according to your personal recollection, were the precise circumstances under which Gen. Garfield was nominated for the Presidency?" asked the reporter.

"I was a delegate from the Fourteenth Congressional District in the State of Ohio to the National Republican Convention of 1880, held at Chicago. I was elected to support Blaine. The convention which chose me interrogated me as to my preference. My answer was, 'I agree with the present arrangement, and I have its official endorsement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

"The movement to nominate Garfield so far as I am aware, began with delegates in the convention, there being friends of the movement in that

"I did not encourage it or protest against it to his own particular friends, privately or otherwise."

"Garfield did protest against it to me. That is to say, I had a conversation with him about the favor that was manifested for him, and I have been told, he said to him, 'I am not for you, but I am for Mr. Blaine, and I am for him first and continuously, so long as he has a reasonable prospect of success. Then I am for an able, strong, and popular man whom we can elect. On that subject, we were in agreement.'

A Constant Study of the People's Wants.

A Keen Perception of Their Expectations.

And a Liberal Use of Skill and Judgment

Black Dress Goods.

20 pieces Black French Surah Serge, 50¢ all wool and 46 inches wide; our 75¢ 50¢ quality; reduced this week to.....
5 pieces fancy Black Boucle Cloth, 50 inches wide, nubby rough effects in pure mohair, these are equal to any $1.50 in..... we offer; this week's price is.....
6 pieces left of those 46-inch Black Brocade Mohair, which were marked down from 75¢ to 50¢; last week's selling price got rid of 5 pieces; this price holds good this week.....
Almost giving away 38-inch Black Brocade Mohair, a nice variety of figures, this is a hummer and you want one of them and should come early in the week;
reduced from 50¢ to.....
35¢

SILKS.

Black and Colored.

We have almost 80 pieces of Black Brocade Silks, all new styles and an endless assortment of designs, all silk and 21 to 24 inches wide; all $1 goods reduced to.....
75¢
100 pieces Colored Tafta Silks in stripes and figures, very pretty patterns and latest colors, the kind of silk you have been paying 85¢ and $1.00 for; selling now.....
75¢
20 pieces Black Brocade Satin, 22 to 24 inches wide, all pure silk in handsome figures, large and small patterns, a beauty for the price named now; $1.25
$2.00 quality now.....
18 pieces Black Surah Silk, 20 inches wide, pure silk, nice heavy quality, bought to sell at 75¢; to make things lively in this department we will sell this line at.....
50¢
Do you contemplate buying a Black Cape this fall, we have a very nice black 32-inch cape, velvet, fine close quality, cuts a cape without a seam; reduced from $5.00 to.....
$3.00

In the selection and buying of our immense stocks has enabled us to place before the intelligent and scrutinizing purchasers of Dry Goods such extraordinary values as have been seen during the past three weeks at our stores.

NEVER BEFORE have such values in DRY GOODS been thrown on our counters, possibly NEVER AGAIN will you see as GOOD goods for as LITTLE money as you will witness during the present week, for we Propose to do Big Things on a Small Margin of Profit,

And it will be money in your pockets if you will investigate some of these items and call this week at

J. M. Hale Company,

107-109 N. SPRING ST.

COLORED DRESS GOODS.

50 pieces French Serge, 42 inches wide, in all colors, every threerd wool and exceptional value; reduced from 50¢ to..... 35¢

100 pieces 46-inch Striped Niggerhead, in new Boucle effects, exposing newness in color effects, as well as designs and weaves, bought to sell at $1.25; $1.00
reduced to.....

To be "strictly in it" you must have one of those large Scotch Plaid Waists, silk and wool;
we have a very fine line selling at $4.25 for a Waist Pattern; re- $5.00
duced from.....

10 pieces Amazon Cloth, Broadcloth finish, 52 inches wide, all colors, good value at $1.25; selling at..... 75¢

25 pieces Jacquard Novelty Suiting, plain colors with a water silk effect, all wool and 40 inches wide, has been selling at 50¢; price now is.....

10 pieces 52-inch wide Zibeline Cloth, something new and pretty, a Broadcloth with long shaggy Mohair effect, in large squares, very stylish; selling at..... $1.50

HOSIERY.

120 dozen Ladies' fast black plain cotton Hose, full fashioned and finished, with ribbed top and regular length; 15c selling this week at, per pair.....

Ladies' black Cashmere Hose, plain, full shaped, with double sole and high spiced heels, a very superior quality 50c for 65c a pair; we are selling them at.....

Infant's Australian Cashmere Hose, with silk heels and toes; seamless, elastic and durable, warranted fast colors; 25c selling at, per pair.....

15 dozen of Children's Oxford ribbed gray wool Hose, sizes from 6 to 8½, a line we wish to close out; this week we have marked them down from 25c to,
per pair..... 15c

LADIES' FURNISHINGS.

It pays to buy the best; have just received another of those ladies' fine, all-wool
One-piece Combination Suits, which we are selling at, per suit..... $2.75

50 doz. Ladies' Sanitary Wool Underwear, beautiful finish, wear well and give more satisfaction than any garment we have yet offered at the $1.00 price; selling at.....

10 doz. to close out, Dr. Warner's fine, all-wool Underwear, in black, sizes 28 to 40, original price $2;
to close..... $1.50

5 doz. Ladies' black and white, striped and checkered Satine Skirts, with border; reduced from 75c to 40c also a line of plain black satine for.....

We have a nice line of Infant's Short Cloaks, made of elder-wool flannel with Angora trimmed collar, good value; $1.00 size, 40c will buy them.

10 doz. ladies' fast black Sateen Corsets, trimmed with nice quality silk stitching, odd sizes, formerly sold at 75c pair; if you can find your size, 40c will buy them.

SOCIETY

Society has been quietly enjoying itself this last week, and while many of the affairs have been small, they have been very delightful. The largest and one of the swellest functions of the week was the Concordia Club's opening ball last evening, a detailed account of which will be found in another column. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Caswell were given a surprise in honor of their wooden wedding, that proved the jolliest sort of a celebration. The Misses Houghton entertained informally, though pleasantly, on Tuesday afternoon, and Miss Layton gave a pretty luncheon on Thursday. The Foster-Hammond wedding was one of the most charming, though quiet, affairs of the season. Halloween was celebrated in a right hearty way, with all the old-fashioned games and fun. Among those who participated that evening were the Misses Walton and Farnsworth, Miss Florence Silent, Miss Mullen and Miss Lyon.

One of the pleasantest affairs was the luncheon given by Mrs. Howard M. Sals on Friday. The covers for fifteen. The table was effectively decorated with yellow chrysanthemums arranged in a graceful jar, in the center, and at each cover was laid a crimson dahlia and a spray of smilax. The buffet and the room-trail of the smilax were prettily arranged. The guests were: Mmes. J. W. A. Orr, E. P. Johnson, Jr., Walter Cosby, A. H. Busch, the Misses Newton and Alice Strong, May Newton, Sanborn, Sadie Strong, Mrs. Johnson, Edith Wolfkill, Hattie Chapman, Sarah Innes and Maude Newell.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mrs. W. S. Bartlett gave a delightful children's party Friday afternoon at her home on West Twenty-eighth street in honor of her daughter, Mathilde's ninth birthday, the guests being the little classmates at the Girl's Collegiate School. Her birthday flower, the yellow chrysanthemum, was used prettily in the decorations and combined with smilax and yellow roses, made the table very attractive. The birthday cake was lighted with nine candles, surrounding a tall one in the center, to "grow on." The guests were: The Misses Edith Herron, Norma Salkay, Marion Bishop, Bessie Beatty, Sallie Utley, Elizabeth Andrew, Ruth Denham, Lucile Johnson, Carrie Jones, Gertrude King, Elsie Lewis, Marjory Adair and Master Wintrop Fish. Among the other guests present were Mrs. C. W. Fish, Misses Adair, Carrie and Jennie Denham and Ada Galloway.

DINNER.

Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Dinnick gave a delightful dinner at their home in Rosedale, Friday. Covers were laid for twelve and the dining-room was artificially decorated with chrysanthemums.
Those present were Dr. and Mrs. Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brummer, Mr.
and Mrs. MacLean, Mr. and Mrs. Coverley, Mr. and Mrs. G. Murray, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Dinnick.

FAREWELL DINNER.

An elaborate farewell dinner was given on Tuesday by Mrs. Rendall of Alvarado and Ninth streets, for her guests, the Misses Miller of Seattle, who are on the way to San Francisco. Covers were laid for twelve. The dining-room was lovely with a wealth of yellow and white chrysanthemums and delicate trails of smilax. Mrs. Rendall wore a rich black satin gown with jet; Miss Miller wore a gown of delicate Nile-green chiffon over green silk; Miss Olive Miller, a yellow swiss and Miss May McLellan, a yellow satin gown vellied with black lace; Miss May Chandler wore white mohair; Miss May Miller, a red and white satin with a garniture of pearls. The other guests were: Messrs. I. Rendall, D. W. Kirkland, Jefferson Chandler, Jr., Fred A. Clegg, S. J. Ballard and William H. Wilcox.

CASA DE ROSAS.

Hallowe'en was celebrated Friday evening by the young ladies of the Casa de Rosas, with dancing and games. The guests were received by Mrs. F. M. Farnsworth, Mrs. Watkins and Mosgrove. The ballroom and reception rooms were prettily decorated with chrysanthemums, vines and potted plants. Among those present were Mrs. Metcalf, the Misses Gifford and Daisy, Misses Miller, the Misses Gibbons, Mrs. Spier, Bingham, Fredendall, Gardner, Chipman, Longstreet, Kenech, Fibert, Ross, Chappeller, Wate, Ackerman, Wyman, McKenzie, Harrison, Ladd, Doran, Mrs. Mackey, Mr. and Mrs. Poindexter, Mr. and Mrs. Mosgrove, Misses Taylor, Lewis, Buffington, Mosgrove, McCutcheon, Cockins, Bob and Webb, Brain, Kitts, Haecker, Farrell, Mitchell, Bishop, Morgan, Dr. Bishop and others.

A FAREWELL.

A delightful Hallowe'en party was given Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Mae Campbell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lebus on South Olive street, where a number of Miss Campbell's friends gathered to say farewell to her before she leaves for her future home in New York city.

The colored girls who were present and added a great deal to the pleasure of the evening by their comic selections. Among those present were: Misses Mae Poindexter, Mr. and Mrs. Mosgrove, Misses Taylor, Lewis, Buffington, Mosgrove, McCutcheon, Cockins, Bob and Webb, Brain, Kitts, Haecker, Farrell, Mitchell, Bishop, Morgan, Dr. Bishop and others.

SURPRISE PARTY.

A pleasant surprise was given Master Evan J. Baldwin Friday evening at his home, on Crocker street. Singing, dancing, recitations and games were enjoyed. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Burnes, Miss Gonzales, Mrs. R. W. Boyd, William Apple, Misses Kinglsey, Fairbanks, Davis, Gonzales, McPherson, Caldwell, Titia, George Brown, Dennis Davis, Ethel Hazel, Thelma and Eva Baldwin.

A HAY RIDE.

A jolly party of Occidental College people drove to Glendale Friday evening at his home on West Twenty-fourth street in honor of his seventeenth birthday. Many handsome presents were received. Among those present were Misses Shafer, Creasinger, Hamlin, Montague, Dering, Leake, Frazee, Langford, Dennis, Nern, Reynolds and Baringer; Messrs. Tucker, Barber, Thompson, Kimball, French, Gough, Hutchinson, Helen, French, Byram, Ruth Byram, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. French, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Byram, Messrs. Miller, Day, Dillingham, Recio, Gifford, Thompson, Kellogg, Place, Giffen, W. Ramsay, L. Ramsay, Dilworth, Byram and R. Byram.

P.E.O.

Hallowe'en was observed by Chapter P.E.O., who entertained their friends at Los Arcos, the new home of the Misses Casement, on Thirty-seventh street. The room was decorated with chrysanthemums, smilax and ivy. Each room contained some token of the talisman of one or the other of the sisters. Miss Grace is an enthusiastic wood-carver; Miss Anna paints charmingly.

Recitations added to the enjoyment of the evening.

FRIDAY MORNING CLUB.

The meeting of the Friday Morning Club last week was very interesting and brought a large number of the members out. Miss Anna H. Hopper of Redondo read an instructive paper on "Woman's Work" Among the Mission Indians," which was followed by a discussion of the subject, opened by H. N. Rust of Pasadena, who was formerly an Indian agent. Mr. Rust was decidedly in favor of the Indians' right to be self-supporting, before giving them higher education, and he thought the greatest care should be taken in selecting Indian agents and teachers. A lively discussion ensued for and against the education of the Indians.

Miss Anna H. Hopper, a member of the San Francisco Century Club, and who has recently returned from a fourteen months' visit in Europe, spoke of the great privileges the American women enjoy over those of Europe.

Choice position secured.

We have secured several for different people and have been offered a position which requires a few hundred dollars' investment that will be safely secured in a profitable business that will bear close investigation. Call on me Monday or Wednesday afternoon. Langworthy Co., lawyers, No. 226 South Spring street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Dinnick gave a delightful dinner at their home in Rosedale, Friday. Covers were laid for twelve and the dining-room was artificially decorated with chrysanthemums.
Those present were Dr. and Mrs. Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brummer, Mr.
and Mrs. MacLean, Mr. and Mrs. Coverley, Mr. and Mrs. G. Murray, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Dinnick.

FAREWELL DINNER.

An elaborate farewell dinner was given on Tuesday by Mrs. Rendall of Alvarado and Ninth streets, for her guests, the Misses Miller of Seattle, who are on the way to San Francisco. Covers were laid for twelve. The dining-room was lovely with a wealth of yellow and white chrysanthemums and delicate trails of smilax. Mrs. Rendall wore a rich black satin gown with jet; Miss Miller wore a gown of delicate Nile-green chiffon over green silk; Miss Olive Miller, a yellow

HALLOWEEN AT PLEASANTVIEW.

Hallowe'en was pleasantly celebrated Thursday evening at the home of Miss Wolfe in Pleasant View. Games and music were enjoyed. Fred Peachy gave banjo solos, accompanied by Miss Williams. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bidison, the Misses Todd, Mrs. Stapp, Mrs. B. C. Benedict, Keith, Lang, Watson, Ruthart, Taylor, Suman; Messrs. Blunt, Adams, Taylor, Roberts, Cowles, Gunther, Wolfe, Green, Peachy, Maginnis and Carruthers.

SURPRISE PARTY.

A pleasant surprise was given Master Evan J. Baldwin Friday evening at his home, on Crocker street. Singing, dancing, recitations and games were enjoyed. Those present were: Mr. and Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair, Gold Medal, Midwinter Fair.

DR.

PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
Most Perfect Made.
40 Years the Standard.

WE COURT CRITICISM

And comparison of assortments, qualities and prices.
Selling shoes at wholesale, we are thus enabled to buy in larger quantities and thereby secure discounts that let us make prices far below those offered by any house in the city.

Hanan & Sons' Scotch edge winter tan Shoes, like $5.00
cut, only....

Our line of Men's Thick Cork Sole Shoes is the largest shown in Los Angeles. Prices from $5.00 to $8.00.

W. E. CUMMINGS
110 SOUTH SPRING ST.

Domestics and House Furnishings.

Silks.

Black and Colored.

Colored Dress Goods.

ONE FOR LOS ANGELES.

The Local Baseball Players Defeat Oakland.

The Los Angeles Colts braced up yesterday and played a good game of ball, full of ringers, both in the field and at the bat. Both teams played good ball for that matter, but Los Angeles won by the score of 10 to 7.

In the first inning McQuaid started the ball rolling with a nice three-base and scored on Mertes's sacrifice hit. Decker reached first on an error and scored on McHale's two-base hit. McHale was put out at the plate on a throw from Picket. Cantillion reached first on an error and Lohman's hit scored him. In Oakland's half of the first inning, Van Haltren made a nice three-base hit, but was left on base.

The locals failed to score in the second. The visitors scored one run on a single by Treadway and Mullaney's double.

In the third, "Ireland's Native Sons," as the Los Angeles team has been dubbed by the cranks, scored two more runs on hits by Mertes, Decker and Cantillion. The Oaklands scored one run on Irwin's sacrifice and safe hits by Van Haltren and Picket.

Both teams played good ball for that matter, but Los Angeles won by the score of 10 to 7.

In the fifth the Colts had a plenty with Van Haltren, Lohman started off with a three-base hit, and Picket and McKibben each got a double, followed by Mauck's single, and McQuaid's double presented the home team with three more runs. The Oaklands scored two on errors.

The locals failed to score again until the ninth, when Cantillion singled, went to third on Lohman's hit, and scored on McKibben's long hit to right.

The Oaklands scored two runs in the sixth on O'Rourke's single, Van Haltren's sacrifice hit, and Irwin's.

It looked a little bad in the ninth.

Burns started off with a neat single,

but a pretty double play by McKibben and Decker gave Los Angeles the game.

OFFICIAL SCORE.

	AB	R	BH	PO	A	E
McQuaid, l.f.	5	1	2	2	1	0
Mertes, c.f.	5	1	1	4	1	0
Decker, l.b.	4	2	2	7	0	1
Cantillion, 2 b.	5	2	2	6	2	1
Irwin, s.s.	5	1	2	3	2	0
McKibben, r.f.	5	1	2	4	0	1
Mauck, p.	4	1	1	0	0	0
	42	10	17	27	11	3
Oakland.	AM	R	BH	PO	A	E
O'Rourke, 3b...	5	1	2	0	2	1
Irwin, s.s.	5	1	0	3	2	1
Van Haltren, p.	5	2	3	0	2	1
Burns, l.f.	5	0	1	2	3	0
Picket, 2b...	4	2	2	3	1	0
Treadway, l.f.	4	1	3	2	0	1
Mullaney, 1b...	4	1	3	9	0	1
Wilson, c.	5	0	1	4	0	1
Jones, c.f.	4	0	1	2	0	1
	42	7	15	27	12	3
SCORE BY INNINGS.
Los Angeles...3 0 2 1 3 0 0 1 10
Oakland...0 0 1 1 2 2 0 0 7

Los Angeles...3 0 2 1 3 0 0 1 10

Oakland...0 0 1 1 2 2 0 0 7

and even things up today. Following is the batting order.

Los Angeles—McQuaid, left field;

Mertes, center field; Decker, first base;

Cantillion, third base; Irwin, second base;

Spears, catcher; Hickey, shortstop;

McKibben, right field; Knell, pitcher;

Van Haltren, relief pitcher; Burns, left field;

Burns, right field; Picket, second base;

Treadway, center field; Mullaney, first base; Wilson, catcher; Jones, pitcher.

The first game will be called at 1:45 o'clock and the second immediately after.

The grandstand will be free and reserved seats for ladies and their escorts.

THE POLICE COURT.

Former Ehrhardt Held to Answer.

Other Offenders Sentenced.

M. F. Ehrhardt, who forged the name of J. A. Bullard to two checks on the Los Angeles National Bank, was before Police Judge Morrison for preliminary examination yesterday. He presented a sorry appearance, which was probably largely due to the fact that he had made a bungling attempt to commit suicide the night before. He had tied a belt about his throat and got into position to strangle himself, which he would probably have done in the course of a half hour or so, had it not been that he was discovered by the jailer.

The police held him for trial on the story of his misdeeds was related.

He was held on two charges of forgery, one charge for each of the two checks he forged. It was ordered that he be held to answer before the Superior Court, under $3000 bonds.

Frank Channing was before Justice Owen in an oil change of smoking opium in a resort in Chinatown on July 1. He was fined $20 or twenty days.

F. Armstrong, who battered a Chinaman a few days ago, was fined $5.

Frank Workman, charged with matriculation fees on account of committing certain depredations, including the cutting of a screen door, was fined $50 or fifty days.

Andrew Stephens, who battered a woman on Alameda street and then beat Deputy Constable Mugnemi, who had arrested him, after which he escaped and who was afterward arrested

Thirty Feet Away.

Francisco Quijado, the Indian accused of assaulting a comrade with a knife, was discharged yesterday upon motion of the District Attorney, as it was discovered that he was thirty feet away from his victim when the deadly assault was made, and also that he was almost too drunk to stand.

WHEN ordering Cocoa or Chocolates, be sure and ask for Huyle's. Purity and flavor unexcelled.

Teeth Extracted

POSITIVELY AND ABSOLUTELY

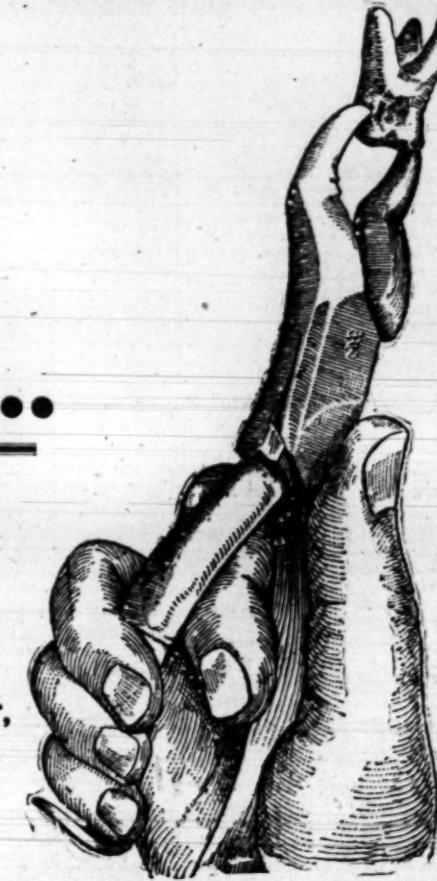

WITHOUT PAIN...

NOTHING INHALED--NO GAS--NO ETHER-- NO CHLOROFORM.

and above all, no Cocaine used, which is dangerous. From one to a full set of teeth extracted at one sitting without a particle of pain, danger, or bad effects, making the task one of pleasure rather than one of dread.

YOU DO NOT HAVE TO "TAKE SOMETHING AND RUN THE RISK."

THE ONLY SAFE METHOD FOR ELDERLY PERSONS IN DELICATE HEALTH.

YOU MAY NOT BELIEVE that we are daily extracting teeth without hurting our patients, unless you have had work done by us. This, too, may seem just as absurd, viz., that it is a common occurrence for us to extract from ten to thirty teeth at one sitting, and the patient get up from the chair without having felt the slightest pain. Many dentists have reached the height of their ambition if the patient, in having a few teeth extracted, admits that it hurts "only a little."

The above statements are facts, whether believed by you or not. We will be only too glad to have you call at our office and be convinced, or to give you city references of scores of people who have had the number of teeth mentioned extracted, who are only too willing to vouch for our statement. Some dentists claim to accomplish the same results by the use of chemicals or of gases, which all know are more or less dangerous, while the Schiffman Method is harmless, to people of delicate health, to those with heart trouble, or to little children. If you do not believe this, try other dentists and then us, or vice versa, and arguing with you will be needless. We have something superior to any other method yet discovered. If you are skeptical come and be satisfied, and your friends will not be long in learning of it, for people are rapidly finding that there is little use in suffering from dental operations.

ONLY 50 CENTS A TOOTH.

We have decided to do all extracting (Painless) at 50 cents a tooth, and the first one free of charge where several are extracted. We do this to demonstrate that we can do as we claim. Our extracting room has been especially fitted up and equipped for this painless work and enables us to see and wait on hundreds of patients a day, at a moment's notice, and no waiting.

READ WHAT A FEW SAY ABOUT OUR METHOD:

Hon. W. W. Braden, ex-State Auditor of Minnesota, now living in Los Angeles, says:	Dr. Schiffman extracted five teeth and filled four teeth for me, besides doing some other dental work, by his new method, without a particle of pain.	me by his new method easier than any tooth I ever had pulled, and I take great pleasure in recommending him to all my friends.	out pain. I may also add that his prices are very reasonable.	Dr. Schiffman took out a root from my lower jaw that was broken off and left by another dentist. The tooth was ulcerating, and I was in danger of having lock-jaw.	and vitalized air, and they are not to be COMPARED. J. W. PATILLO, Office 118 South Broadway.
I cheerfully recommend Dr. Schiffman's method for the PAINLESS extraction of teeth. I KNOW HOW IT IS MYSELF. W. W. BRADEN.	CLARA HECKMAN, Arusa, Cal.	MRS. M. BRIGHTCLIFFE, Verndale.	MRS. J. S. PHILLIPS, 278 N. Sichel st., East Los Angeles.	F. C. HALDEMAN, Foreman Bixby-Howard & Co., Howard Summit, Cal.	Dr. Schiffman's method for the painless extraction of teeth is certainly the most wonderful achievement in modern dentistry. Recently I was compelled to avail myself of the new process, with delightful results.
I came forty miles and had two teeth extracted WITHOUT PAIN.	MRS. E. J. ERWIN.	Dr. Schiffman extracted three roots by his new method for me, and I never felt a particle of pain.	LUCY MUELLER, 519 East First street.	MRS. HENRY ROWAN, South Los Angeles.	MRS. T. E. ROWAN, 508 South Main St.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11, 1895.	Dr. Schiffman extracted WITHOUT PAIN two old teeth which have pained me for weeks. JAMES MORRIS.	Dr. Schiffman extracted two badly decayed and ulcerated teeth for me, without a particle of pain.	MISS MARY LEHMAN, 711 Elmore avenue.	I had three ulcerated roots that were broken off and left by another dentist. Dr. Schiffman took out all three WITHOUT A PARTICLE OF PAIN and even without my knowing anything about it.	I had a badly ulcerated wisdom tooth extracted, without hurting, by Dr. Schiffman. B. F. DAY, Southern Cal. Music Co.
Dr. Schiffman extracted some teeth for me, also did some filling and other work without causing me any inconvenience.	MRS. W. H. FILLMORE, 148 N. Sichel street, L. A.	Dr. Schiffman extracted a tooth for

The following are only a few of the many who, within the past few weeks have had teeth extracted without pain by the Schiffman Method.

Mrs. C. J. McCallum, 635 Crocker st. Miss Devan, 233 W. First st. Len Shepardson, 449 S. Hoyt st. F. H. G. Jones, University, Cal. Mrs. J. W. Halsey, Needles, Cal. Willie Flint, University, Cal. Adolph Flint, University, Cal. W. F. Rossen, Redondo Beach. Mrs. T. Ziegler, 1212 Downey ave. Mrs. Dr. J. C. Lindsey, 1117 W. 10th. Mrs. J. W. Swinson, 12 Olivia st. J. L. Watson, Pico Heights. Elsie B. Randall, 704½ Upper Main. W. S. Sanders, Glendale, Cal. Mrs. Mamie Kelly, South Pasadena. Mildred E. Glass, 2407 S. Grand ave. J. W. Patillo, 3441 Delmonte st. M. J. Taylor, 444 Anderson st. William Fenninger, Compton. H. T. Newell, Landis Park. Jacob Fethers, 2536 E. 10th st. Jim Damm station, B. Boyle Heights. Mary W. Brown, Santa Ana. Mrs. D. McIntyre, 966 Adobe st. Mrs. A. A. Wolf, Tropicana, Cal. James Morris, 156 S. 17th st. Mrs. C. Forrester, 419 Savoy st. Emma Watkins, Florence, Cal. Mrs. G. Sparkes, 402 W. 21st st. Allen Barnett, Whittier, Cal. Grace A. Brigham, 130 S. Daly st. J. Johnson, 749 Elmore ave.	C. W. Wise, 411 E. 21st st. C. W. Johnson, 143 N. Los Angeles street. Mrs. W. Cassidy, 221 Hemblock st. A. S. Hancom, 224 E. Seventh st. Mrs. G. Sanders, S. Los Angeles. W. J. Murgard, 2227 Bonita st. Mrs. Caffey, 146 Waters st. Fred Pence, Pasadena. T. W. Gresham, Times office. Lillie Haussinger, 233 E. 30th st. H. J. Doolittle, 238 S. 22d st. Mrs. Shearer, Burbank. Harvey A. Neble, Santa Ana. Mrs. B. Burgess, 2838 Kelley st., (2 teeth). Frank Harlan, 615 S. Olive, (2 teeth). Mrs. I. W. Hall, 527 N. Fair Oaks, Pasadena. M. Procter, Santa Monica, (5 teeth). William Boyd, Anaheim, (26 teeth). C. Auginsol, 413 Temple st. Mrs. W. A. Hildreth, 1820 Pennsylvania ave. E. M. Shipman, 218 W. 17th st. H. Eberhart, 626 Stephenson ave. Mrs. R. K. Holmes, 432 W. 7th st., (2 teeth). Mrs. A. K. Prather, 530 Alpine st. Mrs. F. A. Smith, 1555 W. First st.	William O. Mathewson, Monrovia. L. A. Snyder, 408 Griffin ave., (2 teeth). Mark Greenbaum, 132 N. Main st., (2 teeth). Harold Tevis, 341 Metcalfe st. Eunice B. Lewis, 812 Pearl st. Mrs. M. Smith, 836 Central ave., (3 teeth). Mrs. J. A. Smith, 836 Central ave., (7 teeth). A. Kowalewsky, Lamanda Park, (3 teeth). Lizzie Hedding, Los Angeles, (1 tooth). Leda Brandon, Los Angeles, (2 teeth). Willard Brandon, Los Angeles, (3 teeth). Frank Bau, 407 Eastlake ave., (1 tooth). Mrs. Pearl Brough, Acton, Cal., (27 teeth). Mrs. J. Whissen, cor. Florida and Moore st. John E. Wright, Newhall, Cal. Elmer Ellidge, 511 Prospect place. Mrs. Minnie Loomis, 308 S. Griffin ave. Mrs. Mattie Johnson, 952 Aliso st., (8 teeth). A. Bert Bynon, Compton. George L. Berg, S.P.R.R.	Mrs. H. W. Dodson, 1328 Prospect st., (4 teeth). Ida McClure, Vernon. Edward Vasser, Florence. Nellie Stonehouse, Pasadena, (4 teeth). Fred Conroy, Hotel Westminster. Emma Anderson, 214 Anderson st., (2 teeth). Mrs. T. Haskell, 534 Wall st. Ed Jeannou, Bakersfield, (2 teeth). F. E. Thompson, with Jacoby Bros., (2 teeth). Fannie F. McKeon, Banning, Cal., (1 tooth). S. E. Hatfield, South Pasadena, (1 tooth). William Wagele, 466 Fourth st., San Diego, (1 tooth). N. L. Morrow, San Bernardino, (1 tooth). Mrs. L. A. Cowan, 1282 Santee st. John H. Arnold, National Home, Santa Monica, (3 teeth). William D. Dyer, Artesia, Cal. George Thomas, Tropicana, Cal. Mrs. D. J. Reinhart, Pomona, Cal. (13 teeth). T. Nicklander, Long Beach. Mrs. L. F. Reichert, Pomona. Joseph McLean, Long Beach. Charles Farl, Tropicana, Cal. E. F. Farrell, Alhambra. Mary T. F. Pierrepont, 127 N. Figueroa st. Mrs. L. F. George, 249 E. 23d st. Mrs. D. F. Huscroft, 548 Colton st. Miss A. Baker, 608½ S. Broadway. Walter Everts, 810 Sand st., (4 teeth). J. W. Cole, 848 Buena Vista st.	Mrs. M. C. Marsales, 848 Buena Vista st., (1 tooth). John L. Latham, San Francisco, (1 tooth). Mrs. E. J. Pellegrin, Anaheim, (1 tooth). C. W. Benton, Pasadena. Mrs. J. J. Bullis, 932 S. Court Circle, (2 teeth). J. W. Buckley, 448 E. Fourth st. S. R. Edles, Fullerton. Bebbie Puller, El Monte. Mrs. Al B

The Times-Mirror Company,

PUBLISHERS OF
The Los Angeles Times, Daily, Sunday and Weekly.H. G. OTIS, President and General Manager.
L. E. MOSHER, Vice-President.
ALBERT McFARLAND, Secretary.
Treasurer.Office: Times Building.
R. E. corner of First and Broadway. Telephone numbers: Editorial 674; Business Office 120.
PRINCIPAL EASTERN AGENT: E. KATZ, 187 WORLD BUILDING, NEW YORK.

The Los Angeles Times

Founded December 4, 1881.

VOLUME XXIX.

FOURTEENTH YEAR.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT SERVICE—OVER 20,000 MILES OF LEASED WIRES

BY MAIL, $5 a year; by carrier, $2 a month. SUNDAY TIMES, $2 a year. WEEKLY, $1.50.

Sworn Net Average Daily Circulation, Past Nine Mos., 14,776 Copies

Exceeding the net circulation of any other two Los Angeles daily papers.

Entered at the Los Angeles Postoffice for transmission as second-class mail matter

TO CORRESPONDENTS—DO NOT depend upon the return of rejected manuscripts, but retain copies if you wish to preserve your contributions. Articles should be typewritten and MSS. sent flat. Practice brevity and write plainly.

THE GRAND CANYON.

The only authentic lithograph of Thomas Moran's famous painting of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River may now be secured by patrons of the Los Angeles Times. The lithograph is on a sheet 42x27½ inches—about all the picture is being 22x38½ inches in size. It may be seen at the counting-room of The Times, and is supplied to cash-in-advance-paying subscribers at the following rates:

By Carrier, Mail.
The PICTURE FREE with the DAILY one year for $10.20 $9.00
The PICTURE FREE with the DAILY six months for 5.90 5.30
The PICTURE and the DAILY three months for 3.35 3.05
The PICTURE and the WEEKLY one year for 2.10 2.10
The lithograph cannot be procured from any other source upon the same terms, and is not sold separately.

JOHN SHERMAN'S BOOK.

Elsewhere in this issue of The Times is presented a review of the first volume of "John Sherman's Recollections of Forty Years in the House, Senate and Cabinet." Although quite copious extracts from the work are given, only an inadequate idea of its comprehensiveness and value is conveyed. To summarize a work of this kind is indeed a very difficult task, for it is crowded so full of interesting matter that the reviewer scarcely knows what to omit. Necessarily, in the brief space of a newspaper article, reference to many things of which the author talks entertainingly must be omitted; yet to omit anything from so admirable a structure is to impair the symmetry of the whole.

The style in which Mr. Sherman writes will be a pleasant surprise to those who have heretofore regarded him as a dry statistician, without the juice of humor or the "sweetness and light" of human sympathy. Mr. Sherman's book is anything but dry.

Every page is instinct with interest for the reader who has kept abreast of current events during the past generation. Its style is easy and chatty, without being flippant. Lucidity is a marked characteristic of every sentence. There is at no time any room for doubt as to the meaning of Senator Sherman's language. It is straightforward, simple, and manifestly sincere. Few disinterested readers of the book will fail to be impressed with the earnestness, the honesty, and the force of the writer's deductions.

One of the notable features of Mr. Sherman's book is the chapter in which he treats of the alleged "crime" of 1873. He has so often been charged with responsibility for the so-called demonetization of silver that many well-meaning persons have come to accept the accusation as true, in whole or in part. Mr. Sherman shows clearly how the measure originated, and he effectually disposes of the false idea that it was carried through Congress in a secret or mysterious manner. So far from its being a "conspiracy," the measure received the fullest publicity, was freely and lengthily discussed in both houses of Congress, and was passed as openly as any measure ever enacted into law.

Mr. Sherman's book will take its place as a valuable factor in the permanent political literature of the nation. It is surely destined to have a wide circulation, and its value will be even greater a generation hence than it is now.

THE SUNDAY SERMONS."

Edward Everett Hale, D.D., of Boston, writes as follows on behalf of the recently-organized Newspaper Sermon Association:

Ten million and more people read the Sunday morning newspapers of the United States. More than half of them will come as far as this word before they turn to the next column. To this sum of ten million who do come so far, I have a few words to say.

"There are in this country somewhere between 50,000 and 100,000 men who are in the business of what we call the Christian ministry. That is to say, their business is to give this whole world what they believe to be glad tidings. The good tidings are that God in heaven is interested in man on earth, that God in heaven is the Father of the thousand million people, more or less, who are on the earth, and that he has certain plans for them. When these plans are carried out, there will be what Jesus Christ called the kingdom of heaven."

"We do not think that the way to the better condition is wholly by mechanics or wholly by trade. We think that there are great ideas which are at the bottom of trade and mechanics, of mining and smelting, of manufacturing and planting. We are glad to have an opportunity to present those ideas in a four-square and manly way, to the people of this country."

"The reader who has got as far as this, if he will go five lines farther, will power "by conquest, cession or acquisition in any other way." There is an impassable gulf between Jeffersonian Democracy and Cleveland Democracy.

"Great Britain was a power on the American continent before the United States," as Lord Salisbury recently observed. But since the United States came into existence as an organized government, Great Britain as an American power has taken a rear pew. It is too late for her to crowd onto the front seat.

"Of the 600,000 women in Massachusetts, only 26,672 have registered as voters, under the provisions of the law, requiring them to do so in order to vote at municipal elections. This does not look very much as though the women of Massachusetts were yearning extensively for the ballot."

A Philadelphia man who has been a frequent companion of the President on fishing excursions says that Mr. Cleveland "does not desire a third term." Mr. Cleveland's wishes in this matter will be respected.

"Free wool is costing the Utah wool-growers the difference between 9 cents per pound, the present price, and 16 cents per pound, the McKinley price. Naturally, they are not enthusiastic on the subject of free wool."

The initial sermon will be found printed on page 29 of this morning's Times.

A SERIOUS DISAGREEMENT.

At a meeting of the "California State League of Republican Newspapers," held in San Francisco on Saturday week, one of the members, Mr. McCormick of Lakeport, reported for the Executive Committee that "they had great difficulty in getting in touch with the Republican State Central Committee; that they were never accorded the respect and deference due them as representing the League of Republican Newspapers, with a membership of seventy-two journals."

This is bad—very bad—on the part of the Republican State Central Committee. We would not stand in the shoes of the committee for a year's subscription to the Lakeport Avalanche. We advise the members to make their peace with Mr. McCormick and the State League of Republican Newspapers (membership seventy-two) without the lamp holds out to burn.

In the favorite language of the aforesome but not now Trowbridge, the course of the committee is "generally condemned" by the State League of Republican Newspapers, and it (the committee, not the league) should hasten to "square" itself.

THE SURPLUS.

Several timely and highly-interesting special contributions, which had been prepared for this issue of the Sunday Times, it has been found necessary to throw over to later issues. Among them are the following:

"Eighty Fruitful Years—700,000 Women to Celebrate Mrs. Stanton's Birthday Anniversary."

"A Day in Egypt"—a pleasant sketch written by a former official of the Khedive.

"Ceara Brazil," by an American naval officer.

"Short-circuiting the Race"—a curious sketch showing how the thing was done.

"Rubies, Sapphires, Emeralds, Diamonds"—an interesting description of genuine and false precious stones.

"The Touchstone"—a story by the late Robert Louis Stevenson.

"The Victory of the Grand Duke of Mittenheim"—one of the "Zenda" series, by Anthony Hope.

"The Jews and the Bible"—a scholar's contribution to an ever-interesting subject, by Dr. G. A. Danziger, formerly of San Francisco, now of Los Angeles.

The reported discovery of a "triple planet" by Dr. See of the Chicago University has excited great interest in the astronomical world. The discovery seems to have been the result of mathematical computation rather than of visual observation. The circumstance as reported recalls to mind the discovery of the planet Neptune in September, 1846. Leverrier of Paris, and other astronomers, had noticed certain perturbations in the motion of the planet Uranus, which could not be accounted for from known causes. Leverrier figured out so accurately the location and orbit of the disturbing mass which he believed to be the cause of the variations in the orbit of Uranus, that Dr. Galle of Berlin (who had a more powerful telescope than Leverrier's) found the planet, which was afterward named Neptune, on the first night after receiving Leverrier's computations. The verdict was that the music of the little work was powerful in dramatic effect.

Sixty-four new operas are already announced for production in Italy this season. The critics are to be pitied. The title of the new work is "Amor Domata," a writing title under which Spilo Matra, a writing three-act opera on the subject of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew." It is to be produced at La Scala.

The widow of the famous pianist Thalberg died at Naples last week aged 84. She was a daughter of the celebrated singer Lablache, and was Thalberg's second wife. She cared nothing for music, and when Thalberg was asked to play she fled into another room. Her sole occupation was cards and games, and yet Thalberg lived happily with her.

Mrs. M. E. Auer will sing "My Redeemer" by Dudley Buck, as the offertory at the First Baptist Church this morning.

Mrs. Grace L. Williams has removed to 1062 South Flower street.

Mrs. T. E. Rowan, Jr., nee Letitia Levens, who is well known in California as a contralto, having been connected with some of the best opera companies, and who was also a pupil of Mme. Rosevald, is a welcome acquisition to musical circles of the city.

New Host at the Nadeau.

H. W. Chase, who recently bought the Nadeau Express of this city, which that paper publishes prominently, discouraging the movement in favor of securing the National Republican Convention for California. McEwen takes occasion to poke fun at the newspapers and politicians of San Francisco, and asserts that they don't expect to capture the convention, but just how, and howl, to see which can make the most noise and show the most "cheap patriotism." There is something curious and unexplainable about this unexpected attack on the favorite enterprise of San Francisco and California Republicans.

Both Corbett and Fitzsimmons are evidently actuated by a determination not to fight under any circumstances. Now, if only they would stop talking about it, the nation would soon settle down and become reconciled.

New Host at the Nadeau.

Thomas Jefferson did not hesitate to go on record with the declaration that the United States should go to war, if necessary, to prevent the transfer of American territory to any European country.

The reader who has got as far as this, if he will go five lines farther, will

"GET OFF THE EARTH!"

What will happen to the British lion if he gets too obstreperous in South America.

THE SAUNTERER

The Saunterer was upon the street one day last week, and obtained his first actual glimpse of the new woman. Was she agreeable? Well, hardly. Reserved, and gentle, and tender like the woman so dear to our memories? She did not seem so. Let me give you her picture. A group of men were standing on the corner of Spring and Third streets. They were a merry group of young men, not noisy or boisterous, but they were discussing something which amused them. Down the street came two young ladies, but so absorbed in their conversation were they that they did not seem to notice the men. Still, all was not room enough for them to pass singly. One young man stood with his back toward them and did not see their approach. He was upon the inner rim of the circle, and blocked the path more fully, however, than any of the others. Like an avenging goddess the new woman bore down upon him, seized him by the collar of his coat and flung him to one side, spinning like a top, and then she passed on with a frown upon her face dark enough to dim the sunlight.

There was silence in that masculine circle for the space of a few seconds, completely overwhelmed was it by surprise; then laughter rippled from lip to lip, and the woman of the world sing from the "Messiah": "The People that Walked in Darkness."

Mrs. Booth read very impressively the Psalm, "The Lord is My Shepherd," and the "articles of war," which all the while the two bride and groom had already read again to her. She then called the couple to step forward, and, standing between them, while Brig. Keppler and Staff Captain Thomas stood on either side, holding the United States and the army flags, the young couple, with an impressiveness which made them husband and wife, read the service which is utterly unselfish in its promises and tends first of all to the advancement of God's work. Cheer on cheer followed the ceremony, and then Brig. Keppler turned his back.

Mrs. Booth had only face wreathed in smile, called on first the bride and then the groom to make a few remarks. Others were called upon, and with words here and songs there, the meeting went on to a pleasant close, the merrymaking filling faces of the army people, smiling kindly for the newlyweds.

The groom has had charge of the work in Santa Barbara for several years and the bride, who was formerly of El Monte, will add her efforts to those of the husband in Santa Barbara. Both were dressed in their shiny army uniforms, and the bride's only ornament was a small bouquet. The bride was Private Addie Jones.

NOTES.

"Sappho's Prayer to Aphrodite" by Miss Margaret Ruthven Lang, will be performed at the first concert of the Manuscript Society of New York on the evening of October 24.

Music violinists who are to invade the United States this season now set forth Marsick, Ondricek, Sauret, Rivalde, Bull and Nachez, and there are rumors about two or three more.

Verdi has nearly completed his long-loved work for the benefit of the English, and it is to be performed at the Royal Albert Hall on the 21st of October.

And the delectable feature of all this is that we are getting the best that we can be had architecturally. Modern ideas are being embodied in our homes, and everywhere there is something new in style and finish to attract the eye and please the taste.

Los Angeles is indeed a city of homes, beautiful for situation and grand in its environment, and varies in the sweep of its possibilities. The atmosphere of growth is everywhere about it, and it looks up big with promise. Southern California is stretching her limbs and inhaling deep, long breaths as she makes ready for more rapid growth and advancement.

I was out in the suburbs one day last week, and actually I lost myself, so great was the change in the six months since I was there in that portion of the city. New houses on every hand; new streets laid out; new car lines running; old landmarks gone, and new, modern life environment everything.

And the delectable feature of all this is that we are getting the best that we can be had architecturally. Modern ideas are being embodied in our homes, and everywhere there is something new in style and finish to attract the eye and please the taste.

Los Angeles is indeed a city of homes, beautiful for situation and grand in its environment, and varies in the sweep of its possibilities. The atmosphere of growth is everywhere about it, and it looks up big with promise. Southern California is stretching her limbs and inhaling deep, long breaths as she makes ready for more rapid growth and advancement.

November comes to us with golden days that are warm and tender, days in which Nature seems brooding over you, while she fills your heart with delight. It is the time when her loves are born, and to those who are in the world, new life is given, and the earth is a land of promise.

Charles Moore of San Francisco, manufacturer of printing machinery, etc., is in the city, with his wife, the guests of C. N. Reed, Mrs. Moore's father.

United States Circuit Judge Ross will return from San Francisco today and return to the court for business tomorrow morning.

Detective Fred C. Smith is very ill at his home on Boyle Heights. He was bitten three weeks ago by a spider, blood poisoning set in and he is in a very critical condition.

Mrs. J. C. Lynch and her daughter, Edna, have returned from the East, after an absence of two months.

W. W. Nease, Mrs. A. C. Hiseck, after attending the wedding of Capt. Edwin Clegg and Capt. George Hall of the Salvation Army. The ceremony was impressively performed by Mrs. Bellington Booth.

Mrs. T. E. Rowan, Jr., nee Letitia Levens, who is well known in California as a contralto, having been connected with some of the best opera companies, and who was also a pupil of Mme. Rosevald, is a welcome acquisition to musical circles of the city.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The period for revival services has arrived and the First Christian Church leads the churches of the city this season. Rev. J. A. L. Romig begins a meeting for this church today. Evangelist Romig is a man of wide reputation in evangelistic work in his church, and has recently held very successful meetings at Alameda and Visalia. He has conducted many great revivals in Eastern States where the Christian churches are numerous and very influential. The meetings will continue every night for several weeks. Aided by Prof. Jeffery, as leader of music, and the congregation of this active and growing church, it is expected that Evangelist Romig will hold a great meeting in this city.

After a rousing song, led by Prof. Jeffery, rich voice, and accompanied by band, tambourines and hand-clap-

The Eagle people have not been deaf to the uproarious controversy that has been going on in the public prints about the question of bloomers nor blind to the spectacular, nor gaudy, effects of the garb as seen gyrating about this perch on moonlight nights and at odd moments in the full glare of day. It has been quite interesting to listen to the contestants—the lovers of the bifurcate pleading its cause with valor and the skirt devotees whooping up the single-barreled garment with words that burn, but out of it all there has not been much that is convincing either way. To the mind of us who wear feathers only and are merely lookers-on at the passing show the skirt, if it is scant both ways, has much to commend it. Even the Eagle people are sufficiently steeped in conventionality to prefer the fair damosels in flowing garments that we have been wont to see in since we were fledglings, but this observer, who voices in a small way the sense of his kind, is perfectly willing to admit, from having seen numbers of the sex yanked from their wheels by interfering skirts, that the bloomers are the safe and sensible thing, however it looks. For long rides in the country the fair wheelwoman who dons a skirt starts off with a handcap that she is foolish to carry. I will confess frankly, that around town the bloomer sets the teeth on edge and in some cases are so ugly that they are but little less than criminal. Why some ladies should look so natty and debonair in a split garment, and why others should look like perfect frights, not to say nightmares and horsefrighters, I do not clearly understand, but if you haven't all been asleep this past few months you will know that what I say is true.

It occurred to me that in addition to the present city, and other police commissions, fire commissions, etc., it should be a good plan to incorporate in the next city charter a proviso for a Bloomer Commission. It should be the duty of this commission to issue licenses for bloomers but only after having been passed upon by the board, which, of course, would have to be experts. Any lady wishing to loom up in the divided garment would, before being allowed on the street, to the danger of the inhabitants because of her awful appearance, be compelled to undergo inspection by the board on a private track carefully and tightly fenced in and surrounded with not less than eight strands of barbed wire six inches apart.

If inspection is deemed sufficient the garment sufficiently becoming to the wearer that her advent on the thoroughfares would not endanger life and limb, the stoppage of cars, nor contraction of stabbismus on the part of the observing populace, then she should be issued a license under the seal of the city, and so long as she held it should be protected from invidious remarks on the part of adults and the exasperating ribaldries of the small boy. To any woman not passing the rules as to natiness, etc., well, she should either be compelled to wear a skirt or get off the

THE WEATHER.

DAILY BULLETINS.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Nov. 2.—At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.92; at 5 p.m., 29.87. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 63 deg. and 66 deg. Maximum temperature, 73 deg.; minimum temperature, 49 deg. Character of weather, clear. Barometer reduced to sea level.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE WEATHER BUREAU. Reports received at Los Angeles, Cal., on Nov. 2, 1895. GEORGE E. FRANKLIN, Observer. Observations taken at all stations at 8 p.m., 75th meridian time.

Place of Observation. Bar. Ther. Los Angeles, clear 29.90 63 San Diego, clear 29.90 64 San Luis Obispo, partly cloudy 29.88 64 Franklin, cloudy 29.74 72 San Francisco, cloudy 29.82 62 Eureka, clear 29.94 59 Portland, cloudy 29.96 44

Hotel

..del..

Coronado

Agency, 129 North Spring Street,
Los Angeles, Cal.

H. F. NORCROSS, Agent.

HIS HEAD IN A NOOSE.

JOSE ILARIO HELD FOR THE MURDER OF MRS. SANDROCK.

One of the Most Brutal Crimes Ever Committed in California—Robbery Was the Object—Conclusive Evidence Against the Prisoner.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 2.—(Special Correspondence.) One of the most brutal murders ever committed in this State was reviewed in the court of Justice Solon Bryan during the preliminary hearing of the Indian Jose Ilario, who is suspected of committing the crime. About noon on October 5, Mrs. Sandrock, a peaceable, hard-working woman, was murdered in her little store

The races being over, the baseball grounds are liable to be more frequented by the lovers of sport. The attendance at the California League games thus far have been discouragingly small, but good ball-playing and absence of counter attractions will swell the gate receipts from now on.

Prospects for the holding of the next meeting of the National Educational Association are brightening, according to reports received by City Superintendent of Schools Foshey. The gentlemen who have been working so hard to get the convention to meet here deserve credit, whether they succeed or not.

It was with a feeling of sadness akin to pain that the sports who put their money on Silkwood and Wilkes, the favorites, yesterday, saw W. Wood, who was scarcely expected to be "in it," in such fast company, forge ahead and win the race. Silkwood's lameness of course accounts for his signal defeat, but that excuse does not give his backers back their money.

The local Chamber of Commerce has been asked by the Chamber of Commerce of Cleveland, O., to join it and other organizations in memorializing the two great political parties to shorten the next Presidential campaign, owing to the demoralizing effect of a long campaign on the business interests of the country. The suggestion is worthy of consideration.

A new cement mine has been unearthed in Orange county that gives promise of great wealth. The tests of the new product are said to exceed that of the celebrated Portland cement, and the indications are that there are large quantities of it. The mine is located near El Toro, and it has been reported that the Spreckelses are financially interested in the opening of the mine.

Now that the last horse-race of the season is over and the opportunities for gambling on the results of the same are at an end, it is reasonable to look forward to and expect the customary spurt of morality and good works which accompany winter weather, and the advent of the sensational evangelist. Welcome the coming—speed the parting guest.

It is unfortunate that a suspected "job" in the bids received for the repair of the City Hall plumbing should be responsible for further delay in the procedure of the work. The condition of this public building, with its lavatories, sinks and closets closed up almost without exception, is such as to demand immediate and radical relief. A bit more of earnestness on the part of the municipal officials in charge of the matter would be appreciated by the portion of the public obliged to suffer while transacting business in the hall.

The National City Record of San Diego county, says, apropos of advice printed in The Times urging San Diegans to pull together: "What San Diego needs more than anything else at present is a strong band that, preventing her own citizens from tearing one another to pieces, will hold the whole town together; and a clear brain, which, putting aside the men of small calibre, whose beffuddled intellects have ruined every worthy enterprise, will pull her out of the rut into which she has fallen and direct her efforts in the path of true progress." The Record is the ablest edited and most fearless journal in San Diego county.

Historical Society.

The Historical Society of Southern California will hold a monthly meeting Monday evening, November 4, at 8 o'clock in Judge Morrison's courtroom, old City Hall. Dr. Stephen Bowers will read paper on "The Recent Origin of Man."

Dr. Bowers was formerly connected with the United States Geological Survey, and with the Bureau of Ethnology at Washington, D.C. He has written and published a number of articles on ethnology and archeology. Dr. Bowers will present a sketch of the life of Alfred Robinson, a pioneer of 1829. Robinson wrote a book on life in California, which was published fifty years ago. He was for some time a resident of Los Angeles.

CORRECT WEDDINGS.
See the new style paper and envelopes for wedding invitations, receptions, etc., at the Whedon & Little Co., society stationers and engravers, No. 114 West First street.

OIL HEATERS.

The "Rochester," or open-front, lamp stove, the "Art Laurel" and the "Jewel" are perfect in construction, free from odor, handsome in design and reasonable in price. For sale by Cass & Smurr Stove Co., Nos. 224 and 225 South Spring street.

Coffee.
If you are a lover of good coffee, get it fresh-roasted, Mocha and Java daily, from our Giant coffee-roaster. Economic, No. 49 S. Broadway.

SEE the improvements on the 1895 Electric oil stoves at Nauert & Cass Hardware Co., wholesale agents, No. 226 South Spring street.

CARPETS. C. Judd, carpets, 45¢ South Spring street. Parquet wood flooring, 15 cents; all-wool extra-super in grain, 15 cents; tapestry Brussels, 50 cents; moquettes, $1; velvet, $1; body Brussels, $1; Household, 40 cents; art squares from $2.50 up; Japanese rugs from $1 up.

Everlasting.

Parquet Wood Floor wears like a granite wall, and it is the cleanest floor as well as the most elegant made. Our assortment of Parquet Wood Flooring is large enough so that we can suit any floor thought. Of course the prices are low enough.

Tuttle Mercantile Co.,

308-310 South Broadway.

Know Us

Wholesale and Retail dealers in Drugs, Perfumes,

Patent Medicines,
Trusses, etc.The finest stock of Surgical Instruments and Physicians' Supplies,Dental Instruments and Supplies, Cottons, Gauzes, Bandages, etc., in Southern California.Competitors Cannot
Meet These Prices.3 qt. Fount. Syringe 60c
8 qt. Fount. Syringe 85c
4 qt. Fount. Syringe 70c
Water Bottles at same prices.
(Quality Guaranteed.)

By our business methods,

By our low prices,

By the quality of our goods

By our system of Politeness and prompt service and you will

Like Us

We have one of the largest stocks in the State.We buy from the manufacturer.

We sell at wholesale prices

We carry no inferior goods

We guarantee everything that goes out of our store.

We try to please you.

We hope you will.

Trade with Us

THOMAS & ELLINGTON,
Cut Rate Druggists,
Cor. Temple and Spring Sts.

We Cut Prices on Everything.

Attention, Mothers!

We are going out of—

Misses' and Children's

Woolen Dresses

Just Think,

25 per ct. Reduction

On all of them. They are ALL NEW GOODS—This season's. We have A LARGE and ELEGANT ASSORTMENT.
What sizes: AGES FROM 4 to 14 YEARS.

Sale Commences Monday Morning.

Goods Delivered Free to Pasadena.

I. Magnin & Co.,

237 S. SPRING ST.

VILLE DE PARIS.

Pioneer Broadway Dry Goods House,
Potomac Block, 223 S. Broadway.

Two Unexcelled Departments

...Silks...

Unprecedented Values
For This Week.

2000 Yards

Highest Grades of Lyon's Novelties....BLACK DUCHESS IN BROCADESBLACK DUCHESS has never yet failed in the cure of piles. Try it.LUMBER down. Get our prices. Ganahl Lumber Company.

U. S. HOTEL, rooms $1 per week and up.

Dress Goods

New Arrivals.

25 pieces Black Dress Goods including Priestley's Novelty Weaves, Crepons,
Wool and Mohair Broches
50 inch English Diagonals and Figured Sicilians.Offered at $1.00
YARD.50 Choice and exquisite Dress Patterns arrived Saturday.
This lot includes the latest and choicest creations in colored Dress Fabrics.Offered at $11.25
Full Dress Pattern.Goods delivered free in Pasadena.
Mail orders promptly filled.

Telephone 893.

"Town and Country"

Paints have been manufactured for a hundred years. They have stood the test of time.

P. H. MATHEWS, N. E. Cor. Main and 2d Sts.

J. T. SHEWARD,
113-115 North Spring St.

We are approaching the cool November days, the bleak December storms; wintry weather will soon be here. Are you prepared for it? We are. Monday we will sell the choicest of the finest fur stock at prices that clip the best records ever made for low prices. We want you to bear in mind this fur stock is all new this season, and is far below any price yet made.

All our Fur Capes marked in stock to sell from $30 to $45 will be sold Monday for $25.

All our $50 and $55 Fur Capes will be sold for $35.

All our $20 and $25 Fur Capes will be sold for $16.50.

All our $12.50 Fur Capes will be sold for $8.

All our $12 Fur Capes will be sold for $7.50.

All our $8 Fur Capes will be sold for $5.50.

None laid aside; deposits will not be received; your money back if you want it. Our reputation stands at the back of every fur garment sold; take particular notice we say all fur garments; this includes every fur garment in the house, and we think it is the largest stock in the city.

Side issues. You know these prices are right:

Turkey-red Table Linen, 12¢ a yard.

100 yards Black Spool Silk, 3¢ a spool.

Best Domestic Ginghams, in a splendid line of colors, 6½¢ a yard.

75¢ for a pair of good Gray Blankets; 85¢ for a pair of good Brown Blankets; $5 for the $7.50 White Blankets; $1.50 for the $2.50 quality.

Go a little further and see the choice Bed Comforts for $1.25 and $1.50; finest white cotton-filled; lined with extra material; just such comforts you have been paying one-third more for. The trade in the domestic department has shown a wonderful increase under the new management; other departments are now being shaken; no dead timber can stay here.

Bigger business in the dress goods department; bright Scotch Plaids 20¢ a yard; finer and better goods; all wool, 50¢ and 65¢ a yard; 50-inch all-wool Serges, 50¢ a yard; Black Brocades, in pure mohairs, 50c, 60c, 75c; three specially-good grades at prices much less than market value.

Capes cut, fitted and basted free by the best cape-cutters in the city. Heavy Black Astrakhan and Wooly Beaver $3 a yard; Broadcloths from $1.25 to $3 a yard; rich Mohair Brocades $1.50, $1.75, $2 a yard; all new for winter capes.

Side Combs and Bang Combs. Winged Hair Ornaments in the latest styles; Mercury Winged Pins; Butterly Winged Pins; Trilby Hearts and Lockets; wide Elastic Belts; Scotch Plaid Silk Belts; Buttons in all the newest styles; you certainly want buttons for your new dress.

We have greatly improved the millinery department.

There is nothing new that is not shown here.

Outing Flannels; light-blues and pinks for night-dresses; imitation Scotch Flannels, 20c and 25c a yard; real Scotch Flannels for shirtings and skirtings, 35c a yard; Cretons, soft finish, 10c.

Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Underwear, 25c, 35c, 50c; three specially-good values—much better than usual.

The 25¢ quality Triple Perfumes, 2 for 25c; the 50c size, 25c.

Newberry's.

BROMANGELON.

Commencing Monday, November 4, we will have on exhibition for four days, BROMANGELON, or Angels' Food. Nothing like it ever offered before. Come in and see how it is made. You are cordially invited.

216-218 South Spring Street.

STERLING SILVER NOVELTIES

The Largest Stock
The Greatest Variety
The Lowest Prices

Every resident of Los Angeles is thoroughly familiar with our long-standing reputation in the jewelry trade, a reputation which from the first we have endeavored to deserve by rigidly adhering to the principle of offering nothing for sale which we cannot guarantee. Added to this our customers have the benefit of judgment and advice.

MONTGOMERY BROS.,

Jewelers and Silversmiths,

120 and 122 North Spring Street,

Los Angeles, Cal.

The Times-Mirror Company.

PUBLISHERS OF
The Los Angeles Times, Daily, Sunday and Weekly.
H. G. OTIS, President and General Manager.
L. E. MOSHER, Vice-President, MARIAN OTIS-CHANDLER, Secretary.
ALBERT McFARLAND, Treasurer.

Office: Times Building, Telephone numbers: Editorial 674; Business Office 520.
R. E. corner of First and Broadway. Principal Eastern Agent: E. KATE, 187 WORLD BUILDING, NEW YORK.

The Los Angeles Times

Founded December 6, 1851.

VOLUME XXIX.

FOURTEENTH YEAR.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT SERVICE—OVER 90,000 MILES OF LEASED WIRES

BY MAIL, $2 a year; by carrier, $2 a month. SUNDAY TIMES, $2 a year. WEEKLY, $1.50.

Sworn Net Average Daily Circulation, Past Nine Mos., 14,776 Copies

Exceeding the net circulation of any other two Los Angeles daily papers.

Entered at the Los Angeles Postoffice for transmission as second-class mail matter

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Do not depend upon us for the safe delivery of your manuscripts, but retain copies if you wish to preserve your contributions. Articles should be typewritten and MSS. sent flat. Practice brevity and write plainly.

THE GRAND CANYON.

The only authentic lithograph of Thomas Moran's famous painting of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River may now be secured by patrons of the Los Angeles Times. The lithograph is on a sheet 42x27½ inches over all, the picture itself being 22½x35½ inches in size. It may be seen at the counting-room of The Times, and is supplied to cash-in-advance-paying subscribers at the following rates:

By Carrier. Mail.
The PICTURE FREE with $10.00
The PICTURE $10.00
The PICTURE six months for... 5.00 5.30
The PICTURE three months for... 3.35 3.65
The PICTURE and the WEEKLY for... 2.10 2.10

The lithograph cannot be procured from any other source upon the same terms, and is not sold separately.

JOHN SHERMAN'S BOOK.

Elsewhere in this issue of The Times is presented a review of the first volume of "John Sherman's Recollections of Forty Years in the House, Senate and Cabinet." Although quite copious extracts from the work are given, only an inadequate idea of its comprehensiveness and value is conveyed. To summarize a work of this kind is indeed a very difficult task, for it is crowded so full of interesting matter that the reviewer scarcely knows what to omit. Necessarily, in the brief space of a newspaper article, reference to many things of which the author takes entertainingly must be omitted; yet to omit anything from so admirable a structure is to impair the symmetry of the whole.

The style in which Mr. Sherman writes will be a pleasant surprise to those who have heretofore regarded him as a dry statistician, without the juice of humor or the "sweetness and light" of human sympathy. Mr. Sherman's book is anything but dry. Every page is instinct with interest for the reader who has kept abreast of current events during the past generation. Its style is easy and chatty, without being flippant. Lucidity is a marked characteristic of every sentence. There is at no time any room for doubt as to the meaning of Senator Sherman's language. It is straightforward, simple, and manifestly sincere. Few disinterested readers of the book will fail to be impressed with the earnestness, the honesty, and the force of the writer's deductions.

One of the notable features of Mr. Sherman's book is the chapter in which he treats of the alleged "crime" of 1873. He has so often been charged with responsibility for the so-called demonetization of silver that many well-meaning persons have come to accept the accusation as true, in whole or in part. Mr. Sherman shows clearly how the measure originated, and he effectively disposes of the false idea that it was carried through Congress in a secret or mysterious manner. So far from its being a "conspiracy," the measure received the fullest publicity, was freely and lengthily discussed in both houses of Congress, and was passed as openly as any measure ever enacted into law.

Mr. Sherman's book will take its place as a valuable factor in the permanent political literature of the nation. It is surely destined to have a wide circulation, and its value will be even greater a generation hence than it is now.

THE SUNDAY SERMONS.

Edward Everett Hale, D.D., of Boston, writes as follows on behalf of the recently-organized Newspaper Sermon Association:

"Ten million and more people read the Sunday morning newspapers of the United States. More than half of them will come as far as this word before they turn to the next column. To this six or seven million who do come so far, I have a few words to say.

"There are in this country somewhere between 50,000 and 100,000 men who are in the business of what we call the Christian ministry. That is to say, their business is to give this whole world what they believe to be glad tidings. The good tidings are that God in heaven is interested in man on earth, that God in heaven is the Father of the thousand million people, more or less, who are on the earth, and that he has certain plans for them. When these plans are carried out, there will be what Jesus Christ called the kingdom of heaven.

"We do not think that the way to the better condition is wholly by mechanics or wholly by trade. We think that there are great ideas which are at the bottom of trade and mechanics, of mining and smelting, of manufacturing and planting. We are glad to have an opportunity to present those ideas in a four-square and manly way, to the people of this country.

"The reader who has got as far as this, if he will go five lines farther, will power "by conquest, cession or acquisition in any other way." There is an impassable gulf between Jeffersonian Democracy and Cleveland Democracy.

"Great Britain was a power on the American continent before the United States," as Lord Salisbury recently observed. But since the United States came into existence as an organized government, Great Britain as an American power has taken a rear pew. It is too late for her to crowd onto the front seat.

"Of the 600,000 women in Massachusetts, only 26,672 have registered as voters, under the provisions of the law requiring them to do so in order to vote at municipal elections. This does not look very much as though the women of Massachusetts were yearning extensively for the ballot.

A Philadelphia man who has been a frequent companion of the President on fishing excursions says that Mr. Cleveland "does not desire a third term." Mr. Cleveland's wishes in this matter will be respected.

Free wool is costing the Utah wool-growers the difference between 9 cents per pound, the present price, and 16 cents per pound, the McKinley price. Naturally, they are not enthusiastic on the subject of free wool.

Senator Hill will go to Ohio to waste his sweetness on the Buckley air in behalf of the Democratic ticket.

A SERIOUS DISAGREEMENT.

At a meeting of the "California State League of Republican Newspapers," held in San Francisco on Saturday week, one of the members, Mr. McCrane of Lakeport, reported for the Executive Committee that "they had great difficulty in getting in touch with the Republican State Central Committee; that they were never accorded the respect and deference due them as representing the League of Republican Newspapers, with a membership of seventy-two journals."

This is bad—very bad—on the part of the Republican State Central Committee. We would not stand in the shoes of the committee for a year's subscription to the Lakeport Avalanche. We advise the members to make their peace with Mr. McCrane and the State League of Republican Newspapers (membership seventy-two) while the lamp holds out to burn.

In the favorite language of the aforementioned committee, it is well known that the committee is "generally condemned" by the State League of Republican Newspapers, and it (the committee, not the league) should hasten to "square" itself.

THE SURPLUS.

Several timely and highly-interesting special contributions, which had been prepared for this issue of the Sunday Times, it has been found necessary to throw over to later issues. Among them are the following:

"Eighty Fruitful Years—700,000 Women to Celebrate Mrs. Stanton's Birthday Anniversary."

"A Day in Egypt"—a pleasant sketch written by a former official of the Kedive.

"Ceara Brazil," by an American naval officer.

"Short-circuited the Race"—a curious sketch showing how the thing was done.

"Rubies, Sapphires, Emeralds, Diamonds"—an interesting description of genuine and false precious stones.

"The Touchstone"—a story by the late Robert Louis Stevenson.

"The Victory of the Grand Duke of Mittenheim"—one of the "Zenda" series, by Anthony Hope.

"The Jews and the Bible"—a scholar's contribution to an ever-interesting subject, by Dr. G. A. Danziger, formerly of San Francisco, now of Los Angeles.

The reported discovery of a "triple star" by Dr. See of the Chicago University has excited great interest in the astronomical world. The discovery seems to have been the result of mathematical computation rather than of visual observation. The circumstance as reported recalls to mind the discovery of the planet Neptune in September, 1846. Leverrier of Paris, and other astronomers, had noticed certain perturbations in the motion of the planet Uranus, which could not be accounted for from known causes. Leverrier figured out so accurately the location and orbit of the disturbing mass which he believed to be the cause of the variations in the orbit of Uranus, that Dr. Galle of Berlin (who had a more powerful telescope than Leverrier's) found the planet, which was afterward named Neptune, on the first night after receiving Leverrier's computations. It was one of the greatest triumphs ever achieved by astronomical science.

Arthur McEwen writes a letter to the Evening Express of this city, which that paper publishes prominently, discouraging the movement in favor of securing the National Republican Convention for California. McEwen takes occasion to poke fun at the newspaper and politicians of San Francisco, and asserts that they don't expect to capture the convention, but just howl, and howl, and howl, to see which can make the most noise and show the most "cheap patriotism." There is something curious and unexplainable about this unexpected attack on the favorite enterprise of San Francisco and California Republicans.

Both Corbett and Fitzsimmons are evidently actuated by a determination not to fight under any circumstances. Now, if only they would stop talking about it, the nation would soon settle down and become reconciled.

New Host at the Nadeau.

H. W. Chase, who recently bought the interest of C. L. Whipple, his partner in the Nadeau Hotel, has leased the property to J. H. Tolfree, manager of the South Pacific Railway eating-houses. J. H. Tolfree will assume control at once.

Thomas Jefferson did not hesitate to go on record with the declaration that the United States should go to war, if necessary, to prevent the transfer of American territory to any European power "by conquest, cession or acquisition in any other way." There is an impassable gulf between Jeffersonian Democracy and Cleveland Democracy.

"GET OFF THE EARTH!"

What will happen to the British lion if he gets too obstreperous in South America.

THE SAUNTERER

The Saunterer was upon the street

one day last week, and obtained his first actual glimpse of the new woman. Was she agreeable? Well, hardly. Reserved, and gentle, and tender like.

She did not seem so, as I give you her picture.

A group of men were standing on the corner of Spring and Third streets.

They were a merry group of young men, not noisy or boisterous, but they were discussing something which amused them.

Two young ladies, but so absorbed in their conversation were the young men that they did not give way to the ladies, although there was room enough for them to pass singly. One young man, however, seeing his betters, did not take this approach.

At the regular monthly musical service at St. Paul's Church this evening the choir will render for the first time in the city Weber's Jubilee.

The full orchestra will be supported by an orchestra of ten pieces, including the Kraus String Quartet, all under the direction of J. C. Dunster. Mme. Martinez, solo soprano; W. H. Zinck, solo tenor; Marion G. Cann, and J. R. Leslie.

Mr. Keppler and Staff. Captain Thomas stood on either side, holding the United States and the army flags, and blocked the path more fully, perhaps, than any one of the others.

Like an avenging goddess, the new woman, who was down at the presence of their commander, and who, we fear, will be impressed by the consecrated lives and the vows taken, and some one may be brought to God. The army does not believe in show or display, and no Salvation Army girl was ever sold for a title or a fortune.

Mr. Keppler rendered "The Lord is My Shepherd" and the "articles of war," a covenant which both bride and groom had already read and agreed to. She then called the couple to step forward, and, standing between them, while Brig. Keppler and Staff. Captain Thomas stood on either side, holding the United States and the army flags, and blocked the path more fully, perhaps, than any one of the others.

Like an avenging goddess, the new woman, who was down at the presence of their commander, and who, we fear, will be impressed by the consecrated lives and the vows taken, and some one may be brought to God. The army does not believe in show or display, and no Salvation Army girl was ever sold for a title or a fortune.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

NOTES.

"Sappho's Prayer to Aphrodite," by Miss Margaret Ruthven Lang, will be performed at the first concert of the Kraus String Quartet, all under the direction of J. C. Dunster. Mme. Martinez, solo soprano; W. H. Zinck, solo tenor; Marion G. Cann, and J. R. Leslie.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The streets of Los Angeles are growing busier and busier with each passing week. The life, the bustle, and the noise is everywhere increasing, and the young girls of the city are getting more and more dressed up in the latest fashions.

It is the intention to give regular weekly afternoon concerts during the winter, probably at the Pavilion. As the band includes some of the best musicians in the city, it will doubtless prove a potent factor in the music of Southern California.

The Eagle people have not been deaf to the uproarious controversy that has been going on in the public prints about the question of bloomers nor blind to the spectacular, not to say gaudy, effects of the garb as seen gyrating about this pitch on moonlight nights and at odd moments in the full glare of day.

It has been quite interesting to listen to the contestants—the lovers of the bifurcate pleading its cause with valor and the skirt devotees whooping up the single-barreled garment with words that burn, but out of it all there has not been much that is convincing either way.

To the mind of us who wear feathers only and are merely lookers-on at the passing show the skirt, so it is said both ways, has much to command it. Even the Eagle people are sufficiently steeped in conventionalities to prefer the fair damsel in the flowing garments that we have been wont to see them in since we were fledglings, but this observer,

The attraction at the Los Angeles Theater next week for five nights and a matinee, commencing Tuesday evening, will be Canary & Lederer's New York Casino and Chicago opera house production, "The Passing Show," in which will be offered the efforts of 110 people.

The idea of this piece is to travesty, in a pleasing manner, the theatrical successes of the past year or two, and this it is said to do in a highly amusing way. "Sowing the Wind," "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," "Shore Afros," "The Bauble Shop," "The Butterflies," and the general run of comic and grand operas and many other stage productions are cleverly burlesqued, and many of the most famous and popular actors of the day come in for gentle bit of fun.

The company is the largest ever seen here in a piece of this character, and, it may be added, one of the most clever ever organized simply for the purpose of making fun. John E. Henshaw is one of the leading men, and he is himself a great favorite in various characters and numerous offices. Vernon Jarreau, long a star attraction, comes up to her best impressions in the play, lending herself with fine spirit and clever caricature to the novel scheme. George A. Schiller, as the detective, who disfigures only to tell who he is, is one of the best comedians engaged in this line of business. Seymour Hess, John D. Gilbert, formerly with Henderson's Extravaganza Company, Guy F. E. S. Tarn, Midge Lessing, Cherdial Simpson, May Ten Broek and Lida Lear are all important contributors to the performance. One of the best in the cast is Lucy Daly, a dashing soubrette, and one of the greatest dancers in the American stage. Her leading specialty is with Canary & Lederer's pickaninnies, whom she leads with irresistible abandon. "The Passing Show" has just scored a big triumph at the Baldwin Theater, San Francisco.

VERNON JARREAU.

The Orpheum management continues to comb Europe and America for vaudeville attractions, and as usual this week offers slightly novelties, among the most striking of which is Higgin, the champion all-round and trick jumper, who holds the world's record for standing hop, two steps and jump, having on September 29, 1894, cleared the remarkable distance of 48 ft. 6 in., breaking all former records by 39 in. But it is the acrobats that do most to interest an audience. He jumps into a basket of eggs, and though he lands on them with both feet, does not break a single egg. He also jumps in and out of a pail of water, alighting in the vessel. In these feats he demonstrates the perfect control an athlete may gain over his body even while in flight.

The four Scrodes, the famous acrobatic team, are also new people who are said to introduce acrobatic specialties never before seen in this country and are sure to interest all the little short of marvelous.

Marlow and Plunkett and Lillie Monterey, the cultivated and attractive soprano, make up the list of eight new people introduced into the bill for next week.

The holdovers are all features of last week's bill, comprising Flakowski, the clever mimic; Granger and Harding, vocalists, in new songs; Foley and O'Dell, the knockabout team, and Memphis Kennedy, musical eccentric.

This afternoon and tonight the usual performances will be given, and the concluding appearances of Zazuza and Haines and Pettigill will be made.

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

*

THE SUBSTITUTE

A FOOTBALL STORY.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.)
BY WALTER CAMP.

CHAPTER I.

THE CHAP WITH NEW SHOES.

I have been out of college now for five years and if I were asked what episode of my college life stands out most vividly in my memory I could not honestly say it was directly connected with curriculum proper.

When I came to college from a preparatory school in Massachusetts I had one fixed idea in my head and that was, that I had made a failure in athletics. I had tried for the school football team, and after two seasons of hard work had secured only the position of substitute.

I wanted to be heavy now while I was sixteen, and I wanted, ah! how I did want with all the abandon of a single ambition to get on the "varsity" team when I went to college.

At last came the 25th of September, the day I was to leave for Littleton, for I had passed my examinations. In June, and my father had engaged rooms for me at Littleton, so that all I had to do was to go down, and unpack my bags, and become a freshman, a member of the class of '91.

I remember so vividly my first day in Littleton. There were but four men from St. Peter's who came down that year, though since we have sent as many as twenty-five at a time. My one companion was Harry Holdan, a boy of about my own age who came from the West, and whose fine great merit in my eyes was his infallible good nature, and his undisguised belief in my ability to do great things.

The Saturday came when we were to go on the field, and after I had laced up my canvas jacket my hands shook so that I could hardly find the holes for the strings. I had bought a new pair of shoes, for my old ones were too short and hurt my toes, my foot having kept pace with the rest of me.

"I walked out."

"Yes, sir," said I.

"Come along then, and play it here, and mind one thing—don't let me see you let any man go outside you."

I ran out of the line. My! how those new shoes hadn't fit them for was I sure "the fellow with the new shoes" were not two other fellows still longing for the chance I had got? I don't imagine I distinguished myself very much. In fact, I don't remember much about the rest of the afternoon except that I had a good time, and a cat watches a mouse, and as a result let a runner come between me and tackle rather more than I should have done in my days of ripe experience. But hadn't Mr. Dyson said: "Don't let a man get outside of you?" and I didn't.

However, I was laid off at the end of the second fifteen minutes but allowed to play again toward the latter part of the third fifteen minutes and when we all crowded into the barge, and started for home I was in high and lame, and tired, but happy. How good the tub felt when I got to my room, and how fine it felt to get those new shoes off, I remember to this day.

We played every afternoon, and once I had a chance to play all the time. That was Wednesday, and when the two teams were first lined up, I was not on.

But after a few minutes Dyson said, "I want that chap with the new shoes who played end here Saturday," and Roland beckoned to me.

"What's your name?" said Dyson, as I walked out.

"Goddard," I said. "I am Goddard."

"Well, Goddard, you've got one good point, you can hug the line, but see you can't sometimes think of what's going on on the other side of you. You've got two eyes. Can you see out of both?"

"Yes, sir."

"See that you keep them open, then, and with that he left me.

As I tried to see out of both eyes, and keep my line set out of them, but when the interference came along and I worked my end, the runner slipped outside my end, and when I shut it in, the runner went before me and tackle, until I could feel, rather than see, the look of scorn that the man had on Dyson's face. But after the practice was over he came up to me and said:

"Don't you get discouraged, Goddard, no man knows it all in a day, and you're coming on."

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

"Aspirling freshman, evidently," I heard one of them remark, but I lost the rest. By this time the first game of the season was over, and presently drawn by my horns, a large barge filled to the very brim with men in all kinds of suits, from the broad-striped Jersey to the shining new canvas jacket, but there was no mistaking them for anything but footballers. They had the same preparatory school tone to it as some way undistinguishable. As they were piling out and stretching their cramped legs another barge came trundling up, but there was a different air about this one. Even the horses looked more business-like. The big men were quite as many and their of the freshmen, but it was lacking in color.

"I want to walk out to the grounds, Harry," I said. "Come along." "All right. I'm your man," said he.

When we reached the grounds not a soul was there save the two chaps who were marking out the grounds. Presently a few strollers came in—none of them were in football rig, but had apparently come out after the game began to it. There then was a conspicuous figure on the landscape, and my feet in my new shoes seemed to grow to an enormous size.

PASADENA YESTERDAY.

THE SAFE HAS STRUCK.

VALUABLES IN THE POSTOFFICE TOO SECURELY LOCKED UP.

Postmaster Kernaghan Put to a Lot of Extra Expense and Trouble. He Makes a Flying Trip to Los Angeles for Stamps.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Catsey C. Thom of Los Angeles is the guest of W. S. Mitchell for a few days.

Charles P. Barnum, financial editor of the Boston Herald, was a visitor in Pasadena today.

J. K. Fleet lost a valuable horse this morning. The animal died from the effect of a spasmodic colic.

A. Libby has taken the J. S. Batman house on Orange Grove avenue and will reside there this season.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will meet in the church parlor Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

N. S. Lefebvre of the Star, who has been quiet for some days, is so far recovered as to be able to eat again.

Miss Dickinson of Ypsilanti, Mich., is one of the recent arrivals in Pasadena, and will spend the entire winter here.

Willie Grey, who is studying medicine with Dr. J. Haines of Los Angeles, spent today with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Grey.

Miss Blairdell of North Los Robles avenue, who has been absent in Santa Barbara for several weeks, has returned to Pasadena.

E. F. Hurlbut, wife and daughter arrived on Friday's overland from Chicago, and W. Waterhouse of Lake avenue returned to his home on the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Harlan arrived in Pasadena October 30, from St. Johnsbury, Vt., and are staying at No. 159 Columbia street with Mr. and Mrs. Quincy.

Joseph Wright was before Recorder Rosser this morning, charged with being drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty and was given fifteen days in jail.

Miss Matilda W. Atkinson, one of the noted evangelists of the denomination of Friends, will conduct the morning and evening services in the Friends' Church on Sunday.

The Los Angeles Association of Dental Assistants held its regular meeting yesterday at the office of Dr. William E. Smith, in the Masonic Temple building, Tuesday evening, November 5.

Miss Edna Larkin, the talented young pianist of Chicago, who is at present with her parents in South Pasadena, has accepted an engagement to appear in concert in Los Angeles on Friday evening.

H. Elliott Ward, accused by Dr. Lang of criminal libel, filed a bond today for his appearance for trial. The sureties were A. J. Wood and R. B. Colcord. The date of the trial has not yet been fixed.

The health officer reports thirteen cases of smallpox for the month of October. Three of these were from consumption, two from cholera infantum, one from other intestinal disease, one from cancer, one from pneumonia, and five from other causes.

Alma Tadema's "Reading of Homer" will be shown in connection with the Gibson pictures at the opera house Friday evening. Sir Frederick Leighton's "Summer Noon" will also be presented. Some of Pasadena's loveliest girls are to represent Gibson's creations, and the event is to be the social affair of the day.

Today's arrivals at Hotel Green are as follows: H. S. Millard, New York; Mrs. H. D. Lyman and Miss N. H. Lyman, Minneapolis; Mrs. E. L. Minor, Mrs. E. A. Gates; Mrs. E. M. Phillips and M. Elcheneer, Chicago; Charles P. Bond, Boston; C. C. Nathan, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. E. Nathan, Memphis, Tenn.

A souvenir of the railroad wreck which occurred in Pennsylvania October 24, when four cars of mail matter were destroyed by fire, was received this morning in the Pasadena postoffice. It was in the mail, the scorch envelope addressed to Miss S. H. The address being perfectly legible, though the envelope was scorched to a dark brown.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. Millard will regret learning that, owing to the fact that Mr. Millard's profession as a telephone operator in Los Angeles, they have decided to take up a permanent residence in that city. Mr. Millard has been appointed superintendent of the service of the Sunset Telephone Company.

AN OPEN SWITCH.

First Accident on the Southern Pacific's Pasadena Branch.

The first accident on the local line of the Southern Pacific occurred near Shorb's ranch this afternoon, when the 1:10 p.m. train from Pasadena ran into an open switch full head on, and collision with a car came on the side.

The engine was so badly damaged that it was abandoned and the train was taken in with another engine which was fortunately near by. The passengers received bad fright, and some of them narrowly escaped serious injury. In some way, two were standing in the smoking car when they were thrown to the floor by the shock. No blame is attached to the train crew, but the switchman, who was so careful as to leave the switch open, will probably feel the weight of the displeasure of his superiors.

A cloak sale of great importance this week at Grey's.

Free organ recital and special musical service, First Universalist Church by the new quartette, Pasadena, Sunday, November 3, at 7:30 p.m. Organ, "Triumphal March" (Boggs); hymn 11, page 67; organ, "Fifth Sonata" (Mendelssohn); organ, "Ave Maria" (Millard); by Miss Williams; piano, "Rock of Ages" (Buck); address, "Music and Religion," the pastor; duet, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" (Lachner); by Miss Williams and Miss Ellis; organ offering, "Cantata" (Raff); new registration for organ; "Amen" (Boggs); hymn 8, time 56; organ, "Promised Land" (Edgar); B. Smith; benediction; All invited.

The ladies of All Saints' Guild will present November 8, at the opera house, a series of tableaux-vivants selected from the drawings of Gibson, the famous artist of life. The interpretations will be made by the young men and women of Pasadena, directed by a professor of elocution and stage. Tickets at Suesser's, 50 and 75 cents.

Nine dollars and a half for coal does not scare R. H. Pinney. He is after the trade. Call for his price. Telephone 71.

To make you feel right the rest of the day, order your ice-cream today of Christopher, No. 5 East Colorado. Telephone 119.

The Japan Tea Company is doing a big business in tea and coffee. Their goods are the best and guaranteed pure.

Order your ice-cream or water ices of "Hutchins'" phone 107. "Not how cheap, but how good."

You miss half your life until you get some of that delicious candy Christopher is selling at reduced prices.

Godber & Taylor, No. 7 West Colorado street, sell all kinds of wood.

Holiday's special sale yesterday was a hummer. Another one is set for Saturday.

The leader for low prices for coal is J. A. Jacobs. Try his Cerrillos anthracite and soft coal.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,

Los Angeles, Nov. 2, 1895.

BANK CLEARINGS. The bank clearances for the week ended today, as reported to The Times by the Los Angeles Clearing-house, are: Exchanges $160,563.25, balances $214,960.95. The amounts for the corresponding week of last year were: Exchanges $302,783.27, balances $137,519.32. This shows an increase of over 28 per cent for this week over that of last year.

The total business for the month of October was: Exchanges $5,316,344.96, balances $821,882.02. These figures show even a larger proportion of imports than the corresponding month of 1894 which is shown in the above weekly comparison. The figures for October, 1894, are: Exchanges $3,932,685.15, balances $677,645.75. This shows the increase for the month just ended to be more than 35 per cent greater than that of October, 1894.

COMMERCIAL.

BRANDIES. If decrease in the manufacture of brandy in California is any indication that the people are becoming sober, then the Prohibitionists and other temperance advocates should rejoice and be glad. Not at any time since the days of Uncle Sam have there been so small a quantity of brandy made as will be made this year. "Practically, there will be none made in Southern California," said Guy Parham, the internal revenue broker, "if you wish me to express it in figures, I will say that the total quantity of brandy made in Southern California this season will not exceed twenty thousand gallons."

There are two causes to account for this. The one is the short vintage of this year, the other and principal reason is that there are no more vines at present, nor are there likely to be for some considerable time to come. Sales of brandy have recently been made in the northern part of the State as low as 30 cents a gallon, ex revenue duty, in some cases 25 cents a gallon, and in a few large lots 20 cents a gallon.

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently tried in California. It is the cutting up the land and letting it to the neighbors who are preparing to let people know that he had such property for sale."

The article then proceeds to draw attention to one method of selling country which has not been sufficiently

ORANGE COUNTY.

A SPIRITED GAME OF FOOTBALL AT SANTA ANA.

Society Events Coming Thick and Fast in Orange County—Santa Ana Again Wins the Silver Cup, from Los Angeles—News Notes and Personal.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 2.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Occidentals of Los Angeles won the football game in this city today over the Santa Ana team by a score of 23 to 0.

The chrysanthemum-headed sports from the Angel City came down today and gave the Santa Ana football enthusiasts a most unmerciful drubbing, but the boys take it good naturedly, and say they are willing to try it again.

The game was played out on North Main street in the new athletic park, and the attendance was not what it should have been, but this, no doubt, was on account of the fact that the grounds are located some little distance from the center of the city and the further fact that a large number of the lovers of sport from this city and vicinity had gone to Los Angeles to see Silkwood, the pride of Orange county, get another drubbing, only in the fast time of 19½ to 0.

At 2 o'clock the Occidentals won the toss and Santa Ana opened out with a kick of thirty yards. The college boys ran right yard after yard, kicking a few punnishes. Ramsaur went through the center and made a touchdown. No goal was kicked and the visitors scored 4 to Santa Ana's nothing.

Santa Ana again kicked off for twenty-five yards and after several passes the college youths nodded their shaggy heads as they made another touchdown. This time a goal was kicked. The Occidentals scored 10 and again goose eggs adorned the credit column of the visitors.

An intermission of ten minutes was taken, after which the visiting boys kicked twenty-five yards, and after a five minutes' play another touchdown was scored and a goal was kicked by the Los Angeles players, the score still standing nothing for the local team, while the Occidentals had 16 to their credit.

The Santa Anans then started off again by kicking twenty-five yards, while the Occidentals of the Occidentals turned in a drubbing. Santa Ana then made a pretty play, securing the ball and kicking it fifteen yards to the goal, but the visitors then went them one better by taking it twenty-five yards down the field. Santa Ana then had the ball of the bag of wind for the visitors and ran down the line for thirty yards before he was ground down. Ramsaur bucked the line for ten yards and Murray went around the end for another five yards, but he was elegantly tackled by Farnsworth, the Santa Ana end, and was promptly downed. A little later Goodale scored another touchdown for the Occidentals on a tricky quarter-back play, the score now piling up to 22 for the visitors, to nothing for the home team.

Santa Ana again led off for the fifth time but after a few minutes more of playing time was called with the ball on the Santa Ana three-yard line, the score remaining 22 to nothing for the Occidentals.

Arrangements will probably soon be made for a return game.

The players and their positions were as follows:

Santa Ana—Mohrbaugh, center; Wilkinson, right guard; Young, left guard; Hill, right tackle; Edinger, left tackle; Fosseeck, right end; Price, left end; Nourse, quarter back; Cleaver, right half; Marks, left half; Goshen, full back.

Occidentals—Place, center; Howe, right guard; Salisbury, left guard; Ransdell, right tackle; J. Ramsaur, left tackle; Blackstone, right end; Murray, left end; Goodale, quarter back; Recio, right half; Marks, left half; W. Ramsaur, full back.

THE BICYCLE RACES.

There was a small attendance at the bicycle races today at the Athletic Park, the cause, no doubt, being on account of the fact that the races were held during the forenoon. This was rendered necessary on account of the park being engaged for the afternoon by the football teams.

The first race was a two-mile handicap for Orange county riders. Harry Bundy was the only scratch man. C. E. Torrey had a handicap of 50 yards. Ike Fields 100 yards. Will Foster 200 yards. Roscoe 250 yards. Walter Congdon 300 yards and Ed Gilmore of Anaheim 350 yards. Tom and Jim Finney won when the race was little more than half over and Bundy could not overtake the lesser lights, as they had too much of a start. Gilmore won the race by six feet. Congdon second and Wiltz third.

The two-mile lap race was "hot stuff" from start to finish, the race being principally between Conrad Crookshank and Milton Bastian. Whitted, Cone and Reed started, but they were all eliminated by the two principals. On the first trip Crookshank and Bastian tied with thirteen points each. Half an hour later the race was run off by the two, Crookshank winning by three lengths.

The one-mile tandem race was also interesting, with the team of Congdon and Whitted on a Rambler, with a handicap of 200 yards, went against Engel and Bastian on a Czar. The Rambler won easily in 2:16 3-5.

Next the races were to be in the afternoon as heretofore.

All the races are run by club members and are for practice only, no prizes being offered. Strong but friendly competition is arising among the riders and interest therefore is increasing at each of the practice runs.

SOCIETY EVENT AT TUSTIN.

There was a very pleasant society event at Tustin Thursday evening, which was enjoyed by a number of young ladies and gentlemen.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Miller, of Fall, gave a Hallowe'en party, and, of course, the usual pranks were made the order of the evening. The evening was most delightfully passed. Among those present were the following: Misses Harriet Bush, Laura Daffenderfer, Flora Thomas, Pearl Wall, Mrs. Newell, Lucy Nelson, Nannie Croster, Mabel Buss, Llewellyn Cartwell, Emma Holderman, Gertrude Daffenderfer, Messrs. Charles Ballard, E. L. Bowman, Roy Smith, Cooley Adams, Homer Bowman, Myrtle Adams, and Charlie Thomas, Will Wall, Nathan Cartwell, John Beebe and Perry Lewis.

PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE.

Entertainments are now coming thick and fast in Santa Ana. The winter season has opened up and with it the society events which have gone so far toward making Santa Ana an enviable local reputation for sociability.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fife and Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Ganson of this city gave a most delightful card party—program—six-hand euchre—at the home of the latter on East Fourth street, Friday evening to a large number of their friends. The guests were royally received, and after the programme, dinner was served.

The prize-winners were as follows: First gentleman's prize, a silver matchsafe, was first tied by Lynn L. Shaw and George A. Edgar, but Mr. Edgar won on the second cut. The second gentleman's prize, a silver six-pint plate, was Harry G. Davis. The first lady's prize, an elegant hand-painted dish, was captured by Mrs. George A. Edgar.

Among those present were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tedford, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dean, Mr. and Mrs. John Swanner, Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Menges, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seeger, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Edgar, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. L. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Rowley, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Spears of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Payne, Miss Jean Humphreys, Miss Rosa Boyd, Miss Belle Chilton, Dr. J. P. Boyd, Charles Chilton, J. R. Porter, H. J. Burwell, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fife and Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Garnett.

VISITORS ONCE MORE.

The team shoot this forenoon between the Santa Ana and Los Angeles gun clubs proved the most exciting of the contests in which they have engaged. The shooting was below the average of either team, but the score was close, that interest was constantly at the highest pitch. In the regular shoot for the silver cup both teams tied at 95 out of a possible 125. In the "shoot-off" Santa Ana won by the safe lead of 95 to 87, but not until the last shot was made.

At 2 o'clock the Occidentals won the toss and Santa Ana opened out with a kick of thirty yards. The college boys ran right yard after yard, kicking a few punnishes. Ramsaur went through the center and made a touchdown. No goal was kicked and the visitors scored 4 to Santa Ana's nothing.

Santa Ana again kicked off for twenty-five yards and after several passes the college youths nodded their shaggy heads as they made another touchdown. This time a goal was kicked.

The Occidentals scored 10 and again goose eggs adorned the credit column of the visitors.

An intermission of ten minutes was taken, after which the visiting boys kicked twenty-five yards, and after a five minutes' play another touchdown was scored and a goal was kicked by the Los Angeles players, the score still standing nothing for the local team, while the Occidentals had 16 to their credit.

The Santa Anans then started off again by kicking twenty-five yards, while the Occidentals of the Occidentals turned in a drubbing. Santa Ana then made a pretty play, securing the ball and kicking it fifteen yards to the goal, but the visitors then went them one better by taking it twenty-five yards down the field. Santa Ana then had the ball of the bag of wind for the visitors and ran down the line for thirty yards before he was ground down. Ramsaur bucked the line for ten yards and Murray went around the end for another five yards, but he was elegantly tackled by Farnsworth, the Santa Ana end, and was promptly downed. A little later Goodale scored another touchdown for the Occidentals on a tricky quarter-back play, the score now piling up to 22 for the visitors, to nothing for the home team.

Santa Ana again led off for the fifth time but after a few minutes more of playing time was called with the ball on the Santa Ana three-yard line, the score remaining 22 to nothing for the Occidentals.

Arrangements will probably soon be made for a return game.

The players and their positions were as follows:

Santa Ana—Shoot 1. Shoot 2. Hauerwass. 18 20 Van Valkenburg 25 21 Farnsworth 19 18 Matfield. 11 15 Breer. 16 13

Total 95 97

Santa Ana—Shoot 1. Shoot 2. Vaughn 22 19 Farnsworth 17 19 Matfield. 11 15 Breer. 16 13

Total 95 95

It is generally believed that Riverdale is not in the race, not only not coming down, as they would have had a great opportunity to win the cup over the shooting put up today. Clarence Parker, of the Santa Ana team, one of the best shots in Southern California, was so ill with a severe cold that he could not go to the meet, and the Los Angeles team, Leighton, one of its most reliable men, was absent, and Breer was substituted for him. Van Valkenburg's remarkable score of twenty-five straight in the first shot, however, saved his team from defeat, but he fell down to twenty-one on the shoot-off.

ORANGE COUNTY BREVIETIES.

A rancher by the name of S. H. Wallace at Newport has disappeared quite mysteriously. He has been employed some time by Mrs. H. Wakeham on her ranch, which previously borne a good reputation. The fact is, this week he took a load of hogs to Los Angeles and up to the time of his departure he had not turned over the money.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Main-street Methodist Episcopal Church were delightfully entertained Friday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ganson, 1111 Main street. The parlors of the house were beautifully decorated and Mr. and Mrs. Wright proved themselves to be capital entertainers.

Word was received in Santa Ana to day that Oscar Ingram, the boy who shot in the neck in the back of Mr. Farnsworth, was well and went to the day before, and that there were fears that he might not recover. He still has ten "double B" shot in his back.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

Significant Star-chamber Proceedings on the Water Question.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 2.—(Regular Correspondence.) The star-chamber proceedings of the Council Joint Water Committee in considering what steps should be taken toward acquiring a city water system, Friday night, aroused indignation and increased suspicion in the minds of the taxpayers. The people believe they should know what their representatives are doing, especially so since the sudden unanimity of the Council in favor of the Southern California Mountain Water Company's proposition has been announced and attempts at secrecy have been made. Gen. Eli H. Murray presented himself at the committee room door. Friday, but was refused admittance. Other citizens were turned in the same way. The action of the Water Committee is considered significant. It causes citizens to recall the statement of Thursday in the National Review: "The action of the Water Committee, which was not only the most natural, but also the most reasonable, was to demand that the water schemes, and which in dictum was never followed up, be referred to a committee of three, which is very naturally sensitive when star-chamber proceedings are introduced into the discussion of this water matter."

SAN DIEGO BREVIETIES.

Gen. W. H. Anderson of Santa Ana will leave Monday for Hemet, Riverside county, to remain for an indefinite time. Mr. Penrod goes to develop some of his mineral interests.

Miss Edna Bristol entertained a number of young friends at the home of her parents on the corner of Spurz and Ninth streets, Friday evening.

Miss Ella Pope, who has been visiting Mrs. W. H. Anderson of Santa Ana for the past several weeks, has returned to her home in Peris, Riverside county.

A fine entertainment was given by the local colored ladies on the 6th and afternoon of Wednesday, the 6th. Sale of work, refreshments, etc.

Mrs. P. B. Spears of Los Angeles is in Santa Ana, visiting her sister, Mrs. Dr. Garnett, and other relatives for a week or ten days.

Judge John Lane of Garden Grove was a passenger to Los Angeles today. Saturday—Silkwood day—on business.

W. M. Martin of Ventura county has been spending a week or ten days in Santa Ana and vicinity on business and pleasure.

Mrs. Greenleaf, mother of B. B. Greenleaf of Santa Ana, from San Luis Obispo, is in the city visiting her son and family.

Miss Anna Matthews of Los Angeles is in Santa Ana, the guest of her sister, Mrs. George W. Doremus, for a week or ten days.

W. H. Bowers of Santa Ana has won a four-acre ranch in the peat lands west of the city, to Ben F. Davis, for $5000.

Miss May Binford has returned to Santa Ana from a four month's visit with friends and relatives in Salem, Oregon.

Mrs. L. H. Mills has returned to Santa Ana from a brief business trip to Cucamonga, Los Angeles county.

Taz Hartlin has returned to Indio, from a visit of several weeks with friends and relatives in Santa Ana.

Jacob Stern of Anaheim was today made a citizen of the United States by Superior Judge Towner.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Deaver of Santa Ana, Tuesday, October 23, a daughter.

WHY DOES EVERYBODY WANT

F. M. Brown's hot-air furnace? Because it is the cheapest and best, and a Los Angeles production. Sold at No. 34 South Spring street.

EDICALONINE has never yet failed in the care of piles. Try it.

MRS. C. N. SMITH, hairdressing, manicuring, Rooms 9 and 10, Muskegon, Broadway and Third.

EVERY one wants the best. When ordering Cocoas or Chocolates be sure and ask for Huyler's.

VENTURA COUNTY.

Municipal Politics Warming Up—The Bean Crop.

VENTURA, Nov. 2.—(Regular Correspondence.) The regular town election day, and November 12 will be the last day on which candidates for the various city offices can make legal announcement of their candidacy. The interest so far displayed has been of the quiet order. The Town Trustees five in number, want to succeed themselves and are quietly working to that end. There will be no nomination meeting on election day.

The Republican City Committee adjourned to 1887, which renders party action as to the city election impossible, as a majority of the committee are opposed to party lines being drawn. The town taxpayers will have a better chance for protection from a non-partisan city government, than would be possible if outside issues were introduced in the short campaign following the nomination. The various party doctrines would of necessity be subject for discussion and local issues forgotten if strict party lines were drawn.

The fact that the water question has been so prominent before the people during the past six months leads to the conclusion that water and light will be made issues. The water company disclaims any intention of taking active and professed to be perfectly willing to do the best for the welfare of the town. The water company has given preference as to who may or may not be elected Trustees.

For the office of Town Clerk, F. J. Newby, the incumbent, is making an active campaign among his friends and family connections, though as yet no serious opposition has developed. The Library Trustees will, it is conceded, be renominated, as their administration has given general satisfaction.

CROP PROSPECTS.

The bean farmers are in clover as the harvest is now completed, and no damage done by rain. Prices at Hueneme are quoted as follows: Lima, $12 to $25, according to size; small white, $14 to $25; pink and Bayos, $11 to $12; blackeyes, $1.75 to $1.85. The demand for good beans is downward tendency.

VENTURA BREVIETIES.

The bean farmers are in clover as the harvest is now completed, and no damage done by rain. Prices at Hueneme are quoted as follows: Lima, $12 to $25, according to size; small white, $14 to $25; pink and Bayos, $11 to $12; blackeyes, $1.75 to $1.85. The demand for good beans is downward tendency.

Jack Haigh, reported missing from the Tappo Ranch and supposed to have committed suicide, turned up all right, with the explanation that he "just wanted solitude and went off into the mountains to find it."

David Taylor, or as he was best known, "Grandpa Taylor," aged 78 years, and who was one of the best known and most respected citizens in this county, died suddenly last night. He was buried on Friday morning.

Jack Haigh, reported missing from the Tappo Ranch and supposed to have committed suicide, turned up all right, with the explanation that he "just wanted solitude and went off into the mountains to find it."

THE PRACTICAL POLICE.

Jack Haigh, reported missing from the Tappo Ranch and supposed to have committed suicide, turned up all right, with the explanation that he "just wanted solitude and went off into the mountains to find it."

THE PRACTICAL POLICE.

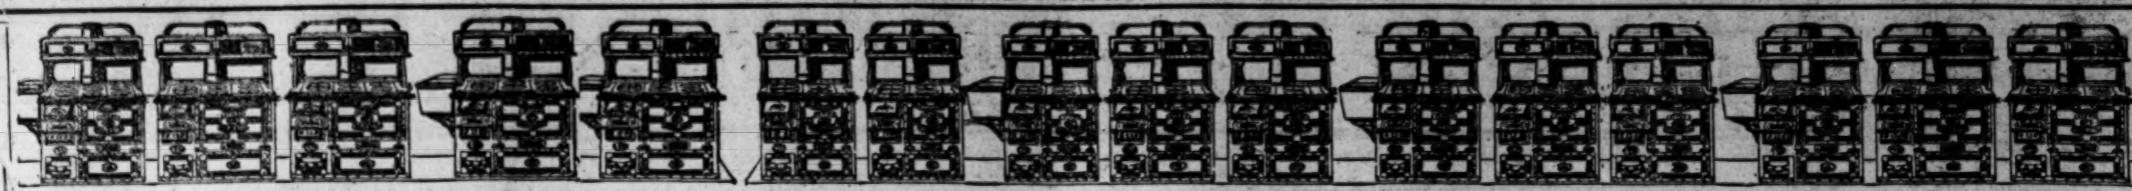

Jack Haigh, reported missing from the Tappo Ranch and supposed to have committed suicide, turned up all right, with the explanation that he "just wanted solitude and went off into the mountains to find it."

THE PRACTICAL POLICE.

Jack Haigh, reported missing from the Tappo Ranch and supposed to have committed suicide, turned up all right, with the explanation that he "just wanted solitude and went off into the mountains to find it."

THE PRACTICAL POLICE.

Jack Haigh, reported missing from the Tappo Ranch and supposed to have committed suicide, turned up all right, with the explanation that he "just wanted solitude

COMMENCING TOMORROW
NOVEMBER 4, AND CONTINUING ONE WEEK,

Grand New Opening

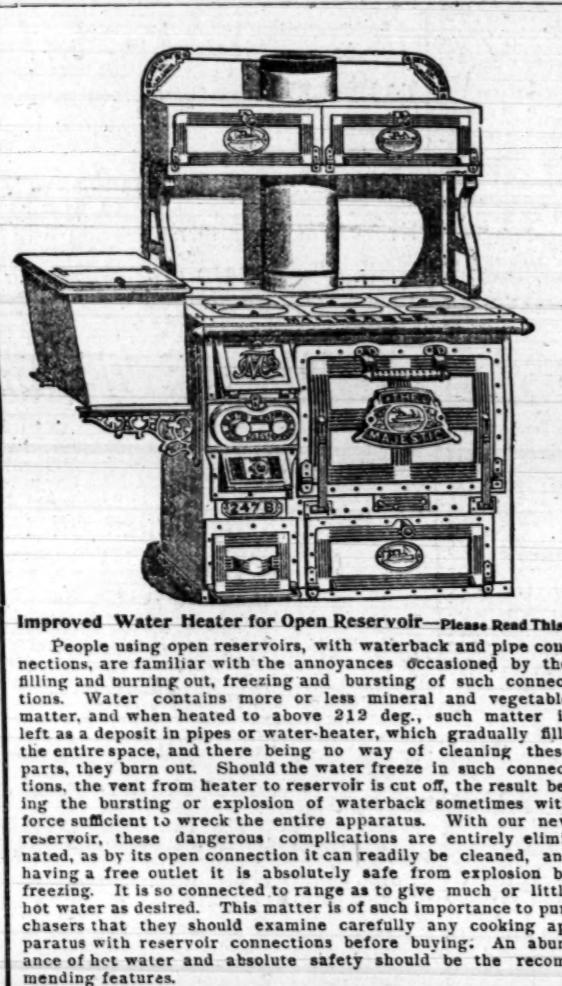

A SPECIAL INVITATION is given to every lady and gentleman in this city and vicinity to see the cooking exhibit now being conducted at our store, by representatives of the Majestic Manufacturing Company, on their great Steel and Malleable Iron Range.

The prudent wife is interested always in the economics of the household, and in whatever tends to lessen labor. With a MAJESTIC in the kitchen, fully one-half of the fuel is saved, no food is wasted, no repairs are needed, the greatest abundance of hot water is supplied, and the kitchen, instead of being an annoyance, is made the pleasure of the household.

High Closet Given Away During the Exhibition.

A Full Line of Hotel Goods Kept in Stock.

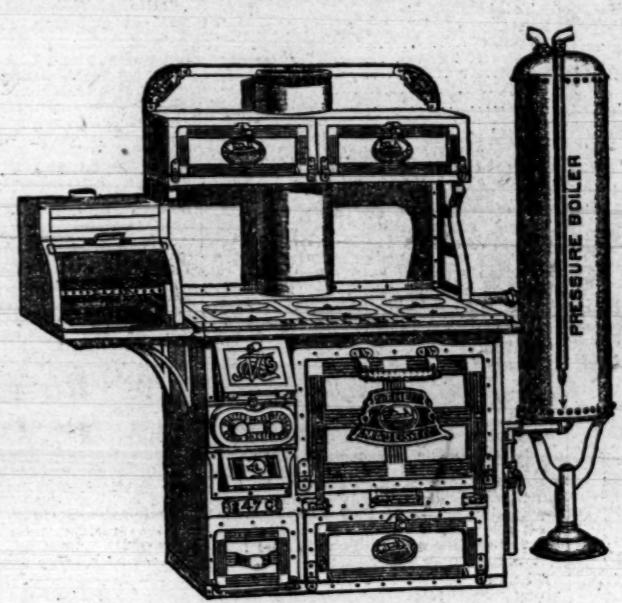

People using open reservoirs, with waterback and pipe connections, are familiar with the annoyances occasioned by the filling and burning out, freezing and bursting of such connections. Water contains more or less mineral and vegetable matter, and when heated to above 212 deg., such matter is left as a deposit in pipes or water-heater, which gradually fills the entire space, and there being no way of cleaning these parts, they burn out. Should the water freeze in such connections, the heat from heater to reservoir cuts off the result being the bursting or explosion of water-back sometimes with force sufficient to wreck the entire apparatus. With our new reservoirs these dangerous complications are entirely eliminated, as by its open connection it can readily be cleaned, and having a free outlet it is absolutely safe from explosion by freezing. It is so connected to range as to give much or little hot water as desired. This matter is of such importance to purchasers that they should examine carefully any cooking apparatus with reservoir connections before buying. An abundance of hot water and absolute safety should be the commanding features.

MAJESTIC PARLOR IN OUR STORE.

Biscuit, Butter and Coffee and Tea and Fancy Cakes.

Majestic Range NO. 247 C.

Shows 12-inch charcoal broiler and pressure boiler attached. These attachments can be had separately, or if both are used, can be reversed to suit the location of Range or convenience of the cook, and can be connected with Ranges 238, 241, 244, 247, 250 and 258. In ordering, give the number of Range wanted, and say "with connections as on Range 247-C," or name the connection, as wanted.

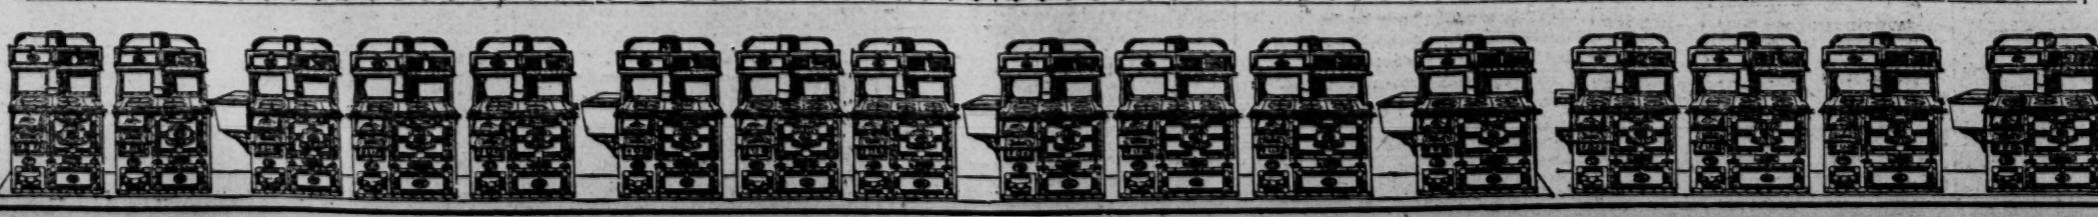

Majestic Range No. 247 G.

Is a combination for coal and gas, to be operated separately or together. The Cook is fitted in water-front to supply hot water for both bath and kitchen uses. Top surface 39x12 inches, six 8-inch holes. Oven 20 inches wide, 32 inches deep, 18 inches high. Upper broiler oven, lower pilot oven, double diagonal grates; burns coal or wood; sectional fire lining, flues lined with asbestos board. Gas Range has top surface 39x12 inches, the single burner, double. Oven 18 inches wide, 21 inches deep, 18 inches high. Lower broiler oven 18 inches wide, 21 inches deep, 7 inches high. Upper roasting oven 18 inches wide, 14 inches deep, 10 inches high. Combining top cooking surface, 39 inches wide, 60 inches long. Made in two sizes—the one as shown; the other, one size smaller.

Harper & Reynolds Co.

152 and 154 NORTH MAIN STREET, 151 and 153 NORTH LOS ANGELES STREET

XIVth YEAR

LAST STRUGGLE OF THE SIOUX.

MAJ.-GEN. MILES TELLS THE STORY OF HIS ENCOUNTER WITH LAME DEER.

The General's Narrow Escape from Death at Lame Deer's Hand—A Notable Episode in Indian Fighting—Hiding in a Pocket of the Mountain.

A Charge Up the Valley—An Uncertain Mount.

Recognition from Gen. Sherman.

From "New England to the Golden Gate."

(NOTE.—This paper will form a portion of a series to be published by Gen. Miles entitled, "From New England to the Golden Gate.")

The campaigns against the combined tribes composing the Sioux, or Dakotah nation, had been prosecuted with such vigor and success through the latter half of 1876 and the early part of 1877, that by spring, 1877, all except one band had been brought into complete and final subjection. Lame Deer's band was still on the war-path, and that doughty chief had boasted that no force strong enough to beat him in battle could overtake him or come near his camp in his own chosen fastnesses. So, while proper dispositions were being made of those Indians who had surrendered, a command was being equipped to teach Lame Deer and his band that the white man could approach his villages.

After their people had surrendered and conditions had been restored, it was appointed the White Wolf (The Ice) Brave Wolf, Hump and others who acted as hostages at the camp, now Fort Keogh, that it was very important that the only hostile camp in the country should be brought in. They acquiesced fully, and in fact seemed much incensed because Lame Deer had stayed out knowing light with their sweetest melodies. They had been going to some peaceful festival, the scene could not have been more propitious.

The dismounted troops were unable to follow at the rapid pace that the mounted command now found necessary to take in order to enable them to reach the immediate vicinity of the Indians just at dawn or as near that as possible. The camp was on a tributary of the Rosebud, known to the white men as the Big Muddy, but called by the Indians "The Horse Creek." The Indians knew it this way because in spring the grass there was so abundant and rich that their horses feeding upon it always grew strong and fat.

A CHARGE UP THE VALLEY.

The mounted infantry and scouts under Lieuts. Casey and Jerome were ordered to charge directly up the valley and stampede the Indian horses, while the battalion of cavalry followed at a gallop and attacked the camp.

This attack was gallantly made. The command stampeded the entire band, ponies, horses and mules, some 450 in number, and drove them five miles up the valley, where they rounded them up and by a long circuit brought them around to the rear of the command which was encamping Indians.

When attacked, the Indians fled from their camp, taking only what they carried in their hands, up among the high bluffs and rugged hills in that vicinity. Firing was now going on all about us.

HAND TO HAND WITH LAME DEER.

In the surprise and excitement of the wild onset of the charge a group of stalwart warriors were forced out from the others and became separated from the rest of the tribe. Before making the attack had ordered our Sioux and Cheyenne Indians that if they should down their arms and surrendered we would spare their lives, as I was anxious to capture some of them alive and hoped thereby to secure the surrender of all the Indians in the camp. As we passed through the camp camp of warriors they apparently recognized the purport of the demand and dropped their arms upon the ground.

In order to assure them of our good will I called out "How-ho-wa" (greeting) and extended my hand to Chief Lame Deer, which he grasped, and in a few seconds more I would have secured him and the others, although he was wild and trembling with excitement. My assistant, Adj.-Gen. George W. H. Ward, was doing the same with the head warrior, Iron Star. Unfortunately just at that time one of our white scouts rode up and joined the group of officers and soldiers with me; he had more enthusiasm than discretion, and, I presume, desiring to impress me, drew his rifle and covered the Indian with it.

Lame Deer saw this, and evidently thought the young scout was going to shoot him. I know of no other motive but that he was killed, killed whether he surrendered or not. As quick as thought, with one desperate powerful effort, he wrenched his hand from mine, although I tried to hold it. He grasped his rifle from the ground, ran a few steps, raised his rifle to his eye and fired. Since his determined face, his firm-set jaw, and the open muzzle of his rifle, I realized my danger and instinctively whirled my horse from him, and in this quick movement the horse slightly settled in the saddle. At that moment the rifle flashed within my breast, the bullet whizzed past my head, leaving me unharmed, but unfortunately killing a brave soldier near my side. Iron Star broke away from Adj.-Gen. Ward at the same time.

This instant, in another effort to secure their peaceful surrender, I opened a hot fight that lasted but a few seconds; a dozen rifles and revolvers were opened on the scattered warriors who were fighting us, and all went down quiet beneath the accurate, close and rapid fire. The whole incident was over in much less time than it takes to describe the scene.

TAKING POSSESSION OF LAME DEER'S CAMP.

Although it rained during a part of the night we marched as rapidly as possible in a country of that broken character, a distance of some thirty miles to a high divide between the Rosebud and Bighorn, and out of the Wolf's Den mountains. Here we concealed ourselves in a pocket of the mountains.

There the camp was set up, and after fully reconnoitering the country, they found that the camp of Lame Deer had passed only a few days before. Both the white scouts and the Indians performed their duties thoroughly, and from the top of high peak they discovered the Indian camp, some fifteen miles in the distance.

HIDING IN A POCKET OF THE MOUNTAIN.

The main object of our expedition being now accomplished, and not desiring to risk any more lives in an encounter, we turned back and bivouacked at Lame Deer's camp, which was one of the richest I had ever seen. It was composed of fifty-one beautiful lodges, richly stored with robes, horse equipments, and other articles of Indian property.

Whatever was desired in the camp was taken possession of and the remainder burned up. The herd of horses was sick, strong and in excellent condition.

During the engagement, Maj. Dickey, by a forced march moving to the sound of the guns, came up with his infantry command, and on the morning following commenced the greatest circus I have ever witnessed. One hundred and fifty men and two hundred ponies were selected with which to mount our troops. The Fifth Infantry was afterwards completely equipped in this way, and on the frontier was sometimes called the Eleventh Cavalry, there being but one cavalry regiment in the army organization. Among the 150 were some of the Seventh Cavalry horses that had been captured at the Big Horn massacre, and those with the brave "Seventh U. S." were quickly secured. The infantry soldiers who did not regard themselves as expert horsemen.

How to get to this camp was the next question. It was impossible to approach it during the daytime, so the command was concealed until night, and then moved out to the prairie to range and down another, all the time keeping under cover of the hills in a way not to be discovered. Thus we approached to a point within eight miles of the village, where we remained until 1 o'clock the next morning. The we moved slowly to the valley of the Rosebud, and then up that valley for two or three miles, and at 4 o'clock a.m., May 7, and just as the dawn of day we found ourselves in close proximity to the Indian village.

AN UNCERTAIN MOUNT.

Still, many of the men succeeded in mounting, and in place of spurs used the Indian "quolt," a stick about a foot long with a rawhide lash. These met with much difficulty, and the derisive remarks to their more fortunate mates were equal to most of the complaints I have heard on the stump or under canvas. Some of the ponies would

SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 3, 1895.

MONTANA'S REIGN OF TERROR.

HOW THE FIRST CONVICTION AND EXECUTION OF A MURDERER WAS EFFECTED IN THE TERRITORY.

Some Stories of the Vigilantes as Related by their Leader, Ex-Senator Wilbur Fiske Sanders, to Rufus R. Wilson—The Vigilantes Organize and Begin Their Work—The Arrest and Execution of Slade.

(From a Special Contributor to The Times.)

not allow a white man to sit upon them; others, as far as the mous or Indians could rope them, would submit to being bridled and saddled, and with the help of one or two men the infantrymen would mount; whereupon the pony would double up like a ball, make a bound into the air, and then down stiff-legged, and jump about over the prairie, as some one described it, in every direction at the same time. In this way the soldier's hat would be first to fall, before many minutes he would follow suit, and then frequently the pony would turn and stand and freed himself from the saddle, or sometimes he would gallop around over the prairie and come back to the herd with the saddle underneath.

One hundred and fifty soldiers on the same field, endeavoring to mount the number of ponies created a wild scene of excitement which was not only humorous, but also somewhat dangerous; fortunately they did not have far to fall, and the ground was covered with a heavy crop of green grass.

This scene continued until the command was so fatigued that the ponies and infantry had become better acquainted; then we took up our return march back to the cantonment.

As soon as the herd was brought back and secured another expedition was sent out to follow up the trail of the Indians and search the country for detached parties or bands. This plan was continued by detachments under Capt. Hall of the Second Cavalry, Maj. Lazelle, Maj. Brisbin and Capt. Snyder, who reconnoitered and secured a part of the Yellow Stone, the Indians scattering as rapidly as they could travel. This course was continued during the months of June, July and August, the Indians in scattering bands, retreating as rapidly as possible, to ward off their agencies when possible.

On the 5th and 10th of September, and again the 1st of October, we cleared the region of country for all time of the presence and depre-ations of the Sioux Indians.

THE CLIMATE AND THE COUNTRY.

While winter in this part of the country is severe, and the snowfall is occasionally very deep, yet winter is usually of short duration, and as a general thing spring opens early. In fact, in Western Montana snow remains upon the ground a very short time. The western winds "chimoo winds," as they are called, coming from the cold north, sweep through the passes of the mountains and over the territory of Montana, tempering the climate to a remarkable degree. These warm western winds sometimes absorb a foot of snow in twenty-four hours or within the space of a week. The grasses are very strong, as soon as the snow disappears they begin to spring up. In fact, in some of the warm valleys life remains in the grass that is protected by the snow.

The climate and country produced as many physical specimens of the human race as have ever been found on this continent. They were tall, fine specimens of the Indian type, and were brave, dignified and stalwart, possessing many manly qualities. In diplomatic sagacity, in resource, in grace and impressiveness, and in their wild condition were indomitable. When they could move from one valley to another, or camp beside some spring with plants of fresh grass and green foliage, their habits were much better than those have been since they were compelled to live at one place or in some agency.

The women were strong and healthy, many of them good looking and very Indian in features, and a most jolly lot of people that I have ever known. They were always chatting, laughing, joking and singing among themselves, and playing games with their children, and often having banquets to their friends for the entertainment of their friends and themselves.

The climate of that country was most invigorating, and the atmosphere gave a feeling of strength, courage and energy. Men there seemed willing to undertake any enterprise, having a sense of confidence and resolution that one does not have in a more languid climate. It is fair to say that the same vigorous climate and all of nature's influences are to blame for the white race.

It has produced an Indian race that will be equal to any in the same zone in strength, character and fortitude. In fact, it has already been demonstrated that some of the strongest and most heroic regiments produced the most efficient and courageous troops ever sent from Minnesota and Wisconsin, the First Minnesota standing at the very head.

While the Indians were being driven south to their agency, a detachment of the Twelfth Cavalry and Infantry, which was engaged in this work, suddenly received orders by telegraph to proceed by forced marches to Bismarck, Dak., and from there by railroad to Chicago, where possible to the city of Chicago, where they were to be mustered into the army.

These men were to be mustered into the army for the purpose of protecting the miners of the West.

Correspondence was inaugurated between Bannock and Virginia City, and a surveillance placed over all travel between these points. So effective was this system that these two Indian cohorts were in some intelligible manner marked to designate them as objects of plunder, and in this way members of the gang were notified by their spies, often employed by the very own Indians, of the time to prevent the escape of their victim. Each member of the gang was armed with a pair of revolvers, double-barrelled shotgun with a large bore, the barrels cut short off, and a dagger or bowie-knife.

The Indians were to be mustered into the army, and dismounted, and disarmed with muskets and blankets, the road-agents awaited their victims in ambush, from which, on approach of a conveyance, they would spring forth, and covering the Indians with their rifles, would force them to alight and throw up their hands. If this order was not instantly obeyed, sudden death followed. Otherwise the travelers would be disarmed, and made to throw their wealth upon the ground, and then the Indians, with a search for concealed property, they would permit the despoiled passengers to proceed on their way, while they themselves rode rapidly in an opposite direction. Whenever a new settlement was made, and new discoveries of the precious metals made, these followed the bandits, until their operations spread in all directions. In fifteen months they killed more than a hundred men, whose bodies were scattered about the country in many others, whose remains were never recovered, and stole sums aggregating a quarter of a million dollars. In their idle moments they fired at helpless women merely to frighten them, in sheer wantonness, but never harmed them.

It was during this time that the Indians had been forced to go to the agencies for food and protection, or were fed across the border into British territory.

(Copyright, 1895, by Gen. Nelson A. Miles. All rights reserved.)

THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

It's a sad old world when the sun don't shine, but there's no use repining'. There's a bright, new spot where the roses twine.

An' love when the sun aint shinin'.

An' the winds may blow.

An' the lightning's killin'.

In the country still!

DOG DANDIES.

FASHIONABLE FRILLS AND FUR-BELOWES FOR LADIES' PETS.

On Fifth Avenue at Dress Parade All self-respecting Dogs Wear Huge Muffs and Bouquets of Flowers.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES)

It would be both partial and inaccurate to give the autumn the palm of fashionables popularity to pet dogs of any special breed or color, because to day that which marks the smart dog among his lesser felons is the whereabouts he is arrayed. Bull and fox terriers, dandies and dachshunds, pugs and wire-haired Scotch terriers, among the small canines, are equally favorites; but after being put in possession of the dog she wanted the feminine owner now hurries the astonished little animal off to once to her tailor. Faithful Fido is then helped onto a tabby and his master takes his suitcase with outside wraps. If Fido is a pink-faced, bluet-nosed Bull terrier his blanket is made of dark green silk corduroy of heavy damson

MORNING TOILETS.

colored cloth, lined with satin of the same shade and bound with dark green of damson suede. It circles the neck, catches bow and chest with three small ornaments, fits well down over the loins and is furthermore held by a suede or patent-leather strap, that circles his whole body and holds on one side with handsome silver buckle. This coat must fit as accurately as that of his mistress does, for "the lady, by the way, wears a piece of her own gown, and it sometimes shows the initials in silver thread worked in one corner. Just up near the throat, on the left-hand side, the tailor is ordered to work a button-hole and fix a rubber strap, for there every morning and afternoon is fastened Fido's boutonniere of carnations. But his dogship's wardrobe does not end here, for in case of weddings he must have a suitable garment most particularly nice in case it is his mistress's wedding. Then the blanket is of pure white corduroy, bound with same ribbon, while a wide ribbon tied about his body holds a nosegay of real orange blossoms or the same sort of flowers carried in the bridal bouquet. On this occasion he wears around his neck a thickly-quilted ruche of white satin ribbon in place of his collar, and along the same manner he wears a favor of some sort from the groom. This is apt to be a locket with canine sentiments engraved on it and a picture of his

CALLING COSTUMES.

tress engraved inside, or one of those marvellously luxurious dog-collars of white suede, studded with silver knobs and caught with a patent clasp. Decorated with a pretty miniature. Besides his regular attire, Fido has a half dozen fancy dress neck fixtures meant for carriage and visiting wear. They are made of quilted ribbon or even of mirror velvet, and a familiar sight of Fifth Avenue in New York is a handsome ferocious-looking brindle bulldog who trots at his mistress' heels, wearing a huge rosette of green velvet on his collar and in the center of the rosette is pinned a big red rose. Sometimes his collar is a folded band of velvet with two big rosettes, one under each ear and a little knot of violets pinned in the center with. Right behind the mischievous boy follows the lady's Scotch terrier, an ugly, sandy-haired little animal, whose blankets are always the latest fashions from Paris. They are of stout faille, dark brown, green or blue, and each one displays a smart lace pocket from which peeps out a dainty colored handkerchief, in one of the corners of which shows his embroidered initials.

FANNY ENDERS.

Away back in 1841 the Great Western Railroad of England agreed to stop all trains ten minutes at Swindon, if "the party in the second, third, and fourth classes" would pay for the right of running trains past Swindon if it wished.

SAVE YOUR FACE!

Age, sickness, over-work, trouble—those are the enemies of woman's dearest treasure, her beauty.

LOLA MONTEZ CREME.

A great scientific discovery—food for the skin, a tonic, a restorative, a tonic, filling out wrinkles, causing nothing to the skin but health and vigor, and making it the most unhealthily and discolored and to assume the beautiful transparency and purity of the skin. Price, $1.00 per ounce, lasting three months. 75c. All Druggists.

MRS. NETTIE HARRISON, BEAUTY DOCTOR.

40 & 42 GEARY ST. SAN FRANCISCO.

For sale by H. M. Sale & Son, 220 S. Spring St., Los Angeles. C. P. Heinze, 228 N. Main St., Los Angeles.

WINTER FROCKS.

ELEGANT NEW MODELS FOR GOWNS AND COATS.

Pompadour and Antoinette Rivalry. An Incident of the Great Worth and a Famously Rich American Woman.

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—It is mostly in matters of detail that Fashion is just now occupying herself, main features of early winter costumes differing in no great degree from those of autumn clothes. Sleeves continue to drop, until now the chief budge may be said to be at the elbow; and skirts are still very wide and as much godeted as ever, only admitting sometimes, in very dressy instances, of an elaborate and fantastic decoration. This decoration may be either wide or narrow, a foot wide or even wider, the edges to the knee or else in the shape of a trimmings for description. It may also, with taste, be in an entirely different hue and texture from the gown, but commonly matches the revers of the bodies and long cuffs of the sleeves.

VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS.

A trimmed design for a silk skirt is cialist will tell you, must be always in sprays or bouquets, though it may be either brocaded or imprinted, printed in the shadowy fashion of chine silk.

Marie Antoinette must be primarily a pink, blue or white ground. The flowerings come in the shape of garlands twisted into wreaths all over the striped weave and tied with love-knots, or else covering the stripes may-pot fashion.

Again, there may be small flowers scattered over the striped background, or prim buds with stiff stem and leaves, or else tiny tight bouquets of silk.

But over it all will run that magic ribbon that foolish ribbon is known to be, and the spangles more than anything else of long dead Marie Antoinette, and that, perhaps, was one of the tell-tales to bring her little neck to the guillotine.

Who knows? Ribbons have always been considered the symbol of extravagance and light-heartedness—and poor Marie even tied them in the handles of her milk-pails or around the necks of her sheep when she chose to play ferriere.

But to continue.

THE NEW COATS.

In the coat, with the big fur collar, pictured, is demonstrated the present all-embracing fancy for short tails and loose effects. Pale brown Kersey cloth, and natural raccoon fur, are the materials employed; and, as with all the other coat, to be genuine, of orateness can be made by combining different widths.

WEIRD COMBINATION.

It is a tale of many colors that tells the back-turned bodice with the square hat and long veil. In design it seems, simple and familiar enough—except that the backs of bodices were never as much trimmed as now; but it is remarkable to know how to combine before, and which now come together with unchallenged license.

This bodice proper is in black serge, as rough and heavy as a young blanket. The yoke, collar and double epaulettes are of white velvet; the long cuff buttons are of the same, and the long veil over which is gathered black silk muslin. Then with this there are bands of rich yellow lace—one at the front shaped into a pleat and fastened down with diamonds and sapphire buttons, and a belt and collar of black mousse-de-sole.

Was ever a garment madder?

A PERSISTENT ARTIST.

Moreover it is strongly suggestive of an idea on the dressmaker's part to use up old scraps of stuff; so it calls to mind a good story told of the late M. Worth on the same subject.

The lady in hand was an American,

A NOVELTY IN FURS.

more famed for her dollars than good looks, and Worth was going through the agony of making her beautiful. Suddenly a sensible maid, who was of silk from the floor, an unrolled bow, and twisting it into a knot, slumped it at the lady's knee.

"There," he said, "that bow is magnificent at the knee. I will make it the fashion."

"I won't have it," said the lady, whereupon Worth turned the silk into a different shaped knot and pinned it to her bust with the same speech, "I will make it the fashion."

Again, the same knot, unpleasing to the dame, so after one budge after another, had danced all over her body, with the same result, the great general of clothes put the piece of silk in his pocket and beat a hasty vanquished retreat.

But back to the story. The coat, with the fine gown came a bandeau and knot for the hair, marked 30 francs, and inscribed with these words: "I shall make these bandeaux the fashion."

It was the same bow!

NINA FITCH.

MOUNTING PHOTOGRAPHS.

Economical Way of Preserving Summer Souvenirs.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES)

Among the treasures which the summer girl brings home with her none give her more pleasure than the photographs she has accumulated; nor do any souvenirs cause a greater amount of worry, that is, if they are unmounted, and "what shall I do with them?" becomes a perplexing question.

Of course, they can be taken to a professional, who does mounting for a consideration, but the sum of the bill is not a pleasing sequel, and more often than not the pictures are lost to memory, are lost sight of in the dim obscurity of a table drawer.

There is a way, a home-made way, to mount photographs, which proves so satisfactory if carefully undertaken, with due amount of time and patience the owner, in that it seems worth while to suggest it.

Cut some moderately stout cardboard in the sizes you require, place your picture on the card where you wish it to be mounted, and put a pencil mark where each corner comes. A large table and a pair of compasses are needed and a pot of gelatine. This is much better than mucilage or paste. It should be melted and the pot in which it stands placed in another one of hot water, which should be renewed from time to time.

A small sponge, tied to the end of a stick, is used to apply the gelatine. One advantage of gelatine is that if an album becomes worn out, the photographs can easily be removed by soaking the pages in hot water; it also does not leave any little gets over the edges of the pictures.

A second basin of hot water is also required with a small sponge, floating in it.

Now take the first photograph, and spread it as well as you can face upward, on your newspaper. Dip the face thoroughly with hot water, rubbing it gently with the sponge. The photograph will soon lie flat instead of rolled up; then turn it over, back upward, and apply the gelatine with a sponge, taking care that the whole is covered. The picture may now be taken and placed boldly in position in the album, the pencil marks made before being used as guides.

In order that the mounting may be done in one entire stroke, this placing in position should be done at one motion and the photograph should not be moved afterwards.

To fix the photograph in its place, dab it with a soft towel or large cloth, dabbing at the center and working outwards. Do not let it get moist. The dampening of the photograph with water and gelatine will be found to have expanded it somewhat, so that the pencil marks made before must be used as guides to its position rather than as indications of the exact position. The result will be that the photograph is quite flat, it will be lumpy.

However well the photograph is mounted, it is almost certain at first to be covered with small blisters, and you will think that it is spoiled. In the process of drying, however, all these disappear and the surface becomes perfectly smooth and even and you begin to wonder why you have never tried your hand before at this work. Indeed, such a pleasing and satisfactory employment is it, that you wonder why you ever did anything else but mount photographs.

ELEANOR LEXINGTON.

William O. Grover, widely known as the inventor of the Grover & Baker safety razor, has been born in Beverly, Mass., at the age of 72. He was a fortune out of his invention, while still a young man and at once retired from business, devoting his time to religious and philanthropic activities.

The Pompadour article, the silk spec-

BURGLARS AND JEWELS.

A WOMAN'S IDEA OF HOW TO PROTECT HER TREASURE.

A Still-alarm—Secret Safes for Jewels that Only the Owner Can Find—Mrs. Astor Uses a Password word that Changes Every Month.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES)

"What to Do with a Burglar" was briefly the subject of a very nice and valuable little paper read the other day by a league of matrons, who keep house on very nearly a million-dollar scale, and gather twice a month to discuss the problems of housewifery.

The paper on burglars met with instant attention, for the author told many a thrilling anecdote of daring robbery to excite her hearers' interest, and delighted them with an account of a new improved alarm, invented by a traveling jeweler.

If they do, the author of the paper voices the fear that even Mrs. Sloan, whose jewels are her pride, carries three imitations of her own pearls and real diamonds. The firm with which she deposits her casket has made the pieces up for her, and to her maid and her household these are known as traveling jewels. On short visits to country houses the maid carries these deceptive trinkets in a small leather-covered box, made like a small leather-covered trunk. It closes with a safe combination lock, is fitted inside with leather-lined trays, and the maid is absolutely Langtry, and the order, password and key must all be presented by some one known to the firm as in Mrs. Astor's confidence. The same rule holds good for every depositor in the jeweler's safes, that are built into a huge cage in the shop's basement, and divided into four compartments, each containing the positors at a royally high price. But there is rarely a time when it is not brimming full, for rich women, unlike careless actresses, never carry jewels with them to any extent on their travels.

TRAVELING JEWELS.

If they do, the author of the paper voices the fear that even Mrs. Sloan, whose jewels are her pride, carries three imitations of her own pearls and real diamonds. The firm with which she deposits her casket has made the pieces up for her, and to her maid and her household these are known as traveling jewels. On short visits to country houses the maid carries these deceptive trinkets in a small leather-covered box, made like a small leather-covered trunk. It closes with a safe combination lock, is fitted inside with leather-lined trays, and the maid is absolutely

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

It was with the maid that Mrs. Paran Stevens that fear of having her jewels stolen by her domestics amounted to a far. She had no safe, but hid her beautiful ornaments in odd places all over the house, the frequently forgotten where they were and setting the where they were also suspected to hunting them up again for her own trousseau of two days.

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

It was with the maid that Mrs. Paran Stevens that fear of having her jewels stolen by her domestics amounted to a far. She had no safe, but hid her beautiful ornaments in odd places all over the house, the frequently forgotten where they were and setting the where they were also suspected to hunting them up again for her own trousseau of two days.

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

It was with the maid that Mrs. Paran Stevens that fear of having her jewels stolen by her domestics amounted to a far. She had no safe, but hid her beautiful ornaments in odd places all over the house, the frequently forgotten where they were and setting the where they were also suspected to hunting them up again for her own trousseau of two days.

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

It was with the maid that Mrs. Paran Stevens that fear of having her jewels stolen by her domestics amounted to a far. She had no safe, but hid her beautiful ornaments in odd places all over the house, the frequently forgotten where they were and setting the where they were also suspected to hunting them up again for her own trousseau of two days.

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

It was with the maid that Mrs. Paran Stevens that fear of having her jewels stolen by her domestics amounted to a far. She had no safe, but hid her beautiful ornaments in odd places all over the house, the frequently forgotten where they were and setting the where they were also suspected to hunting them up again for her own trousseau of two days.

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

It was with the maid that Mrs. Paran Stevens that fear of having her jewels stolen by her domestics amounted to a far. She had no safe, but hid her beautiful ornaments in odd places all over the house, the frequently forgotten where they were and setting the where they were also suspected to hunting them up again for her own trousseau of two days.

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

It was with the maid that Mrs. Paran Stevens that fear of having her jewels stolen by her domestics amounted to a far. She had no safe, but hid her beautiful ornaments in odd places all over the house, the frequently forgotten where they were and setting the where they were also suspected to hunting them up again for her own trousseau of two days.

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

It was with the maid that Mrs. Paran Stevens that fear of having her jewels stolen by her domestics amounted to a far. She had no safe, but hid her beautiful ornaments in odd places all over the house, the frequently forgotten where they were and setting the where they were also suspected to hunting them up again for her own trousseau of two days.

MRS. PARAN STEVEN'S ECCENTRICITY.

Mail Orders —Carefully, —Promptly and —Satisfactorily —Filled.

BOSTON DRY GOODS STORE

239 Broadway, opposite City Hall.

"The best is the cheapest."

TELEPHONE 904.

Store opens 8 a.m., closes 6 p.m., Saturdays 9 p.m.

Our Aim —is to sell the best —goods at the lowest —prices consistent
—with quality.

Handkerchiefs.

There is absolute luxury in a Pure Linen Handkerchief, and at the present prices here they should receive more than a passing notice. The following numbers are beyond question the best values we have ever offered:

LADIES' PURE LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS.	17c
Narrow hemstitched at.....
LADIES' FINER LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS.	25c
Hemstitched at.....
LADIES' FINE ALL-LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS.	25c
Embossed edges at.....
LADIES' PURE LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS.	25c
Lace edges at.....
LADIES' UNLAUN'D LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS.	25c
Hand-embroidered at.....
LADIES' UNLAUN'D LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS.	35c
French lace edges at.....

Perfumery Department.

This department is fast growing into public favor for the reason that we are selling popular goods at Eastern prices.

PERFUMED BRAN BAGS,	25c
the newest thing for the bath.
CROWN & ROMAN SMELLING SALTS	50c
at.....
SOAP BOXES,	50c
Pink, white, shell and antique celluloid.
NAIL FILES,	20c
Best, 25c and.....
AMMONIZED VASELINE,	20c
in colored and cut glass, at $2, $1.50, $1.25, $1.00 and.....
FACE CHAMOIS,	75c
30c, 20c and.....
VASELINE,	10c
the best, 10 and.....
CAMPHORATED VASELINE,	5c
at.....
PREPARED PUMICE STONE	15c
at.....
COLGATE'S TOILET SOAPS,	15c per box.....
Roger & Gallet's, Lubin's & Crown perfumes, all odors, face powders, dentifrice, etc. at Eastern prices.

Linen Dept.

We make sheets and pillow-cases to order at a saving to you. Our price for hemming sheets is 50c per dozen, and for hemming pillow-cases 40c per dozen. Special values in this department as follows:

NINE-QUARTER UNBLEACHED SHEETING	13½c
At.....
TEN-QUARTER KNOTTED FRINGE TABLE	$5.00
SETS at.....
27-INCH EIDER-DOWN FLANNELS	25c
At.....
68-INCH BLEACHED SATIN DAMASK	50c
At.....
FIVE-EIGHTS ALL LINEN DAMASK NAP-	50c
KINS, per dozen.....
LINEN HUCK TOWELS, 18x36 inches,	loc
At.....
HEMSTITCH HUCK TOWELS, 22x45.	30c
At.....

The Latest Gloves

in famous brands that stand for quality and wear. If it's an odd shade to match an evening or street dress, the chances are you will get it here.

TREFOUSSE GLACE (our best),	$2.00
All shades in 4 buttons at.....
FOUR-BUTTON DOROTHY,	$1.50
the best made at the price.....
SEVEN-HOOK GLACE,	$1.50
excellent value at.....
OUR DOGSKIN GLOVE,	$1.00
(Fine enough to pass for kid.)
No better wearing glove at.....
A REAL KID, which will give entire satisfaction (unless you get them too small) for.....	$1.00
Extra lengths up to 24 buttons, in party shades, endless variety, at right prices.

EASTERN PRICES PREVAIL IN EVERY DEPARTMENT OF OUR STORE.

Black Fabrics

Of the most stylish kinds with rich lustre, deep dye and superior finish that go with first-class black fabrics. It isn't worth while buying a cottony, cheap looking black dress, when a good one can be bought for so little at this store. Here are some very new arrivals:

FANCY MOHAIR,	$2.50
From 85c to per yard.....
PLAIN AND FANCY SOLIDS,	$2.00
From 65c to per yard.....
GRANITE SUITING,	$1.00
From 65c to, per yard.....
FIGURED AND PLAIN SICILIANS,	$2.00
From 50c to, per yard.....
COMPLETE LINE PRIESTLEYS,	$2.50
From 85c to, per yard.....

Also fresh importation of fine Suits, latest novelties in Creponettes, Cristallites, Crepe-de-Venise and Mohair Sall Cloth.

Stylish Ribbons.

Don't fall into the error that one ribbon is as stylish as another. There are lots of new things, new designs, new color effects, new weaves. You won't skip any of them in this department. Notice a few of the newest:

BEAUTIFUL STRIPED PERSIAN RIBBONS,	40c
Variety of colorings, 75c and.....
NEWEST BLACK VELVETS RIBBONS,	30c
Silk back, much more serviceable than satin back; prices 75c, 50c and.....
BLACK VELVET RIBBON,	75c
gros-grain stripes, per yard.....
EMBOSSED VELVET RIBBON,	$1.50 changeable effects, per yard.....
FRINGED AND PLAIN RIBBONS,	$1.00
in changeable effects, newest combinations of colors, per yard.....
NEW TAFFETA RIBBONS,	25c
checks and black, 40c, 30c and.....

It's Blanket Weather.

The sharp air between night and morning tells you that a wooley, warm blanket wouldn't be amiss. We call special attention to the following numbers:

ELEVEN-QUARTER WHITE BLANKETS,	$1.25
At.....
ELEVEN-QUARTER WHITE WOOL	$3.35
"Surprise" Blankets at.....
ELEVEN-QUARTER ALL-WOOL COLORED	$4.75
Blankets.....
TEN-QUARTER WHITE ROSE, ALL PURE	$4.50
Wool.....
SCARLET BLANKETS,	$6.00
all-wool, medium weight.....
HEAVY, NAVY BLUE PURE WOOL	$8.00
BLANKETS.....
BEST SCARLET, ALL-WOOL	$10.00
BLANKETS, fall eight pounds.....
COMPLETE LINE WHITE WOOL CRIB	$1.25
BLANKETS, ranging in price from $5 to.....

Buttons are in?

We can supply your every need in the line of buttons, from the cheapest grades to the highest-class novelties. Call and inspect our latest European arrivals; here are a few of the most favored:

IRISH HORN COAT BUTTONS—Per dozen,	$1.50
85c and.....
LARGE PEARL BUTTONS—smoked and white, per dozen $1.50 to.....
RIVETED JET BUTTONS—large size $1 to $5 per doz.; small size to match per doz., 50c, 75c and.....	$1.25
FANCY CUT STEEL BUTTONS—large size $1.50, $2, $6 and $10 per doz.; small size to match, per doz., 75c, 50c and.....	$1.00
BEAUTIFUL RHINESONE BUTTON—from $2 per doz. to per button.....	$3.00
MINIATURE BUTTONS WITH RHINESTONE SETTINGS, per button, $1.25, $2 and.....	$2.25
BLACK PEARL BUTTONS, RHINESTONE SETTINGS, from $5.50 per doz. to per button.....	$1.25
SMALL GILT SILVER AND BRONZE BUTTONS—per gross, 85c, 75c, and.....	$1.20

THE MORNING SERMON.

"IN SEARCH OF ZEBEDEE."

BY REV. GEORGE HODGES, D.D.
Dean of Cambridge Theological School, Cambridge, Mass.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES)
BY THE NEWSPAPER SERMON ASSOCN.

Then came to him the mother of Zebede's children with her sons.—Matt. xx. 26.

When? Last Sunday, at the time of the morning service. The mother was there, and the children were there, but Zebede was absent.

What was the master with Zebede?

Zebede was very tired after a week of hard work and worry, and he took Sunday for a rest day. I cannot greatly blame him. In this over-busy time, when commerce and society have placed themselves under the patronage of St. Vitus, when the devil pursues us with the keen prod of competition, when the hours of work are long and many, when the chances of financial failure range themselves in grim lines between which the merchant must run a gauntlet every week, when we are all hurried and worried, the parson may properly be grateful that so many men appear at church. It is a matter for encouragement.

Zebede was absent, not because he is a worse sinner than his wife and children, but because he is the slave of the two despots who possess this modern world—electricity and steam. The conditions of our present living are against church attendance.

It must be confessed, however, on the part of Zebede, that he has quite fully resigned to this slavery. He enjoys it. His chains are made of the metal which is used in mints, and he likes to hear them clink. Zebede would be a saint, indeed, if he were not affected by the influences of avarice and material life in the midst of which he lives. We may rightly complain against him that he lives so much in the bad air of the world that he sometimes loses his appreciation of good air, and stays at home, which becomes him in the heat of summer. Zebede is a man of the world, and from the time he chose a camp of alert young business men to be his intimate friends and disciples. He knew the business man, heart and soul; the gospels show it. And when he declared over and over that when he chose a place of residence he got as far away as he could from Jerusalem, the city of conventional religion, and settled in Capharnaum, which was a bribe to the world, he chose a camp of alert young business men to be his intimate friends and disciples. He knew the business man, heart and soul; the gospels show it.

PREACHERS. Our great preachers today are preaching for big salaries, fine mansions and sumptuous living, and they are getting them.—(Rev. F. F. Passmore, Methodist, Denver, Colo.)

THE NEW WOMAN. The so-called new woman need only make herself grotesque, brazen or unsexed enough, and her notoriety will pale before the wave of abhorrence and disgust that shall sweep over her.—(Rev. H. A. Delano, Baptist, Evanston, Ill.)

WOMEN. The woman who prays yields one of the greatest and most intelligent forces in the whole universe; in fact, she sets in motion all the forces of the universe.—(Rev. F. W. Weale, Presbyterian, Jacksonville, Fla.)

ORTHODOXY. The stars may fall, but never orthodoxy. It is the truth about God. It has stood the trying or-wrong. No man ever thought without prejudice or bias, as we are born to it and have preconceived on every great subject. —(Rev. M. J. McLead, Presbyterian, Chester, Pa.)

ACTIVITY. For the inactive and lazy there is not a place wherein he can stand at ease. God has not one inch in His universe wherein a lazy man can stand and claim as his own. They must go together, piety and work.—(Rev. F. W. Smith, Congregationalist, Cambridge, Mass.)

IGNORANCE. The greatest tyrant oppressing the masses today is King Ignorance. A people rushing on at such a rate of progress as we are going today need to keep informed, to think some for themselves. They shall read the newspaper.—(Rev. Dr. Lloyd, Christian church, Nashville, Tenn.)

LOVE. Reduce the whole Bible to a sentence, and that sentence is simplicity itself—Love. That is the whole of the science of religion. It is the heart and soul of religion, and contains all that is taught in the many books of the Bible.—(Rev. S. L. Roder, Methodist, Springfield, Ill.)

THE PHYSICAL MAN. The natural man is a puny creature. The athlete is the result of training. Skill of any kind is not natural, but the result of effort. The physical excellencies of our race will disappear unless active and strenuous efforts are made to retain them.—(Rev. P. J. Kain, Reformed Church, Manayunk, Pa.)

THE BIBLE. The Bible is a counselor; it is a friend. It should not be misused

A SURLY TRAMP AND THE RECEPTION HE MET.

A BRAVE COUNTRY GIRL, A THIEVING TRAMP AND A CONCH SHELL THAT WON THE DAY.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES)

BY L. ROBBINS.

Althea Dean lived on a farm, three miles from any village. The house of the nearest neighbor was a quarter of a mile away, and only the top of its chimney could be seen over the trees and bushes that lay between. The road was seldom traveled since a never one had been built, and grass grew in it.

Althea's mother was dead, and her older brothers and sisters had all left home, so she and her father lived there alone.

"If the money is gone, I am not afraid to stay alone," said Althea.

"Well, I am afraid to have you," said her father, dryly, "so hurry—and dress up, now, for it will be late before we get home."

The tramp revived as much as possible in preparing the tramp's dinner, and literally within an arm's reach of him, and of what they should do for the tax and interest money, if it were possible for ready money was not plentiful with the Deans.

All the time she was thinking of the $70 in the old desk behind the tramp, and literally within an arm's reach of him, and of what they should do for the tax and interest money, if it were possible for ready money was not plentiful with the Deans.

She thought also of her father, picking cranberries in the meadow, nearly a third of a mile away.

Althea had delayed as much as possible in returning home that day, and seemed to be listening, she thought, to learn if she were the only person about the place.

Althea had delayed as much as possible in preparing the tramp's dinner, and literally within an arm's reach of him, and of what they should do for the tax and interest money, if it were possible for ready money was not plentiful with the Deans.

As she placed the last one on the table, while she had pushed up near the window, she hit the big conch shell, ap-

BOY NOBLES.

YOUNG BRITAINS WHO HAVE INHERITED GREAT TITLES.

Dukes, Earls, Viscounts, Marquises and Barons Who are still in Short Trousers and Studying Under Masters at School.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES)

BY ESTHER SINGLETON.

Coming of age means a great deal more to a young Englishman of wealth than to an American. The latter receives the right to vote, but that is all; his British cousin comes into the inheritance of his estates, including castles with ancient histories, of a long line of ancestors, many of whom have distinguished themselves, and seat in the famous and powerful House of Lords. In his honor a fete is usually held, or a ball is given; he receives the congratulations of his friends and his tenants, and there is a kind of general holiday in the district when the young Earl, or duke, or lord comes of age.

A BABY DUKE.

There are a number of peers now in line, growing up to their titles. The youngest of all is the little Duke of Leinster, Maurice Fitzgerald, the fifth in line and the present Duke, Marquise and Earl of Ireland. He was born in March, 1887, and is, therefore, but 8 years old. He succeeded his father in 1883. It is a very old house that he has the honor to represent. The Fitzgeralds came to England with William the Conqueror in 1066, and in 1200 the Barony of Offaly, and in 1318 the Earldom of Offaly, and in 1318 the Earldom of Louth. In his honor a fete is usually held, or a ball is given; he receives the congratulations of his friends and his tenants, and there is a kind of general holiday in the district when the young Earl, or duke, or lord comes of age.

A BABY DUKE.

There are a number of peers now in line, growing up to their titles. The youngest of all is the little Duke of Leinster, Maurice Fitzgerald, the fifth in line and the present Duke, Marquise and Earl of Ireland. He was born in March, 1887, and is, therefore, but 8 years old. He succeeded his father in 1883. It is a very old house that he has the honor to represent. The Fitzgeralds came to England with William the Conqueror in 1066, and in 1200 the Barony of Offaly, and in 1318 the Earldom of Offaly, and in 1318 the Earldom of Louth.

The tramp looked at the shell curiously, and Althea held it out to him, with a smile, and asked if he didn't want to try it.

"My brother and I used to try and see what we could make the longest tone."

"Oh, you didn't laugh," said Althea, laughing herself, "you wait a minute."

She put the shell again to her lips, and this time there came a full, clear tone, loud yet mellow, and prolonged till Althea's face flushed, and she ceased for lack of breath.

The tramp looked at the shell curiously, and Althea held it out to him, with a smile, and asked if he didn't want to try it.

The illusion must be kept up, or he might even yet suspect, and Althea told anecdotes of the black and yellow and white cat who lay curled up in the rocking chair, and asked the tramp if he didn't think that his landlady—that was the sly cat. She spoke of the flies, of the trouble she had in keeping them out, and of the various traps she had devised for them.

Her heart stood still with fear as she saw how quickly the food was vanishing. To gain time she brought out another trap, the tramp a trap wait while she skimmed a pan of milk for cream to pit in his coffee.

She strained her ears for any sound of her father's coming, though she knew it was too soon to expect him.

She grew every minute more and more afraid of her ugly visitor. His clothes were ragged, his face was worn, and his eyes were red. He kept on his tattered hat, and his cruel, mean-looking eyes hardly left her face for an instant, except for his food.

At last the moment came when the tramp's hunger was fully satisfied. Althea felt herself start and grow pale, when he pushed his chair away from the table, but she talked on, and even smiled.

"Aw hold yer jaw," growled the tramp impatiently, as he rose to his feet.

"Have you had enough?" asked Althea, "isn't there anything more you would like?"

"Yes, there is," said the tramp, threateningly. "I want all the money you've got, all they is in the house—an I want it all too."

Althea confronted him. "I shall not give you one cent of money," she said defiantly, her cheeks flushing.

"Won't, won't you? We'll see whether you won't," he sneered, after glaring at her for an instant, a dull gleam of anger in his eyes.

He came toward her, but Althea did not flinch, and his cruel fist was raised to strike her down, when suddenly his arm dropped at his side, and he turned his head toward the door and listened.

"Father! Father!" cried Althea, staggering against the wall, as the tramp had come of age.

She gave the cover a final turn, and then hastily ridging herself of her big kitchen apron, and smoothing her hair with her hands, went to see who it was.

A large, rough-looking man was standing on the doorstep, and the instant Althea's eyes fell on him, she knew he was a tramp.

As soon as he saw her he pushed open the screen door, without waiting for an invitation, and asked in a surly tone for something to eat.

He came toward her, but Althea did not flinch, and his cruel fist was raised to strike her down, when suddenly his arm dropped at his side, and he turned his head toward the door and listened.

"Father! Father!" cried Althea, staggering against the wall, as the tramp had come of age.

Neither would it do to show that she was afraid of him, so calling up a smile she told him, pleasantly, to come into the kitchen, and she would get him something to eat.

Before the tramp had taken the chair she set for him beside the table, she had decided on what to do.

Althea was in general a rather quiet girl, more given to listening than to talking. But now she seemed, suddenly, to have changed and become one of the most garrulous.

The man was hardly seated before she began to talk. She asked him if he had traveled far, and told him he looked tired. She called his attention to the tomatoes, which they had a good crop this year, but the tramp was likely to be a frost any time, now, and spoil them. She informed him of the price of jars, and enlarged on the merits of the different kinds. She wanted to know if he had any money. She commented on the fineness of the napkin she spread for his plate to rest upon and told when and where she had bought the set of crockery to which the plate had belonged, appealing to him to know if he didn't think it was the prettiest. When the clock struck two she asked him if he didn't think it was the stillest striker he ever heard, and let him know that it had been her grandfather's. She said the cook stove had been bought at an auction, and where he could tell could tell why it didn't have any better.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

"Nothing—he wanted money—you came just in time," Althea answered faintly and tremulously.

"Thank God," said Mr. Dean ventrily.

Then he began to question her more particularly, going to the door once or twice to look at the tramp, who lay motionless on the ground.

"I've killed the brute," he said, when Althea had told him all there was to tell. "He hasn't moved yet."

But the tramp was only stunned, and soon showed signs of returning consciousness.

"I shall harness up, and take him to the express wagon," said Mr. Dean.

North Spring st., near Temple.

RELIABILITY.

THIS Week the Values to be Offered in Our Colored and Black Dress Goods Departments are Beyond Description.

Agreeable Shopping.

Men's Imported Cashmere and Heavy
Woolen Underwear and Hosiery.At 50c—Men's Heavy Undyed Sanitary Gray Merino Underwear and Drawers.All silk bound, ribbed skirts and taped seams, on sale at, per garment..... 50cAt $1.00—Men's fine Lamb's Wool and Camel's Hair Undershirts and Drawers—Silk bound, nicely finished, well made and thoroughly shrunken, "Glastonbury" make, on sale at the special price of per garment..... $1.00At $1.50—Men's Australian Lamb's Wool and Camel's Hair Undershirts and Drawers—Finished with patent seams and fine cashmere finish; warranted thoroughly shrunken, on sale at, per garment..... $1.50Men's Medium and Heavyweight Scotch Wool Undershirts and Drawers—

All full finished in Shetland and white,..... $4.50

at per suit; $3, $8.50, $4 and..... $4.50

Men's Medium-weight English Cashmere Undershirts and Drawers—In silver and mottled gray shades, full finished, on sale at, per suit, $8.50, $4 and..... $4.50At 25c—Men's medium heavy-weight undyed lamb's wool and camel's hair Half Hose—Made with double heels and toes, special make, on sale at, per pair..... 25c

At 35c—Men's Imported English Cashmere Half Hose—

Made with linen spliced heels and soles, natural gray shades, worth 50c per pair; on sale at 35c, or 3 pairs for..... $1.00At 35c—Men's Imported Superfine English Vicuna Half Hose—Made with French feet, an excellent light-weight wool Hose; on sale at 35c, or 3 pairs for..... $1.00At 40c—Men's Imported Superfine English Vicuna Half Hose—Heavy weight, made with spliced feet, worth 50c per pair; on sale at, per pair..... 40cAt 50c—Men's Imported Superfine English Shetland Wool Half Hose—Made with silk spliced feet, worth 75c per pair; on sale at, per pair..... 50c

At 75c—Men's Imported Silk and Wool Half Hose—

Old gold shade, made with French feet, worth $12 per doz; on sale at, per pair..... 75c

Our Gloves

Forever Creative of Comfort, Economy and Good Dressing and a Supreme Feeling of Self Satisfaction to the Wearers.

At from 25c to 50c Pair—A complete line of 6-button lengths Ladies' Cashmere Gloves—All sizes in navy, brown and black, regular kid sizes and perfect fitting; selling at, a pair, from 25c to..... 50cAt 50c A Pair—10 dozen 8-button lengths Glace Mous-quetaire Gloves—Size 5 1/2, in black and colored and 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 in black only, regular price $1; now, a pair..... 50c

At 75c A pair—A broken line of real Kid Gauntlets—

A neat and dressy Glove for general wear, small cuffs, patent fasteners, well made and perfect fitting,
regular price $1.50, now selling at, a pair..... 75c

At $1.00 A pair—8-button Suede Mousquetaire Gloves—

In colors and black. Try this glove for comfort, fit and wear; selling at, a pair..... $1.00

At $1.00 A pair—The Jeanette Pique Glove—

For general wear is the very best pair, fitted and warranted, 3 shades only, tan, brown and English red; selling at, a pair..... $1.00

At $1.50 A pair—Our Cystome Jay Glove—

Becomes more popular each day; it comes in a large assortment of staple and fancy shades, embroidered backs, pearl buttons to match embroidery. The correct style for fall and winter. In this glove the old-fashioned gusset is done away with, thus insuring greater comfort to the wearer and always allowing the first button to fasten at the wrist; selling at, a pair..... $1.50

Nottingham Lace Curtains.

Very Cheap for the Qualities Offered.

At 70 pair—Nottingham Lace Curtains—
8 yards long, very strong and serviceable, on sale at, per pair..... 70cAt $1 a pair—Nottingham Lace Curtains, 8 1/2 yards long, double thread, in both white and ecru, on sale at, a pair..... $1.00

At $1.25 a pair—Nottingham Lace Curtains.

8 1/2 yards long, in both white and ecru, nice lacy effects; on sale at, a pair..... $1.25

At $1.50 a pair—Nottingham Lace Curtains—

In both white and ecru, 8 1/2 yards long and 5 1/2 inches wide, new and stylish patterns, on sale at, a pair..... $1.50

At $2.00 a pair—Nottingham Lace Curtains—

Ecru only, 8 1/2 yards long, extra fine, handsome lacy effects, on sale at, a pair..... $2.00

FREE DELIVERY IN PASADENA.

McBrien & Co.
N. Spring St., near Temple.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE

McBrien & Co.
N. Spring St., near Temple.

Muslin and Knit Underwear and Ladies' and Children's Hosiery.Gowns, handsomely trimmed in lace, white and colored embroidery and ribbons.All made in the latest styles in square and V yoke effects.OUR $5.50 QUALITY,
reduced to..... $3.00OUR $4.50 QUALITY,
reduced to..... $2.50OUR $4.00 QUALITY,
reduced to..... $2.00OUR $3.75 QUALITY, reduced to..... $1.75OUR $2.75 AND $3.50 QUALITY,
reduced to..... $1.50OUR $2.50 QUALITY,
reduced to..... $1.00

Drawers—

OUR $2.25 QUALITY,
reduced to..... $1.25OUR $1.75 QUALITY,
reduced to..... $1.00OUR $1.50 QUALITY, reduced to..... 75cOUR $1.25 QUALITY, reduced to..... 50c

In our Ladies Knit Underwear and Hosiery Department—

We are giving extra good value; ribbed vests, heavy quality, regular price 25c, on special sale at, each..... 20c

Silver Gray Ribbed Vests.

Sateen fronts and silk ribbon in neck, regular price 85c, on special sale at, each..... 25c

Heavy Egyptian Cotton Vests.

Long sleeves, good value for 50c, on special sale at, each..... 35c

Jersey Ribbed Vests and Pants to match.

In white or natural, never sold for less than $1
each; on special sale at, each..... 75c

Fine Ribbed Wool Vests and Pants to suit.

In white and natural; fine value for $1.25;
on special sale at, each..... $1.00

Ladies' Fast Black Seamless Hose.

Regular price 20c pair; on special sale
at, per pair..... 15c

Ladies' Fine Gauge "Hermesdorf Dye."

With white feet or all black regular price $3.75 doz; on special sale at, per pair..... 25c

Ladies' Fast Black Hose—

Hermesdorf Dye, 40 gauge, extra fine quality, high splices@heels and toes; on special sale at
per pair..... 25c

Ladies' Imported Cashmere Hose—

Fast black, high spliced heels and toes, good value for 75c; on special sale at, per pair..... 50c

Boys' Heavy Corduroy Rib Fast Black Hose—

All size from 6 to 10; the only hose for school or bicycle wear; on special sale at, per pair..... 25cSpecials in Ladies' Underwear; Jersey Ribbed Cotton Vests—Extra value at, each, 20c, 25c, 35c and.....Jersey Ribbed wool and cotton mixed, in white or natural, vests or pants; at, each.....Jersey Ribbed, all-wool, white or natural, vests or pants; at, each, $1.00 and.....

Plain Natural Wool Vests or Pants—

At..... 75c $1 and $1.25

Oneita Union Suits—

The newest style, buttoned across the chest;
our prices are, per suit. $1.50, $2.00 and..... $2.50

These are half wool, three-quarters wool and all wool.

At 5c yard—Outing Flannel, Medium Colors—

Soft, heavy grade, in a great variety of pretty stripes; good value for 7c; on sale at, per yard..... 5c

At 10c yard—Outing Flannel—

The very best grade; pretty new patterns, in light, medium and dark colors. Regular value 12 1/2c; on sale at, per yard..... 10cAt 16 2/3c yard—Striped Cotton Eiderdown, and Printed French Flannelettes—Handsome, pretty effects; regular value 20c;
on sale at 8 yards for..... $1.00

At 40c yard—Eiderdown Wool Flannel—

27 inches wide, in handsome new patterns; value for 50c; on sale at..... 40c

At 50c—Eiderdown Wool Flannel—

27 inches wide, extra fine grade, in handsome new designs; value for 65c; on sale at..... 50c

At 50c yard—Printed French Flannel—

28 inches wide, all pure wool, in pretty, neat effects; striped and figured; regular price 75c; on sale at,
per yard..... 50c

Blanket Department.

Values That Surprise.

At $1.00 A Pair—10-4 Blankets,

In both white and gray, full size, very heavy; soft and fluffy; value at $1.50, on sale at,
per pair..... $1.00

At $2.50 A Pair—10-4 White Blankets,

Not all wool; a good, heavy, substantial blanket, good value for $3.25, on sale at,
per pair..... $2.50

At $3.50 A Pair—10-4 White Family Blankets, Full size, soft, fine finish, heavy and durable, very pretty, showy borders; good value for $4.50;

on sale at, per pair..... $3.50

At $5.00—11-4 White Lamb's Wool Blankets.

Full two yards wide; the finest grade of pure wool, all handsomely finished; thoroughly shrunken, with pretty borders; worth regular $6.75, now on sale at,
per pair..... $5.00

At $6.50 A Pair—12-4 White Blankets,

80 inches wide, finest grade of lamb's wool; very heavy, thoroughly shrunken, fine finish, with pretty borders;
good value for $8.00, now on sale at,
per pair..... $6.50

At $8.50 A Pair—13-4 Fine White California Blankets,

Extra size, being 84 inches wide; fine Australian wool, extra heavy, thoroughly shrunken, with pretty borders;
good value for $11, now on sale at,
per pair..... $8.50

Ladies' Capes and Jackets.

Nobby Styles, Serviceable Styles and Away Down
Prices.

$7.50 Ladies' Double Cape

Of fine quality French Boucle, velvet inlaid collar and satin trimmings, 22 inches long with full sweep; colors black and navy; on sale at..... $7.50

$8.50 Ladies' Double Cape

Of beautiful quality Beaver Cloth, 27 inches long with full sweep, rolling velvet inlaid collar, handsomely trimmed with jet and braid; colors black and navy, considered extra value; on sale at..... $8.50

$9.00 Ladies' Kippie Cape

Of heavy quality Beaver Cloth, 24 inches long with full sweep, rolling velvet inlaid collar, handsomely trimmed with jet and braid; colors black and navy, considered
extra value; on sale at..... $9.00

$5.00 Ladies' Double-breasted Re却er Jacket

Of heavy-weight Beaver, 25-inch box front and ripple back, mandolin sleeves, large buttons; colors black and navy;
on sale at..... $5.00

$7.50 Ladies' Double-breasted Re却er Jacket

In black and navy Boucle, 25-inch box front and full ripple back, large buck-horn buttons with pearl centers, mandolin sleeves; a perfectly modeled jacket; on sale at..... $7.50

$10.00 Ladies' Double-breasted Re却er

Of heavy-weight Cheviot Mixtures, close fitting, velvet inlaid collar, mandolin sleeves, 25-inch box front and ripple back; pocket and edgings tailor finished; one of the noblest jackets in the market; on sale at..... $10.00

Lace Department.

Lovely Novelties in Tosca, Tuxedo and Normandy Veilings and Laces and a rare assortment of Lawn Handkerchiefs in Fine Qualities at Marvelously Low Prices.

12 1/2c

ALL-OBSERVANT BAB

SHE DISCUSSES MANY HIGHLY-IMPORTANT TOPICS.

WOMAN'S HAPPINESS—HUSBANDS WHO TEMPT THEIR WIVES WITH PRESENTS OF JEWELRY.

JEWELS THAT GIVE BIRTH TO ALL SORTS OF PROPHECIES—DIAMONDS THAT RESEMBLE DECANTER STOPPERS.

EARRINGS TO COME IN VOGUE—YEARS-LONG TO POSSESS LUXURIES BEYOND ONE'S REACH—THE ENVIOUS WOMAN'S WRETCHEDNESS.

OUR ENGLISH COUSINS AND SHORT SENTENCES—JOY DERIVED FROM READING AND DUSTING ONE'S OWN BOOKS—OUR FRIENDS IN TIME OF SORROW AND SUFFERING—LIVING ALONE—BAB BELIEVES IN NEIGHBORS, AND THINKS IT IS GOOD TO PEER INTO THE LIVES OF OTHERS.

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.) NEW YORK, Oct. 28, 1895.—Somebody predicts that a time will come when the husband who has been out late with a friend on a little matter of business will not be able to conciliate his wife by giving her a new diamond brooch. Instead, as the average woman is becoming lecherous about gems, she will sniff contemptuously at the diamond, which has no special virtue, and demand something that will add not only to her beauty but to her happiness. I am informed by a young woman who knows all about it that some women will demand rubies, inasmuch as she who wears one need never fear the rheumatism, and that others will also ask for rubies, but for quite a different reason. If their suffering comes from cold hands and feet—and these are common—a ruby will be demanded because it is a stone that warms them. However, if Eve, when she met the serpent, had worn a sapphire ring, there would have been no trouble at all, as no matter how seductive a serpent is he cannot look upon a sapphire and hold up his head. She who is inclined to be variable, as far as her brain is concerned, will ask her beloved for a turquoise; she will be all right as long as it keeps its clear, steady blue, but the minute it begins to grow cloudy and look greenish, then there is trouble ahead, and she can quote how near "great wits to madness oft are allied."

FOR LOVERS OF RARE GEMS.

It is also said a turquoise will prevent your falling out of a seven-story window, consequently they are to be recommended for kitchen ladies who suspend themselves out of the windows of tenement-houses as they daily string the week's washing on a sliding rope. Of an opal it is announced the wearer will never be struck by lightning; of an amethyst, that even a barrel of whisky wouldn't make its owner and wearer drunk, and of the topaz, that if it is put in a teakettle, water will never boil. I don't know why anybody should yearn to put a topaz in a teakettle, for I can't believe that staved teakettles could be desirable. Still, one never knows! The rarest stone in the whole wide world is that which, once in a thousand years, is found in the forehead of a cat. It is a brilliant yellow, and if you are fortunate enough to get it and slip it under your tongue you will not give birth to all sorts of prophecies, but every one of your wishes will be gratified, and you will be lucky both with women and money.

I laughed the other day at reading a book about jewels, in which this advice as given: "Don't wear diamonds unless you have

A HIGH LIGHT ON YOUR UPPER LIP."

It sounds very learned, but to save my life I don't know what is meant by a high light on one's upper lip. Many women are troubled, though, by a shadow on the upper lip. As a nation, we are lovers of diamonds, and it is certainly true that a great many women wear diamonds in their ears that look like decanter stoppers. But what the high light on the upper lip has to do with it passes my comprehension. It is announced, by the people who know everything, that in the years to come diamonds will be coveted of so little value that people will have them in their door knobs, or that they will be found convenient as headlights for the cable cars. But this I doubt. As long as a woman's hand looks well sparkling with the bright stones, just so long will they remain in fashion, and that is likely to be forever. It is whispered that ear-rings are to come in vogue again. I hope not. They draw attention to an ugly ear and gave nothing to a beautiful ear. Necklaces, brooches, hair ornaments and rings are the favorite ornaments of the woman of fashion, and if she is fortunate enough to have long, slender fingers, then she can place upon the third finger of the left and her two little fingers as many rings as in harmony and seem suited to her.

Nothing short of hanging is sufficient punishment to the woman who wears a ring on her forefinger. The only thing that is worse is the wearing of it on the thumb, a fashion affected by some actresses, but which, in reality, only belongs to those people who regard a strip of whitewash and a hairpin as suitable clothing.

A BEAUTIFUL NECKLACE

Shown to me not long ago was an evidence of the increased liking for moonstones; it was formed of those lovely stones, alternating with rubies, and the setting was so light that when the necklace was worn the gems seemed simply to rest on the neck of the wearer, just as if they wanted to, and not because anything held them in position. However, such a necklace is as if it were to be seen generally, its price, $5000, making it beyond the reach of the ordinary woman. How wretchedly unhappy people must be who can't look at things without longing for them! Fancy going through life and never seeing anything beautiful without yearning for it! Why life wouldn't be worth living! And what a disagreeable woman such a one would be! And how terribly ugly such a one would be! For there is nothing makes a woman as ugly as envy. It causes her lips to flatten rather than to curve, makes her eyes smaller, and it gives to her voice a sort of a whine that is particularly unpleasant. Some sins are forgivable, but envy, always seems like such a mean one. I think I have more respect for downright malice.

FIXING UP ONE'S BELONGINGS.

Our English cousins can learn a great deal from us—I mean in the way of short sentences that express a great deal. It has just dawned on me that they have nothing that answers to our phrase, "fixing up," and that covers such a multitude of virtues. From making an old hat look as good as new, clear down to polishing all the silver, it may extend, and it covers an enormous ground. It means getting along with all strength, and knowing exactly where to put one's hands on whatever one wants; it means having the gloves that need cleaning separated from those that are in good condition; your religious photographs quite distinct from your frivolous ones; the empty soda-water bottles apart from the full ones; a systematic acquaintance with one's needles and thread; in fact, getting all things arranged decently and in order, is "fixing up" one's belongings. Now, "fixing up" ones self is having one's hair brushed until it is glossy, one's powder well applied, one's gown perfectly trig, one's slippers immensely fetching; one's gloves buttoned, and one's mind at ease. Whenever the British lion curls his tail can he find a phrase that says so much as "fixing up"? There are people who fix up books, but this is all wrong. Books should stand as their owner arranges them; and

IF THAT BLOOM OF TIME—DUST. Collects upon them, it only proves that they are not used often enough. Personally, I very much dislike to have my books disturbed; and when the "fixing up" time comes, I want to do it myself. I would rather endure the dust, so that I may, in the dark, know exactly where to find the whimsicalings of Mrs. Clouston, or the poems of Eugene Field, or the alcohol to light the spirit lamp, or the hot-water bag, or the blackberry brandy, or any of the things that one always does want in a hurry. However, while I was away this summer, my books were dusted—for this my family have sent up thanks—and I, in a Turkish position, posed before them and grinned, with anguish at my heart. I am smiling, and smiling, and still being a villain of the deepest dye. Fancy "Robert Falconer" in close contiguity to "Mademoiselle de Maupin"! Browning literally bound up in "Health, Beauty and the Toilet," while poor Tom Moore is neighbor to a French dictionary, and a book by Emily Faithful. Dante is next door to "A Woman's Worth" and Webster's "Primer" and "The Time" is the small neighbor of four enormous medical books! Isaac Dinesen has a satisfied air, for he is near enough to talk to Casanova—what stories they must exchange—while "The Romance of a Poor Young Man" is jammed close to the "Heavenly Twins," who were squeezed into and almost marked by "The Scarlet Letter." Swinburne is next to "How to Be Happy, Though Married," and Mrs. Potter's "Oster Joe" is "Getting to Paris" by "The House of Rothschild," which is brought to notice on the other side by "The Green Carnation," which has been almost shovved off by "A Bachelor Girl." Now you have a sort of an idea of the "fixing up" of my books, which will, thank goodness, soon be unfixed and arranged so that the authors will not use bad language in the silence of the night, when their spooks are wandering around.

SPEAKING OF BOOKS, there is the dearest of books on hand just now. In the first place it is bound in scarlet, which makes its cover a joy to look at. Then it is illustrated by Gibson and Irving Wiles, which makes it pictures a never-ending source of pleasure, and then on its printed pages are stories just long enough for the leisurely girl to read around the dinner-table. I am always on the lookout for a good book of short stories, and when I come across one I want everybody else to know, because the short story after dinner can be made such a pleasure. The first story in this book is an incentive to matrimony, although it gives the name to the book which is "A Bachelor's Christmas." I don't know the man who wrote it—I don't know anything about it except that it is altogether delightful, and that is the why I am telling you, who you I count as my friend, about it.

WHAT GOOD THINGS FRIENDS ARE!

There is the sympathetic friend, who tells you in the kindest words, how sorry he is for your trouble, and who comes when happy days are to the fore, and is gleeful because you are glad. Then there is that other friend, who, when you are overwhelmed with grief, cannot say a word, but takes your hand and looks into your eyes, and the eyes do the speaking. And you know that your friend is sorry for you, and your heart almost grows glad as you realize that there is in the world somebody who, if he were able, would take all your sorrows away. Then there is the other friend, that one who, when your head is racked with pain, touches it with cool, kind fingers, and makes you understand that just so long as you are going to suffer, just so long will your friend stay with you. I think there are more kind people in this world than cruel ones. I don't believe anybody really starts out with the intention of being cruel, but first there is a little worry, and then there is a cross word, and then there is a malicious word, and then there is the wicked deed which would not have been done if the sinner had only taken time to think it all out.

YOU HAVE YOUR WORRY AND I HAVE MINE.

And it seems hard just when we are troubled that somebody else should be very happy, and we look at the happy people, and suddenly grow mean and nasty and say something that, in a little while, we are ashamed of. We are all of us such children, so easily made happy and so easily turned into disagreeable beasts, rather than lovable men and women. And we never know until we are quite alone how much we depend on each other. Try to think what life would be if, today, when you are full of joy and gladness because something good has come to you, think that what would happen if you had nobody to joy with you? If there was no one here being as glad as you, because you were glad. Why, it would be worth while to hire a messenger boy by the hour simply for sympathetic purposes. Then think what it would be when the dark days come to have to sit alone with your trouble, whether it be of dishonor or death, and have no human being, not one of your own kind, to even find fault with you! It would be horrible.

I AM A RELIEVER IN NEIGHBORS.

I don't think it is wise to have them too near, but it is good to have them, because when we are being neighborly we learn a good many lessons. I learn that I am not the only woman in the world who has to deny herself some special pieces of finery, and you learn that you are not the only man in the world whose business affairs do not always run smoothly. And I learn of my neighbor's worry, of my neighbor's sorrow and sometimes of my neighbor's shame, and I realize that yesterday I envied my neighbor, while today I know that my own cross fits my shoulders best, and is, after all, the easiest one for me to carry.

It does us good, you and me, who are mere ordinary, everyday people, to have a peep once in a while into the lives of our neighbors, for it may be our neighbor can teach us lessons of courage and bravery such as we never dreamed of. That is the way to be pitied, greatly pitied, who puts himself on a pedestal and declines to have anything to do with his own people. It is true he may not be worried by any of the little weaknesses of his neighbor; it is true that not sharing the joy of his neighbor, he will not be asked to come in when there is sorrow. But what will his joys and sorrows be? Miserable imitations of the real ones, because when one is glad there must be others to share the "pleasure," else it is worth little.

EARTHLY AND HEAVENLY FRIENDSHIPS.

When one is sad there must be somebody to console, else the sadness will be intensified beyond human endurance. I have always thought that an ideal good fellowship would exist in the hereafter, and that the people who care for each other here would have that love and that sympathy intensified eternally. Earthly friendships will be made beautiful, because they will be approved of and blessed by that Friend of humanity who loves his neighbor so well that he gave his life for him. It is a dear old world, neighbor—and the neighboring itself is good and grandly beautiful; very well worth cultivating, I assure you, if you think as I do. Then way over the prairies and the rivers and the many miles of country that my little message travels goes also the claim on you that I am, your neighbor, BAB.

WHAT GOOD THINGS FRIENDS ARE!

There is the sympathetic friend, who tells you in the kindest words, how sorry he is for your trouble, and who comes when happy days are to the fore, and is gleeful because you are glad. Then there is that other friend, who, when you are overwhelmed with grief, cannot say a word, but takes your hand and looks into your eyes, and the eyes do the speaking. And you know that your friend is sorry for you, and your heart almost grows glad as you realize that there is in the world somebody who, if he were able, would take all your sorrows away. Then there is the other friend, that one who, when your head is racked with pain, touches it with cool, kind fingers, and makes you understand that just so long as you are going to suffer, just so long will your friend stay with you. I think there are more kind people in this world than cruel ones. I don't believe anybody really starts out with the intention of being cruel, but first there is a little worry, and then there is a cross word, and then there is a malicious word, and then there is the wicked deed which would not have been done if the sinner had only taken time to think it all out.

YOU HAVE YOUR WORRY AND I HAVE MINE.

And it seems hard just when we are troubled that somebody else should be very happy, and we look at the happy people, and suddenly grow mean and nasty and say something that, in a little while, we are ashamed of. We are all of us such children, so easily made happy and so easily turned into disagreeable beasts, rather than lovable men and women. And we never know until we are quite alone how much we depend on each other. Try to think what life would be if, today, when you are full of joy and gladness because something good has come to you, think that what would happen if you had nobody to joy with you? If there was no one here being as glad as you, because you were glad. Why, it would be worth while to hire a messenger boy by the hour simply for sympathetic purposes. Then think what it would be when the dark days come to have to sit alone with your trouble, whether it be of dishonor or death, and have no human being, not one of your own kind, to even find fault with you! It would be horrible.

I AM A RELIEVER IN NEIGHBORS.

I don't think it is wise to have them too near, but it is good to have them, because when we are being neighborly we learn a good many lessons. I learn that I am not the only woman in the world who has to deny herself some special pieces of finery, and you learn that you are not the only man in the world whose business affairs do not always run smoothly. And I learn of my neighbor's worry, of my neighbor's sorrow and sometimes of my neighbor's shame, and I realize that yesterday I envied my neighbor, while today I know that my own cross fits my shoulders best, and is, after all, the easiest one for me to carry.

It does us good, you and me, who are mere ordinary, everyday people, to have a peep once in a while into the lives of our neighbors, for it may be our neighbor can teach us lessons of courage and bravery such as we never dreamed of. That is the way to be pitied, greatly pitied, who puts himself on a pedestal and declines to have anything to do with his own people. It is true he may not be worried by any of the little weaknesses of his neighbor; it is true that not sharing the joy of his neighbor, he will not be asked to come in when there is sorrow. But what will his joys and sorrows be? Miserable imitations of the real ones, because when one is glad there must be others to share the "pleasure," else it is worth little.

EARTHLY AND HEAVENLY FRIENDSHIPS.

When one is sad there must be somebody to console, else the sadness will be intensified beyond human endurance. I have always thought that an ideal good fellowship would exist in the hereafter, and that the people who care for each other here would have that love and that sympathy intensified eternally. Earthly friendships will be made beautiful, because they will be approved of and blessed by that Friend of humanity who loves his neighbor so well that he gave his life for him. It is a dear old world, neighbor—and the neighboring itself is good and grandly beautiful; very well worth cultivating, I assure you, if you think as I do. Then way over the prairies and the rivers and the many miles of country that my little message travels goes also the claim on you that I am, your neighbor, BAB.

WHAT GOOD THINGS FRIENDS ARE!

There is the sympathetic friend, who tells you in the kindest words, how sorry he is for your trouble, and who comes when happy days are to the fore, and is gleeful because you are glad. Then there is that other friend, who, when you are overwhelmed with grief, cannot say a word, but takes your hand and looks into your eyes, and the eyes do the speaking. And you know that your friend is sorry for you, and your heart almost grows glad as you realize that there is in the world somebody who, if he were able, would take all your sorrows away. Then there is the other friend, that one who, when your head is racked with pain, touches it with cool, kind fingers, and makes you understand that just so long as you are going to suffer, just so long will your friend stay with you. I think there are more kind people in this world than cruel ones. I don't believe anybody really starts out with the intention of being cruel, but first there is a little worry, and then there is a cross word, and then there is a malicious word, and then there is the wicked deed which would not have been done if the sinner had only taken time to think it all out.

YOU HAVE YOUR WORRY AND I HAVE MINE.

And it seems hard just when we are troubled that somebody else should be very happy, and we look at the happy people, and suddenly grow mean and nasty and say something that, in a little while, we are ashamed of. We are all of us such children, so easily made happy and so easily turned into disagreeable beasts, rather than lovable men and women. And we never know until we are quite alone how much we depend on each other. Try to think what life would be if, today, when you are full of joy and gladness because something good has come to you, think that what would happen if you had nobody to joy with you? If there was no one here being as glad as you, because you were glad. Why, it would be worth while to hire a messenger boy by the hour simply for sympathetic purposes. Then think what it would be when the dark days come to have to sit alone with your trouble, whether it be of dishonor or death, and have no human being, not one of your own kind, to even find fault with you! It would be horrible.

I AM A RELIEVER IN NEIGHBORS.

I don't think it is wise to have them too near, but it is good to have them, because when we are being neighborly we learn a good many lessons. I learn that I am not the only woman in the world who has to deny herself some special pieces of finery, and you learn that you are not the only man in the world whose business affairs do not always run smoothly. And I learn of my neighbor's worry, of my neighbor's sorrow and sometimes of my neighbor's shame, and I realize that yesterday I envied my neighbor, while today I know that my own cross fits my shoulders best, and is, after all, the easiest one for me to carry.

It does us good, you and me, who are mere ordinary, everyday people, to have a peep once in a while into the lives of our neighbors, for it may be our neighbor can teach us lessons of courage and bravery such as we never dreamed of. That is the way to be pitied, greatly pitied, who puts himself on a pedestal and declines to have anything to do with his own people. It is true he may not be worried by any of the little weaknesses of his neighbor; it is true that not sharing the joy of his neighbor, he will not be asked to come in when there is sorrow. But what will his joys and sorrows be? Miserable imitations of the real ones, because when one is glad there must be others to share the "pleasure," else it is worth little.

EARTHLY AND HEAVENLY FRIENDSHIPS.

When one is sad there must be somebody to console, else the sadness will be intensified beyond human endurance. I have always thought that an ideal good fellowship would exist in the hereafter, and that the people who care for each other here would have that love and that sympathy intensified eternally. Earthly friendships will be made beautiful, because they will be approved of and blessed by that Friend of humanity who loves his neighbor so well that he gave his life for him. It is a dear old world, neighbor—and the neighboring itself is good and grandly beautiful; very well worth cultivating, I assure you, if you think as I do. Then way over the prairies and the rivers and the many miles of country that my little message travels goes also the claim on you that I am, your neighbor, BAB.

WHAT GOOD THINGS FRIENDS ARE!

There is the sympathetic friend, who tells you in the kindest words, how sorry he is for your trouble, and who comes when happy days are to the fore, and is gleeful because you are glad. Then there is that other friend, who, when you are overwhelmed with grief, cannot say a word, but takes your hand and looks into your eyes, and the eyes do the speaking. And you know that your friend is sorry for you, and your heart almost grows glad as you realize that there is in the world somebody who, if he were able, would take all your sorrows away. Then there is the other friend, that one who, when your head is racked with pain, touches it with cool, kind fingers, and makes you understand that just so long as you are going to suffer, just so long will your friend stay with you. I think there are more kind people in this world than cruel ones. I don't believe anybody really starts out with the intention of being cruel, but first there is a little worry, and then there is a cross word, and then there is a malicious word, and then there is the wicked deed which would not have been done if the sinner had only taken time to think it all out.

YOU HAVE YOUR WORRY AND I HAVE MINE.

And it seems hard just when we are troubled that somebody else should be very happy, and we look at the happy people, and suddenly grow mean and nasty and say something that, in a little while, we are ashamed of. We are all of us such children, so easily made happy and so easily turned into disagreeable beasts, rather than lovable men and women. And we never know until we are quite alone how much we depend on each other. Try to think what life would be if, today, when you are full of joy and gladness because something good has come to you, think that what would happen if you had nobody to joy with you? If there was no one here being as glad as you, because you were glad. Why, it would be worth while to hire a messenger boy by the hour simply for sympathetic purposes. Then think what it would be when the dark days come to have to sit alone with your trouble, whether it be of dishonor or death, and have no human being, not one of your own kind, to even find fault with you! It would be horrible.

I AM A RELIEVER IN NEIGHBORS.

I don't think it is wise to have them too near, but it is good to have them, because when we are being neighborly we learn a good many lessons. I learn that I am not the only woman in the world